Women trample Tech in tournament

The Texas A&M women's polo club wasn't horsing around Saturday in Austin when it clubbed Texas Tech 14-8 to qualify for the national tournament in April.

The women's team finished second in the Central Regional Polo Tournament behind Colorado State University which beat A&M 15-7 in the finals.

Donna Shifflett, Kristin Matlack and Portia Branson-Swales played on the women's team. A&M rotated horses on a split-string system.

"We played six of our horses,

then the other team rode our horses and we rode their's," Shifflett said.

A&M's were named the "Best Playing String" and Shifflett's horse, Buttons, won "Best Playing Pony."

The men's team wasn't as successful. The SMU Mustangs kicked the Aggies 16-13 in a first-round match and went on to win the men's division.

Sharpshooters take aim at nationals

A group of Texas A&M sharpshooters gunned down six other collegiate pistol teams last weekend at a sectional meet in Aggie-land.

A&M won two of the three events and took second place in the other. The sectionals determine which teams will advance to the national meet April 5-10 at the Olympic training center in Colorado Springs, Co. A&M won't know if it qualified until the results of all sectional competitions are tallied.

Pistol

The Aggies bulls-eyed the standard and free-style competitions and placed second in the air competition.

Mark Benden placed first in all three competitions among the ROTC participants.

Jeannie Salazar placed second in the air competitions despite using a gun that malfunctioned when it ran out of carbon dioxide.

Spikers hope to dig new competition

After getting spiked by some tough competition recently, the Texas A&M men's volleyball team will now try its luck against a lower classification of teams.

A&M will travel to San Antonio to play in a class BB tournament Saturday at San Antonio College.

United States Volleyball Association sanctioned teams can play in any of four classifications — AA, A, BB or B — until regional qualifiers.

"The final decision as to which classification we will normally play on will be determined by the level of performance that we think our team is playing at," said Eddie Whittler, president of the men's volleyball club. "We've been playing A games, and we haven't been doing that well."

Men's Volleyball

"Our defense is still weak, but if we play as well Saturday as we have been in practice, we have a good chance of making the finals."

Undefeated A&M dominating division

The Texas A&M lacrosse team grabbed a tiger by the tail and tamed LSU 19-6 Saturday. The win improved A&M's record to 6-0, retaining its lead in the eastern division of the Southwest Lacrosse Association.

Lacrosse

will have two home games after spring break when the University of Texas visits March 26 and Southwestern University arrives on March 27.

If the Aggies finish first or second in the division, they will meet the top two teams from the western division in a league playoff at A&M April 23-24. The western division consists of SMU, TCU, Texas Tech, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Baylor.

Women to reap party reward after win

The Texas A&M women's soccer team kicked off the spring season by kicking the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks 5-0 Sunday.

Elena Olivé led the way to victory scoring two goals. Diana Duneas, Val Zacny and Chanel Mulican each chipped in a goal.

Pam Vela, co-founder of the club, said coach David Davenport gave the team the incentive it needed to win. He promised to throw the team a party if they held SFA scoreless.

Women's Soccer

"David, being the man of his word that he is, better be out looking for kegs right now," Vela said.

The team is now playing in a men's city league.

A&M will play Baylor in Waco on March 26. They will play two home games on Parent's Weekend — SFA on April 9 and Baylor on April 10. Both games begin at 2 p.m. on the A&M soccer fields.

Roper and racers corral honors

Trey Quinn roped a calf and a first place finish at the Southwest Texas State University rodeo last weekend in San Marcos.

Quinn and two barrel racers of the Texas A&M rodeo team finished in the running in the three-day event. Barrel racer Jennifer Boudin placed second overall in her event. Teammate Louise Davis was eighth in the long-go barrels.

The rodeo club's next competition is March 4-6 at Northwest State University in Natchitoches, La.

Baseball teams begin annual spring training

From the Associated Press
 Outfielder Kirk Gibson angrily left Holman Stadium and didn't play in the Los Angeles Dodgers' exhibition game against the Chicago Dragons Thursday after he was apparently victimized by a practice joke.

It would have been the first game in a Dodger uniform for Gibson, who signed a free-agent contract for $4.5 million over three years in late January after playing 10 years in the Detroit Tigers' organization.

Somebody apparently put eye black, used to shield players' eyes from the sun, in Gibson's hat.

When he discovered what had happened while on the field, noting the black substance on his forehead, he got angry, went to the clubhouse, got dressed and left according to reporters at the game.

Gibson wouldn't comment other than saying he'd discuss the incident Friday.

Neither Dodgers' Manager Tom Lasorda nor Fred Claire, the team executive vice president, would comment.

Gibson had been scheduled to start against the Dragons, a member of the Japanese Central League training in Vero Beach. The Dodgers won the game 14-0.

SO SORRY
 Willie Hernandez, the American League's Cy Young Award winner in 1984, apologized Thursday to Detroit Free Press columnist Mitch Albom for dumping a bucket of ice water on the writer in the Tigers' spring training clubhouse.

"I talked with him," Hernandez said. "I feel pretty bad about it. A lot of people make mistakes. I believe I made a good mistake."

The left-handed relief pitcher doused Albom with the bucket of Wednesday, saying he was spurred both by a column Albom wrote last April and by comments he was told Albom made on a cable television program during the winter.

Hernandez said he felt Albom had turned Detroit fans against him.

GAMES
 Gerald Perry drove in a pair of runs and nine Atlanta pitchers allowed two hits Thursday to pace the Braves to a 5-0 exhibition victory over the University of Georgia.

Luis Rivera had two hits, two runs batted in and a stolen base to lead Jackie Moore's Magicians to a 3-2 victory over Bobby Winkles' Twinkles in the Montreal Expos' first intra-squad game.

Casey Candaele also had two hits and an RBI, while Jack Daugherty had an RBI single.

Neal Heaton was the winning pitcher while John Hoover took the loss.

MONEY MATTERS
 The Yankees signed pitcher L. Guetterman and rookie outfielder Jay Buhner, the last of their signed players.

Guetterman was 11-4 with a 3.8 average for Seattle last season. The Orioles signed second-year pitchers Eric Bell and John Habyan, leaving four players still unsigned. Bell was 10-13 with a 5.45 ERA in 1987, starting 29 games, the most any rookie last year.

Habyan was a 6-7 record with a 4.80 ERA.

The Reds signed outfielder K. Daniels and pitchers Rob Murphy and Jose Rijo.

Daniels signed a $185,000 contract, Murphy agreed to a $175,000 deal and Rijo accepted a $127,500 pact.

Catcher Benito Santiago, who won the NL Rookie of the Year, on Thursday signed a one-year contract with San Diego.

Santiago, 23, will be paid about $175,000 in 1988.

He made $63,500 last year, a minimum, while batting .300 with 10 home runs and 79 RBI.
