Satellite to carry Election '88 debate live

By Robbyn L. Lister
News Editor

Two days of debates between presidential candidates will be shown on the Texas A&M campus live via satellite Thursday and Friday beginning at 7:15 p.m. in 601 Rudder.

MSC Political Forum is sponsoring the Election '88 broadcast in conjunction with College Satellite Network and the Texas Presidential Debates.

The debates will take place on the Southern Methodist University campus in Dallas, with the Democrats featured on Thursday and the Republicans taking the stage on Friday. The broadcast will be seen on more than 500 campuses nationwide.

Campuses participating in the broadcast have been asked to poll their audiences about how they intend to vote and then report the results to Dallas. The results of the polls will be announced at 9 p.m. each night.

Tracy Stoll, national programs director for Political Forum, said that before the debates begin at 8 p.m., A&M students participating in the program will be asked to mark a ballot with their choices for president. Political Forum committee members will phone the ballot results to SMU, she said.

Students also will have the chance to ask the candidates questions and discuss campaign issues using special phone lines.

Stoll said that A&M students will be able to write down their questions, which will be called in by committee members as they are received. She said three or four of the candidates should remain after the debate to answer the students' questions on the air. But she said A&M students may not be able to get all of their questions answered.

"Whether a question is aired depends on how many calls there are during the debates," she said.

Student professionals discuss roles

Student affairs professionals will gather at Texas A&M Thursday and Friday to examine the role of student professionals in higher education and to develop programs for female students.

Thursday's workshop, running from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., will focus on ways faculty and administrators can provide support for women's development and success in higher education. A summary session will occur from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.

workshop sessions in cooperation with the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators and the Texas Association of College and University Student Personnel Administrators.

Friday's conference, entitled "The Role of Student Affairs: The Opening of the American Mind", will address the role that student affairs personnel play in higher education. Friday's keynote speaker will be Stan Carpenter, Assistant Professor of Educational Administration at A&M.

The keynote speech will be followed by a panel discussion of Carpenter's comments and on student affairs in general.

The sessions on Friday are expected to attract student personnel professionals from around Texas.

Beam's wife calls him misunderstood man

SANTA FE (AP) — A former Ku Klux Klan grand dragon on trial in Arkansas on sedition charges is a misunderstood man who never plotted to overthrow the U.S. government, his wife said.

Jury selection began Tuesday in Fort Smith in the sedition trial of 14 men, including Louis Ray Beam Jr. of Houston. Ten of the defendants are accused of conspiring "to destroy by forces the government of the United States and form a new Aryan nation."

But Beam's wife, Sheila Marie, said her 41-year-old husband is deeply religious and patriotic and she is confident the trial will exonerate him.

"The man I know is truly a man of Yahweh, a truth-seeker," Beam, 21, said Monday at her parents' trailer home in Santa Fe, south of Houston. Yahweh is a derivation of the Hebrew word for God.

"To me, he's a man who loves our country, who has just been trying to tell our government they're in error in a biblical sense," she said. "He's a man who is diligent in studying the Bible and trying to continue to learn it."

Beam quit the KKK in 1981 and has never conspired to overthrow the U.S. government, she said.

The Beams were arrested Nov. 6 at their home in Chapala, Mexico, after Mrs. Beam exchanged gunfire with Mexican federal police officers and wounded one of them.
