Ortega: Rebel aid to bring retaliation
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Daniel Ortega suggested Monday that his Sandinista government would take tough measures if the U.S. Congress approves new aid for the Contra rebels.
His comments came after the Sandinista government released seven opposition leaders Monday and he promised over the weekend to restore civil liberties. The Interior Ministry said the seven, arrested over the weekend, had been accused of plotting actions with the Contra rebels.
Ortega, in a rally in Ciudad Dario, 55 miles northeast of the capital, said approval of more U.S. aid to the rebels "would give the Nicaraguan government a free hand to take the necessary measures to defend the sovereignty, self-determination and independence of our country."
He did not provide details, but said more aid would be "a historic error by the United States and the American Congress."
In Washington, an official said Ortega's promise last weekend to hold direct talks with the Contras was aimed at influencing the U.S. congressional vote expected in February.

Workfarms exploit children in Russia
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet prosecutor's office says criminal exploitation of children performing menial labor on state farms kills hundreds of students and cripples thousands more each year.
A report on the rare protest by the nation's top law enforcement agency was disclosed in an article written by a correspondent for the official Tass news agency for Tuesday's edition of the national labor newspaper Trud.
The prosecutor's office complained that children as young as 10 are brought into farm labor collectives where they put in 12 hours a day.
The report referred to the case of a fourth-grade boy in the far east Primorsky region who fell asleep in a bunker and was buried alive in grain.
It also reported that about 100 students at a trade school contracted dysentery from peeling potatoes in unsanitary conditions.

Americans immigrate to Soviet Union
MOSCOW (AP) — An American couple who came to Moscow as tourists have been granted political asylum after choosing life in the Soviet Union as an "alternative to capitalism," an official said Tuesday.
Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady I. Gerasimov identified the Americans as Theodore Branch, 43, and Cheryl Branch, 40, and said they were "experts in the field of mass communications" from Pennsylvania.
They arrived in Moscow last month, "declared their unwillingness to return to the United States and asked for permission to live here as immigrants," Gerasimov told reporters at a government news briefing.
Gerasimov said the Branches wrote the Presidium that "in the Soviet Union, priority is given to law and order, legislation provides equal opportunities and possibilities for all, which is an alternative to capitalism."
He said the couple would be given jobs in their field of expertise.

'Butcher of the Balkans,' dead at 88
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Andrija Artukovic, who was extradited from the United States and convicted of ordering thousands of prisoners killed in World War II, has died in jail at the age of 88, it was reported Monday.
Known as the "Butcher of the Balkans," Artukovic had been sentenced to death by firing squad in May 1986, but his execution had been postponed indefinitely because of his ill health.
The official news agency, Tanjug, reported that he died Saturday in the jail hospital in the Croatian capital of Zagreb but did not give a cause of death.
Artukovic had been suffering from general and cerebral sclerosis and temporary senility, Tanjug said.
In postponing his execution in August, the Zagreb court said a medical team had found Artukovic suffered from arteriosclerosis, cardiovascular disease, senility and other ailments. Yugoslav law does not permit execution if the convict is ill.

Genes may predict heart disease risks
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — An estimated one in three Americans inherits a newly recognized form of cholesterol that is linked with triple the usual risk of heart disease, according to research released Tuesday.
"We have identified a new genetic trait that may predispose to heart disease risk," said Dr. Ronald M. Krauss of the University of California at Berkeley.
Although Krauss has not pinpointed the gene that's responsible, he said its hallmark in the bloodstream is a substance called dense LDL.
About one-third of the population has relatively large amounts of dense LDL, and they are three times more likely than usual to suffer heart attacks, Krauss said.
Not all of these people will have heart attacks, and dense LDL itself may not even be the culprit. Instead, it may be a genetic marker, or signal, that they are at higher than usual risk.
Krauss said that such people may be unusually susceptible to the dangers of bad living habits that are often associated with heart trouble.

School holds 'plastic fork rebellion'
GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Fifth-graders upset over plastic forks and spoons in the cafeteria are demanding a return to stainless steel, and their principal said they could protest with posters and petitions "as long as they had everything spelled correctly."
The campaign, dubbed "The Great Plastic Fork Rebellion" by one father, began a few weeks ago when students at the Four Corners Elementary School discovered their stainless steel tableware had been shipped to the high school for use by what one youngster called "ugh, teen-agers."
Christopher Peters, 11, and his classmates hung the cafeteria with posters reading "School Is No Picnic" and "Real People Deserve Real Silverware."
