Defense

Hobbled by knee surgery, Simmons played in one series against Southern Miss and then was redshirted.

Lewis, in gaining the SWC Newcomer of the Year award, had sterling efforts against Southern Miss (103 yards), Baylor (104 yards) and TCU (194 yards). It could be Heisman City for Lewis in the not-too-distant future.

But the Aggies didn't make it on talent alone. Luck had a big part in it, too. Thank the schedule makers for having the good graces to schedule all of A&M's important games, with the exception of the TCU game, at home. This fact alone made the Arkansas and Texas games practically win before the fact.

The big test will come next year, when the schedule is exactly opposite. If the Aggies can survive that schedule, which includes road games against LSU and Oklahoma State in addition to SWC road games against mad-as-hell Texas and Arkansas, their faces should be chiseled into Mount Rushmore.

Overall, considering the youth and inexperience of the team, A&M came away with flying colors on its way to face Notre Dame in Dallas. The Aggies were far and away the best team in the SWC despite a loss to Texas Tech that never should have happened. The best should be ahead for the Aggies, who should be in the forefront of the conference for years to come now.

Now if only they can survive that schedule...

Bears cruise past NTSU for 72-63 win

DENTON (AP) — Michael Williams and Darryl Middleton scored 21 points each as Baylor defeated North Texas State 72-63 Tuesday night in a non-conference basketball game.

Baylor improved to 2-2, while North Texas dropped to 1-1.

Middleton, a 6-9 center, connected on 8-of-14 from the field, while Williams, a 6-3 guard, hit 8-of-13 from the field and led the Bears with nine rebounds.

Tony Worrell led North Texas State, also with 21 points. Wendell Williams added 16 points and Ronnie Morgan 10 points for the Eagles. William Smith led NTSU in rebounding with nine.

Survey: 1/3 of football programs in Division 1-A cheat regularly

CINCINNATI (AP) — Nearly one-third of NCAA Division I football programs regularly violate NCAA regulations and when they do, coaches often look the other way, coaches told University of Cincinnati researchers in a nationwide survey released Tuesday.

When cheating takes place, coaches are usually aware of it, the coaches said in responding to the survey.

But almost three-quarters of the coaches surveyed also said they believe most of their colleagues are honest, have high ethical standards and want to run clean athletic programs. The pressure to win is the main cause of cheating, according to 67.2 percent of the surveyed coaches.

"To a large extent, I don't think the coach is any different than the average person on the street. I think most coaches want to run a clean program with no cheating and don't

Rockets come back for win over Nuggets

HOUSTON (AP) — Ralph Sampson scored the go-ahead basket with 36 seconds left to spark the Houston Rockets to a 106-101 come-from-behind victory over the Denver Nuggets Tuesday night.

With the score tied at 100, Sampson connected on a hook shot from the line to give the Rockets the lead for good.

Allen Leavell and Rodney McCray each hit a pair of free throws in the final 17 seconds left to ensure the Rockets' win.

Sampson finished with 20 points and 17 rebounds, while Akeem Olajuwon had 22 points and 14 rebounds for Houston.

Denver was led by Alex English with 26 points and Blair Rasmussen had a career-high 25.

Trailing 90-87, Houston scored nine straight points to take a 96-92 lead with 4:42 left.

Denver tied the game at 96 with 2:31 left, then moved in front and held the lead until Olajuwon hit a three-point play with 1:29 left to put Houston up 100-98. Rasmussen then tied it for Denver, setting the stage for Sampson's game-winner.

The Rockets had lost four of their last five games before Tuesday night's clash and now stand at 8-6 on the year.

White's wrist key to QB's future

IRVING (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday he doesn't want Danny White back next year unless his veteran quarterback's right wrist is totally healed.

"His (White's) whole future rests on that and I think he recognizes it," Landry said. "He throws well 95 percent of the time, but the other 5 percent kills us."

White told the Associated Press recently he hoped to play two or three more years. He also said he was considering an operation.

"I don't think he (White) will come back unless he is 100 percent healthy," Landry said. "If he is, then he will battle for the starting job."

White, who lost a ligament when his wrist was broken last year, threw four touchdown passes against Minnesota on Thanksgiving Day but suffered two critical interceptions that the Vikings parlayed into a 44-38 overtime victory.

They have to be placed in a position where they have to look the other way," said Francis T. Cullen, one of three University of Cincinnati criminologists who conducted the survey. "But we also have a situation where the bottom line is winning, and if they don't win, they lose their jobs."

The coaches were also polled about substance abuse among student-athletes. They identified alcohol, and then steroids, as the biggest sources of substance abuse. The coaches also identified uses of cocaine and marijuana as serious problems for athletes. They were not asked to say how widespread they think the drug use is, Cullen said.

The coaches were promised anonymity for their responses and provided them in written questionnaires.

Cullen said the questionnaires were sent to head coaches of all 192 NCAA Division I-A and Division I-AA, or major-college, football programs. Of those, 122 coaches responded, a good ratio for busy people, Cullen said.

He said 49.2 percent of the questionnaires came from Division I-A coaches and 50.8 percent were from Division I-AA coaches.

"There wasn't any bias toward the smaller schools. It was pretty evenly split, so that gives us more confidence in the response," Cullen said. "If you protect the anonymity of the coaches, they're more likely to be honest in their answers."

"We're not aware of the survey, and so on that basis, it would be inappropriate for us to comment," said spokesman Jim Marchiony at National Collegiate Athletic Association headquarters in Mission, Kan.

The NCAA has about 800 member schools nationwide. Membership is voluntary and the schools make the rules, which the NCAA staff must then enforce, Marchiony said.

Aggies face Cornhuskers in Nebraska

The Texas A&M men's basketball team will square off against the Nebraska Cornhuskers tonight in Lincoln, Neb. at 7:35.

The Aggies, who are in the midst of a five game road trip, are coming off a 69-65 win over Houston Baptist Monday night in Houston, which evened their record at 1-1.

Nebraska is 1-2 for the season with its lone win coming in the Hawaiian Airlines Maui Classic against Chaminade, 76-75.

Senior guard Darryl McDonald leads the team in assists, steals and scoring with a 22 point-per-game average. Junior transfer Donald Thompson leads the team in rebounding, grabbing nine boards per game and adding an average of 15 points per game, second best on the team.
