Unsel'd gives Bullets hope for playoffs

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Bullets, whose playoff chances seemed remote 10 games ago, have a new look under their new coach, Wes Unsel'd.

The Bullets have won eight of their 10 games for Unsel'd after opening the season 8-19 under Kevin Loughery. Unsel'd took over as the head coach after owner Abe Pollin fired Loughery Jan. 3.

In less than 3½ weeks, Unsel'd has taken this team that couldn't shoot, couldn't rebound and couldn't win at home and turned it into a playoff contender.

"Looking back on it, no, I didn't think it would be this quick," Unsel'd said after the Bullets defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 118-117 Monday night in overtime.

"We still have a long way to go," he added.

Unsel'd said the club was "developing new confidence" after the Bullets defeated Golden State 115-91 last Friday for their sixth of seven one-sided victories under his command.

"It's easy to say that there's a new

Blackman to see action, may start against Sonics Friday, coach says

DALLAS (AP) — Recovering Dallas Mavericks guard Rolando Blackman expects to see limited action in Friday night's game against the Seattle SuperSonics, but Coach John MacLeod isn't sure how long Blackman can play or whether he will start.

"That (playing time) will depend on how the team is doing, how well I'm playing and what Coach (John) MacLeod wants to do," Blackman said Monday following his first full practice after spraining a ligament in his left knee.

MacLeod said he will know more later in the week, including whether Blackman will start or come off the bench.

Blackman's court time will be limited because he will play for the first time in 24 days. He has missed nine games since his injury during a Jan. 4 game against the Houston Rockets.

"Even when he comes back, his conditioning won't be ideal, but it will be better than today," MacLeod said. "It will be good to have him back. He's recovered very well."

Team physician Dr. Pat Evans has said Blackman will be able to play Friday.

Brad Davis filled in for Blackman except for one game when Detlef Schrempf started because of a matchup problem.

The Mavericks have won six of the nine games since Blackman was injured in maintaining a Midwest Division lead.

Blackman was the team's second-leading scorer when he was injured. He averaged 18.5 points per game.

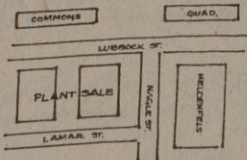

"To have hung in there and not let us win, that's just absolutely terrific," General Manager Norm Sonju said. "I would have told me a few weeks ago that we would be able to win at this level without him, I would have said you were crazy."

Arizona adds a new dimension to offense with beefed-up center

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Anthony Cook of Arizona takes a lot of kidding about his 6-foot-9, 190-pound frame. His roommate says he is so skinny that he rents a shadow.

Nobody jokes about Cook's contribution to the success of the top-ranked, 18-1 Wildcats.

There was a time when the 7-foot, 250-pound wide-bodies, the monster marauders of the driving lane, had an easy time making life difficult for skinny guys like Cook.

Over the spring, summer and fall, Cook, whose teammates call him "A.C.," hit the weight room in earnest, and it paid off.

The junior has been Arizona's leading rebounder at 7.5 per game, while scoring at a 12.1-point clip, and his 69.8 percent field goal shooting in Pacific-10 Conference games has him tied for the lead.

Cook, who set a school record of 69 blocks last season, has 36 this year — including 17 in Arizona's eight league games — ranking him second in the conference.

"He's unbelievable on defense. He's so quick, he can jump so well," guard Steve Kerr says. "People talk about dominant centers and how, if only we had a dominant center, we could do this or that."

Philadelphia spurt, and Bernard King made two baskets in the 1:05 of the game to pull the Bullets even.

King sank a twisting, fadeaway jumper at the buzzer to force the game into overtime.

The Bullets then overcame an early four-point deficit to defeat the 76ers for the third time in six nights.

Baylor pair earns SWC hoop honors

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor's Darryl Middleton was named Southwest Conference men's basketball player of the week and Baylor's Maggie Davis earned SWC women's player-of-the-week honors, league officials said Tuesday.

Middleton had 59 points, 11 rebounds, six steals and blocked shots in two games last week.

Davis scored 59 points in two games while adding 25 rebounds.
