don't believe in selling tickets," the Newsquoted Johnson as saying. To the claims by student-athletes that he supplied "no-show" summer jobs, Johnson's response was equally succinct: "That's just a flat-blank lie."

1983 tax-withholding forms for Johnson's Texas & Oklahoma Tree Farms Inc. list eight OU players and a team trainer as having received $7,059 in wages, the newspaper said. However, the newspaper said it talked to four star players not on the payroll lists who said they, too, were given jobs working for a man they knew only as "Moose."

Two of the four said they were paid $350 to $450 a week while showing up for only a handful of workdays, the newspaper said. NCAA rules forbid student-athletes from receiving any benefits not available to other college students.

No other college students were listed on the Johnson payrolls.

"You'd go to Moose and all he'd ask was how many days you worked," one said. "You'd say 'four or five,' and he'd just write out the check. He already knew how much you needed."

The other added, "Moose took care of us. He didn't ask if you showed up. He just paid you."

Both players, who asked not to be identified, said their checks were written on Johnson's personal account, not on the payroll account of Texas & Oklahoma Tree Farms or Twam Nursery, another Johnson venture.

Johnson said he could not estimate the number of OU players he employed. "Some summers it was one or two, and some summers it was hardly any," he said. "It depended on whatever I needed."

Brown takes criticism along with Heisman

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame's Tim Brown took the criticism personally. He also took the trophy.

Brown became the 53rd recipient of the Heisman Trophy, given to the nation's top college football player, and then answered those who had suggested he didn't deserve it after finishing up the regular season with two sub-par games.

"I took it personally because I didn't think I'm a bad person," the wide receiver-kick returner said Saturday. "Whenever I had an opportunity in a game, I think I made something happen."

Brown outdistanced Syracuse quarterback Don McPherson, who finished second in the nationwide balloting of sports writers and broadcasters. Brown finished with 1,442 points to McPherson's 831.

The Notre Dame star finished first in the voting in five of the six sections: Mid-Atlantic, South, Southwest, Midwest and Far West. In the Northeast, he was second to McPherson.

"I just wanted to cry because I was so relieved," Brown said of the moment his name was announced. "Everything was behind me and I didn't have to worry anymore."

Brown, who averaged 42.3 yards on the 22 touchdowns he scored in his collegiate career, is the second Heisman Trophy winner to come from Dallas Woodrow Wilson High School. Davey O'Brien, who played quarterback for Texas Christian, won the award in 1938.

McPherson has led Syracuse to an undefeated regular season and a berth in the Sugar Bowl against Auburn on Jan. 1. He is a native of the New York metropolitan area and local newspapers questioned whether Brown should be named over the quarterback.

"I thought it was real close after reading all the articles and hearing the radio," Brown said of the balloting. "I guess all the votes were in (before his late-season slump)."

Brown dropped three passes in Notre Dame's loss to Miami in its regular-season finale. He also gained just 14 yards on two punt returns and two yards on his lone run from scrimmage.

Moon, Lyles lead Oilers in 33-18 win over Chargers

HOUSTON (AP) — Warren Moon, playing despite an injured shoulder, scored one touchdown and linebacker Robert Lyles returned one of four lost San Diego fumbles 55 yards for a touchdown, leading the Houston Oilers to a 33-18 victory Sunday.

The victory, coupled with Cleveland's 9-7 loss to Indianapolis, elevated the Oilers into a tie with the Browns and Pittsburgh for the AFC Central Division lead with 7-5 records.

Moon, who did not throw a pass until pregame warmups because of his injury, scored on a 3-yard boot leg with 13:20 left in the game for the Oilers' final touchdown. He led the game after completing 13 of 24 passes for 186 yards.

Houston scored the first 20 points of the game and took a 20-5 halftime lead, highlighted by Lyles' 55-yard fumble return, two field goals by Tony Zendejas and a 4-yard touchdown run by Allen Pinkett.

Poke fumbles lead to loss as playoffs look unlikely

IRVING (AP) — Safety Robert Moore returned a fumble for a touchdown and set up another score with his second fumble recovery as the Atlanta Falcons snapped a six-game losing streak Sunday with a 21-10 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The Falcons, who hadn't won since the strike, improved their record to 3-9. Dallas, playing before the smallest Texas Stadium crowd in Cowboys history, dropped to 5-7, holding only a remote hope for a playoff chance.

Atlanta scored two first period touchdowns within 13 seconds for a 14-0 lead.

Scott Campbell hit Floyd Dixon with a 28-yard scoring pass, and on the ensuing kickoff Moore picked up a fumble at the Dallas 20 and scored.

The stunned Cowboys got back into the game on Roger Ruzek's 44-yard field goal and Herschel Walker's one-yard scoring run.

Moore's second recovery led to Campbell one-yard plunge and a 10 lead early in the third period.

Danny White replaced an ineffective Steve Pelluer for Dallas in the fourth period.
