Man opens fire on UH campus, wounds three

HOUSTON (AP) — A man taken into custody at a college dormitory opened fire at the University of Houston-Downtown early Thursday, wounding two campus police officers and a maintenance worker, authorities said.

Thursday afternoon police were continuing to search for the man, who wrestled a .357-caliber revolver from one of the officers, Houston police spokesman Dan Turner said.

The suspect, believed to be a 28-year-old student, apparently is the same person arrested Wednesday for allegedly fighting with a former roommate at the dorm. The man was released from the Harris County Jail later Wednesday, officials said.

"He returned to the dorm and started making threats," university spokesman Martha Cantu said. "I think (the threats) were in general."

There were conflicting reports as to what time the student was first taken into custody. University spokesman Andy Gomez said it was about 2:30 a.m. Thursday, but Cantu said the student may have been taken into custody late Wednesday night.

"He evidently was (in the main building) for a while," Cantu said, adding that the shootings occurred after a UH-Downtown officer tried to handcuff the suspect.

Five injured by gunman at rest home

ARLINGTON (AP) — A former retirement home resident armed with two rifles burst into a board meeting at the home Thursday and opened fire, wounding four people and sending a fifth into cardiac arrest, authorities said.

The gunman fled from the room at the Masonic Home for the Aged with one rifle tied around his neck with twine, but surrendered peacefully moments later, Arlington police spokesman Dee Anderson said.

Four people suffered minor gunshot wounds in the shooting at the home shortly after 11 a.m., he said.

A fifth person, Willie Joe Wright, 67, suffered a heart attack and was in critical condition at Arlington Memorial Hospital, hospital spokesman Tenya Woods said. The other shooting victims were in fair condition, she said.

"Apparently, they had a board meeting and one former resident, who was apparently disgruntled, walked into the board room and started shooting at the 15 to 16 people gathered there," Anderson said.

The assailant, a man in his late 70s or early 80s, had lived at the home for about three years and was aware of the time frame of the monthly board meeting. He had been evicted or asked to leave the home some time ago, Anderson said.

Weather Watch

Key:

- Lightning
- Fog
- Thunderstorm
- Rain
- Snow
- Drizzle
- Ice Pellets
- Rain Shower
- Freezing Rain

Sunset Today: 6:21 p.m.      Sunrise Saturday: 6:53 a.m.

Map Discussion: The persistent ridge of high pressure from Wyoming to Florida will provide fair and mild weather for much of the nation today while a low over Michigan will spread snow showers from the Great Lakes into New England. A trough of low pressure moving into the Central and Southern Texas coast will produce overcast skies with intermittent drizzle or light rain.

Forecast:

Today: Mostly cloudy and warm. High in the low 70s.

Tonight: Wind southeast at 8 to 14 mph. Low of 54.

Saturday: Continued mostly cloudy and warm with the high in the mid 70s. Winds southeast at 12 mph. The earlier outlook for rain has diminished because of the persistence of the high temperatures, although light rain may occur south and east of Bryan-College Station.
