FBI: Ex-worker gave group information

HOUSTON (AP) — A former FBI employee was arrested Tuesday and accused of giving classified information to an official of an organization that represents Taiwan interests in the United States.

Douglas S. Tsou, 63, was fired in October 1986 from the FBI bureau in Houston, where he had worked for six years as a language specialist, U.S. Attorney Henry Oncken said.

According to a grand jury indictment handed down Tuesday, Tsou, also known as Tsou Tau-hsu, gave the information in March 1986 to the Director of the Coordination Council for North American Affairs, the Taiwan group.

Oncken and Andrew J. Duffen, Special Agent in Charge of the Houston FBI office, refused to disclose the nature of the information.

Oncken would say only that it was about an individual being evaluated and considered as a source of the FBI.

The indictment described it as "classified information concerning an operational foreign counterintelligence asset of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

"At the time of the communication, the defendant knew that the information he communicated was classified, and he knew that the Coordination Council for North American Affairs was and is an instrumentality acting on behalf of the governing authority on Taiwan, formerly recognized as the Republic of China," the indictment said.

Federal authorities said the council had been helping investigators with the probe. Oncken said it did not appear the organization had solicited the information.

A woman who answered the telephone Tuesday at the Coordination Council for North American Affairs referred questions about the case to John Wei, whom she described as the organization's secretary. He was not in the office, however, she said.

"This case at hand presents an additional element for consideration, that of the matter of national security," Duffen said. "This element takes this case out of the realm of a routine announcement of an indictment and arrest and precludes the government from going any further with statements about the case, which is to be proven in a court of law."

"Please understand we are not trying to be evasive," Oncken said. "We've got the issue of national security and there's just a lot of things we cannot answer that we ordinarily would be able to answer."

Official leaves pending probe of defense firm

DALLAS (AP) — The president of a Dallas company that develops and manufactures several electronic warfare systems for the federal government resigned after the Department of Defense suspended his security clearance, company officials said.

C.C. Lee, founder and chief executive officer of UTL Corp., resigned Friday pending an investigation by the Defense Department into a security breach that the company officials say occurred around March 1987.

Officials of the company, which received more than 98 percent of its revenues from contracts with the Defense Department in 1987, said the probe is the result of a misunderstanding about classification of certain information.

Dale Hartig, spokesman for the Defense Department's Defense Investigation Service, would not comment on the investigation. The service grants workers security clearance for the federal government.

Lee's security clearance was revoked Thursday.

John Benson, UTL vice president for finance, declined to elaborate on the investigation. "The matter is pending and it doesn't involve UTL. It involves Dr. Lee and the government. We support all efforts to get it solved as quickly as possible," he said.

The company said Lee's suspension was an interim action.

Lee, 58, has been a key figure in the company's rise from a small shop with a shoestring budget to a prime defense contractor in Dallas with about 400 employees, analysts said.

As of Feb. 2, UTL had 51 contracts with the military worth $91.9 million, according to the Defense Contract Administration in Dallas.

Defense analysts said Lee's loss of security clearance could have a harmful impact on the UTL.

Robert Williams, an analyst with Eppler, Guerin & Turner, said, "It's shocking news. I hope it's temporary because Dr. Lee is very critical not only to UTL today but also in terms of guiding the company in the future."

The company designs, develops, manufactures and markets electronic warfare systems and subsystems for reconnaissance, surveillance and targeting.

• Four purses and three wallets were reported stolen, one of which was an eelskin wallet taken from where a student left it in a pair of sweat pants outside the Commons Dining Hall.

• A student reported that someone removed the two side panels from his 1985 Honda moped that was parked in a parking space on campus.

• The Delta Sigma Pi calendar board was stolen from the lobby of the Blocker Building.

• While towing a vehicle for parking on the sidewalk in front of Law Hall, officers found three traffic barricades belonging to Grounds Maintenance in and around the bed of the pickup truck.

• Someone removed a sign that said "Parking Space Reserved for Battalion Advertising Customers" from a parking lot located near the English Annex.

• A staff member reported that someone stole a total of 72 postage stamps from his desk on the second floor of the Old Engineering Building.

• A "Pass With Care" sign was seized from a room in McFadden Hall. An officer spoke to a woman, who reported that the sign had sentimental value and had been given to her by friends.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF:
• A man reported that someone broke the windshield of his car while it was parked on South Bizzell near the golf course. The window of the car appeared to have been broken by a golf ball.

DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED:
• While on patrol, an officer observed a man driving a motorcycle on the sidewalk in front of Puryear Hall. The officer stopped the vehicle and noticed that the driver appeared to be intoxicated.

• An officer witnessed a vehicle run the stop sign at the intersection of East Main and East Main Circle. The officer stopped the vehicle and found that the driver and his passenger were both apparently intoxicated.

PLACES WEAPONS PROHIBITED:

• Officers pulled over a car when they saw the people in it peering into several other parked cars. The passenger was seen putting something under the seat. A .25 caliber automatic was later found there, and a Remington rifle was found in the trunk.

• While towing a vehicle from a "tow-away" zone, officers found a .38 caliber handgun in the left front driver's door. An officer was later contacted by the owner of the vehicle, and the officer spoke to the owner about the laws pertaining to weapons at educational facilities.

• A representative of the Dan Belt company reported that someone stole a John Deere 310-A backhoe tractor from where it had been last seen on Hensel Drive by the Grounds Maintenance area.

HAZING:

• A man reported that he had seen several men running nude in the MSC. An officer who responded to the report chased a nude man to a room in Cain Hall, where she caught him. During a later interview, the officer was told that an initiation of freshman recruits had been organized.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT:

• A resident of Krueger Hall reported that three males, wearing nothing but neckties around their heads and carrying towels, were creating a disturbance outside her room.

• Officers received a report that a male subject had backed up to the window of the Browning Library and pulled his shorts down, revealing his buttocks to her. Responding officers were unable to locate anyone matching the description in the library area.

UNIVERSITY REGULATION VIOLATION:

• An Aston Hall resident reported that while he and some friends were studying in his room, they heard something hit the window, then they saw a person hanging from a window. The officer contacted the occupants of the room where the person was hanging and also talked to a resident adviser who was there. The resident adviser reported that he would take care of the matter.

FAA: Landfill may bring birds, endanger aircraft

HOUSTON (AP) — A local Federal Aviation Administration official says burying Philadelphia garbage at a landfill near Ellington Field could endanger aircraft by attracting more birds.

"Our guidelines are that operation of a landfill within 10,000 feet of an airport with jet traffic could increase the number of bird strikes," said Stan Lou, manager of the FAA's district office.

Lou said Monday he has written the Texas Department of Health protesting the use of the landfill, which is now inactive but may be used for the disposal of up to 300,000 tons a year of baled garbage from Philadelphia.
