Cultural calander comes to campus

by Natalie Hedblom

The Texas A&M campus has long been thought of as culturally deficient. To dispel this popular myth and to improve A&M's cultural image, the MSC Opera and Performing Arts Society is sponsoring a week-long extravaganza of events.

"We are trying to disprove the 'College Station is a cultural black hole' myth," says Paul Weisepape, director of OPAS' Focus on the Performing Arts Week.

The week of cultural events begins Sunday, Feb. 14 and continues through the following Saturday.

"The week will be a series of events and performances designed to spotlight different areas of the performing arts," Weisepape says. The week will involve activities in the area of music, dance and drama.

The shedule of events will conclude with the 7th Annual OPAS/Roadrunner: Run for the Arts, consisting of a 5K run and a 1 mile Fun Run. Prizes and trophies will be awarded.

This is the first year that FOPA Week has been held, Weisepape says.

"We hope to make FOPA an annual event comparable to Student Conference on National Affairs," he says.
