Police Beat
 The following were reported to the University Police Department from Jan. 4 through Monday:
MISDEMEANOR THEFT:
 • One motorcycle, two mopeds and three and a half bicycles were stolen from campus and from students' homes. (The half was the front wheel of a bicycle stolen from near Harrington Tower.)
 • Someone removed two Airborne Express letters from a drop box on the second floor of the Blocker Building.
BURGLARY OF BUILDING:
 • Someone broke into 208 Zachary and ran six copies on one of their copy machines.
BURGLARY OF A HABITATION:
 • A Keathley Hall resident reported that sometime during the Christmas break, someone entered her room and removed her Seiko Pyramid talking clock.
OBSTRUCTING A ROADWAY:
 • While on patrol, officers observed that the barricades used to separate traffic on East Main Circle during construction had been used to block the entrances to East Main Circle.
DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED:
 • Officers observed a car traveling at a high rate of speed on Bizzell Street. The officers pursued the subject for several minutes, then the driver entered Hensel Park and abandoned the vehicle. A subject was later arrested and charged with DWI, evasion of a police officer and possession of less than two ounces of marijuana.

Pharaoh ant increase plagues homeowners
 SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The red pharaoh ant, also known as the "sugar ant," is spreading anything but sweetness among homeowners, who may have to spend $150 to get rid of the pests.
 "It just as if we have a real rash of them," said Robert Cawood, president of Central Pest Control.
 The ants can transmit diseases by carrying bacteria they pick up on their bodies from filth.
 Phil Hamman, an urban entomologist with Texas A&M University extension service, said the increased number of pharaoh ants could be caused by crowding and urban development.
 "Perhaps we are seeing the effects of people living in closer proximity because of more apartment buildings and other developments," Hamman said.
 Wes Light, owner of Lights Out Pest Eliminators, said he has been besieged with requests to wipe out the insects.
 The process, however, is not that simple and could cost between $100 and $150 to rid the ants from a three-bedroom home.
 "Regular insecticide spraying itself is worse than nothing at all," Light said.
 Spraying causes the colonies to break up, resulting in several colonies, Light said.

Map Discussion: The intense upper low and associated surface front will continue moving northeastward through the Great Lakes with snow while the warm front will produce snow, sleet and rain through New England. Another vigorous low pressure system and cold front will plunge into the Pacific Northwest tonight and Thursday, with continued advection of cold air into Southeast Texas. Light snow flurries are possible late this afternoon and tonight from the Hill Country to Lake Sam Rayburn.
Forecast:
 Today, tonight and Thursday: Partly cloudy with a high of 46 today, low of 27 Thursday morning and high of 38 Thursday. Winds will be northerly.
 Weather fact: Moisture, pressure, temperature and wind, the atmospheric variables, are interdependent; thus, when a forecast for any one of these is "busted," it in turn affects the other three. For example, an erroneous cloud cover forecast for Tuesday caused an erroneous temperature and forecast of a 20 percent chance of rain.
