Weather Watch

Key:

- Lightning	- Fog	- Thunderstorms
- Rain	- Snow	- Drizzle
- Ice Pellets	- Rain Shower	- Freezing Rain

Sunset Today: 6:38 p.m. Sunrise Friday: 6:22 a.m.

Map Discussion: The intensifying upper level trough of low pressure over the Rockies and a Pacific high pressure system at the surface will pressure the surface cold front to the mid-section of the U.S., producing showers and thundershowers along and ahead of the front. Snow is possible on the back side of the surface low. Expect mixed precipitation over the Pacific northwest as the next Pacific front moves onshore.

Forecast:

Thursday and Thursday night: Overcast, warm, humid, and windy under the influence of a moderate to strong southerly low level flow from the Gulf in advance of the cold front which will pass Bryan-College Station early Friday. High 77, south winds 10 gusting to 22 mph, with intermittent drizzle Thursday afternoon and a slight chance of showers or an isolated thunderstorm Thursday afternoon and evening.

Friday: Overcast through the morning with a cold frontal passage near daybreak, with decreasing cloudiness in the afternoon. Low 63, high 72, winds north at eight to 15 mph. Probability of precipitation 40 percent through morning.

Weather Fact: Climatological Forecast - A weather forecast based upon the climate of a region instead of the dynamic implications of current weather, in essence, a type of statistical forecast. Regardless of how well I understand the three dimensional distribution of moisture, pressure, temperature and wind plus all the dynamics that continually occur, I cannot extrapolate those conditions forward in time with reasonable accuracy for more than four or five days, at which point I "stop talking weather and start talking climatology."

Police charge man with shooting officer

BEAUMONT (AP) — A man was arraigned Wednesday on one count of capital murder in connection with the fatal shooting of a Beaumont police officer, authorities said.

Bail for Michael Lee Lockhart, 28, was set at $1 million, said Justice of the Peace Harold Engstrom, who conducted the arraignment.

Lockhart identified himself as being from Toledo, Ohio, but law enforcement authorities were working to verify his hometown, Judge Engstrom said.

Tuesday night's fatal shooting of Officer Paul Hulsey, 29, was the second shooting death of a police officer in Southeast Texas in two days.

Hulsey was shot once in the chest with a .357 Magnum at 7:10 p.m. at the Beaumont Inn-Best Western Motel on the city's northwest side, where he had the man under surveillance, Lt. Ed Woodsmall said.

Lockhart was arrested without incident after a taxi in which he was riding was stopped at a bridge on Interstate 10, about 40 miles east of Houston. Capt. Wayne Pullen with the Texas Department of Public Safety said.

Deputy Chief Jack McCanne said

Hulsey, an undercover narcotics investigator, had earlier spotted a man believed to be a drug dealer and followed him. But he could not keep up with the suspect's car.

Hulsey, son of former Orange Police Chief Paul Hulsey, later spotted the car in the motel parking lot, Woodsmall said. Officers checking on Hulsey found his body in a motel room.

Beaumont firefighters and paramedics treated the seven-year veteran at the scene before taking him to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

After broadcasting the vehicle's description, neighboring Orange officers spotted it and gave chase through the city into West Orange, about 20 miles east of Beaumont. The suspect was involved in a traffic accident and the driver fled into some woods on foot, Woodsmall said.

A pistol was found in the car, officials said.

Hitchhiked back to a Beaumont restaurant, where he flagged down the taxi, Woodsmall said.

Fiscal fitness

The best thing about Plantation Oaks isn't the $10/month membership to Aerofit. Or the on-site facilities like jacuzzi, two pools, men's and women's weight rooms (each with a sauna), tennis courts, basketball and volleyball courts. The best thing about Plantation Oaks is that you get all this and more for as little as $170 a month this summer. That's fiscal fitness.
