DO YOU WONDER...
...Why men are so afraid of commitment?
...Why the women men are most attracted to the most difficult to get along with?
...Why can't a man be a friend before a sex partner?
...If women are so liberated, why do they still want men to ask them out, pay for dinner, take all the sexual initiatives, and call them in the morning?

Bush should dominate GOP, Democrats split, survey says

By the Associated Press — To the winners on Tuesday, go the spoils: voters will select 712 Republican delegates and 1,307 Democrats, boosting the winners far along the path to the summer presidential nominating conventions.

An Associated Press survey of the Super Tuesday states indicates that Vice President George Bush should dominate most of the 17 Republican primaries and caucuses, leaving Bob Dole and Pat Robertson to scramble for leftovers. Jack Kemp is simply not a factor.

The Democrats offer a four-way contest in 21 arenas with no clear favorite, although the AP survey indicates Michael Dukakis grappling with Richard Gephardt in Texas and Florida, two states which together offer a quarter of the Democratic delegates.

Jesse Jackson looks to do well across Dixie, where Sen. Albert Gore Jr. hopes to emerge as an alternative to Gephardt. Paul Simon and Gary Hart are not factors.

Here is a rundown of the states:

ALABAMA (56 Dem; 38 GOP): Jackson made the largest investment of his campaign in TV ads in the Birmingham area in hopes of nailing down a victory. Gore has the support of Sen. Howell Heflin, and appears stronger than Gephardt or Dukakis. Bush appears comfortably ahead, as elsewhere in Dixie.

ARKANSAS (38 Dem; 27 GOP): Gore and Gephardt both hoping for victory in a close, four-way race. Bush ahead, again.

FLORIDA (186 Dem; 82 GOP): Robertson and Dole hope to win a few congressional districts to prevent a Bush sweep. Late polls suggest the trend is in Dukakis' favor. Gephardt counters with Rep. Claude Pepper, a Florida political institution, and otherwise seeks delegates in northern parts of the state. Gore seeks to deny Gephardt a win. Jackson should win a few congressional districts and pick up delegates.

GEORGIA (77 Dem; 48 GOP): Bush again. Democratic Secretary of State Max Cleland says Jackson will win, but all four candidates have made an effort.

IDAHO Democratic Caucus (18): Dukakis and Gore are vying with state officials who want an uncontested slate of delegates.

KENTUCKY (55 Dem; 38 GOP): Bush is ahead. Gore should win, too, with the support of Gov. Wallace Wilkinson.

LOUISIANA (63 Dem; 41 GOP): The only state where Dole forces fear a third-place finish behind Robertson. Jackson is favored among the Democrats. Gore hopes to best Gephardt with a push from Gov.-elect Buddy Roemer.

MARYLAND (67 Dem; 41 GOP): Dukakis hopes for a win midway between home in Massachusetts and Florida in the South. Jackson bids for second place. Dole has made an effort here, but a late poll suggested Bush was pulling away.

MASSACHUSETTS (98 Dem; 52 GOP): Bush wins easily in the fourth-biggest state voting during the day. Dukakis coasts in his home state.

MISSISSIPPI (40 Dem; 31 GOP): Part of Bush's solid South, although Sen. Thad Cochran gave Dole a late endorsement. Jackson looks like a winner here, with Gore hoping to pull a surprise.

MISSOURI (77 Dem; 47 GOP): The one state where Dole hopes for a victory. Bush spending all day Sunday and part of Monday in hopes of turning it around. Gephardt's home state. Jackson looks for delegates, as well.

NEVADA Democratic caucuses (16): Gore looks for a win, boosted by endorsements from Sen. Harry Reid and other well-known political figures. But Democratic chairman Beecher Avants says Dukakis is a threat.

NORTH CAROLINA (82 Dem. 54 GOP): A hotly contested Bush-Dole race in Mrs. Dole's home state. Polls point to a close, four-way Democratic race with a heavy undecided vote. Gore, backed by former Gov. Hunt and Sen. Sanford, has predicted a victory here.

OKLAHOMA (46 Dem; 36 GOP): Dole has hopes; Robertson hopes to pick up a few delegates in Oral Roberts' home state. This looks like Gephardt's strongest state outside Missouri, but Gore has been making an effort.

RHODE ISLAND (22 Dem; 21 GOP): Bush, Dukakis again.

TENNESSEE (70 Dem; 45 GOP): Gore wins at home; Bush favored again, with state officials predicting a Dole-Robertson fight for second place.

TEXAS (183 Dem; 111 GOP): The biggest delegate prize of the day goes to Bush in a state where he rents a motel room so he can vote in Houston. Robertson hopes to win several congressional districts.

The Democratic race in microcosm, with enough votes for everyone to pick up delegates. Dukakis appears in commercials speaking fluent Spanish and leads in some pre-election surveys. Gephardt has strength in parts of East and West Texas. Jackson has a natural base. Gore has spent much time here.

VIRGINIA (75 Dem; 0 GOP): Among Democrats, it could be a Jackson-Gore fight and Senate candidate Chuck Robb's endorsement should help Gore.

WASHINGTON (65 Dem; 0 GOP): Robertson hopes to beat Bush by recreating his earlier caucus successes. Dukakis, looking for a West Coast win to anchor his night, has support from Sen. Brock Adams and Gov. Booth Gardner. Jackson could finish strongly. Paul Simon made an effort here, alone among the Super Tuesday states.
