Officials charge 11 men in case of woman claiming gang rape

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — Charges have been filed against 11 men after a 19-year-old woman told police she was raped repeatedly by a group of men who urged onlookers at a ranch to join in, authorities said Thursday.

In an account that stunned this quiet community, the woman told authorities that a group of men abducted her half a block away from her home, took her to a ranch north of town, raped her and urged others attending an illegal cockfight to join in. She said she knew some of her assailants.

"Everybody's a little shocked and outraged by it," assistant district attorney Rodolfo V. Gutierrez said.

Authorities believe the woman, who has two children, was stripped naked and raped repeatedly for several hours in the backseat of a car, said Ricardo Carrillo, a Duval County assistant district attorney.

Carrillo said some of the men watching the cock fights inside a nearby shed heard the women's cries for help, but did nothing, while others joined in the sexual assault.

"Some were holding her by the legs and by the arms, and some were covering her eyes and mouth," Carrillo said.

Seven men have been charged with sexual assault, three have been charged with sexual assault and kidnapping and one has been charged only with kidnapping, Justice of the Peace Amado Garcia Jr. said.

Officials say 20 to 30 men were at the ranch.

"A lot of people were present that did not participate, didn't assault her, but at the same time they didn't do anything to help her or do anything to stop the other people from assaulting her," Gutierrez said.

"Even though legally they may not be responsible, morally they didn't do anything to try and prevent this from happening or to stop it once it started."

Carrillo said the woman was walking home from her uncle's house, about one-half block away, at about 11 p.m. Saturday when several men forced her into a car and took her to the ranch where the assaults took place.

"Some of them we've brought in have admitted it," Carrillo said. "Some are not talking."

He said the woman knew some of her assailants and identified others, but she said some covered their faces while attacking her.

The woman reported returning home early Sunday morning after four men had taken her to another location, raped her again and then dropped her off somewhere near her home, Carrillo said.

The woman's husband had been looking for her all night, he added.

She was treated at Humana Hospital in Corpus Christi and released earlier this week, authorities said.

People in the remote South Texas town of about 5,000 are frightened by the incident, said a 44-year-old San Diego woman, who says she will keep a closer watch on her three daughters.

"You expect something like this to happen in Corpus or San Antonio or Dallas, but not in San Diego," the woman, who asked not to be identified, because in the town everybody knows everybody.

One of the men charged next door to her family home months ago, the woman said, the men charged are from San Diego, officials said.

Four men arrested Wednesday and released on $20,000 bonds on sexual assault charges are Carlos Briones, 29; Roel Torres, 28; Adolfo Quintanilla Jr., 28; and Alberto Garcia, 21.

Three men who turned themselves in Thursday were charged with sexual assault and kidnapping with bonds set at $50,000 each. They are Orlando Perez, 23; Corando Perez, 28, and Chew, 28. They remained in the Tarrant County Jail late Thursday afternoon.

Isidoro Soliz, 26, was charged with kidnapping, and remained in jail in lieu of $20,000 bond today to come to court to be convicted.

Minutes after the shooting, a man refused to answer questions about the shooting, police said.

Man shoots himself during hospital stay

ODESSA (AP) — A 70-year-old patient seriously wounded after apparently shooting himself in a hospital room underwent surgery Wednesday, hospital officials said.

Cal Theriot was being treated for a gunshot wound to the chest following the 6 a.m. incident in the fourth floor coronary room at Medical Center Hospital, hospital spokesman Frankman said.

Theriot, admitted to the hospital last Wednesday for treatment of vascular problems, was believed to have shot himself with a pistol he brought into the hospital concealed in a suitcase, hospital officials said.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, Beaman said.

Defense Department awards $48 million job to Austin firm

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — An Austin company has been awarded $48.335 million contract to begin the first phase of construction for Naval Station Ingleside, Defense Department officials said.

The facility will serve as home port for five U.S. Navy ships.

Vic McNallie, vice president of Clearwater Constructors Inc. of Austin, said the announcement will mean more than 500 jobs for craftsmen in the area. Construction is expected to take about 2½ years.

The pact includes construction of a berthing pier, a wharf, utilities and site improvements at Ingleside Point.

Clearwater Constructors was the second-lowest bidder last year with a bid of $51.6 million. The company, a division of Phelps Inc. of Greeley, Colo., was established in 1972.

"We're really proud that we're going to be the first contractor to work on the Ingleside site for the Navy," McNallie said. He said construction at the site will not begin for at least 60 days.

This week, the General Accounting Office ruled the Navy had the right to disqualify six bids opened Dec. 15 and reopen the bidding process.

The GAO ruling turned down bid protests by Metric Constructors of Charlotte, N.C., and H.B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio.

The federal agency, in denying the bid protests, ruled against Metric's contention that the bidding process would become an "auction" because the amount of Metric's previous low bid of $51.3 million had been publicized.

The ruling cleared the way for the Southern Division Naval Facilities Engineering Command at Charleston, S.C., to award the contract to Clearwater.

"People have a right to protest bids, but I'm delighted that the controversy is behind us, that a contract has been let and that we will be beginning construction very shortly," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas. "It's a good thing for Texas that we're moving ahead."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said awarding the contract now would save money, because the cost of steel to the Navy is expected to go up for contracts awarded after April 1.

Last year, Congress approved $38.8 million to begin construction at Ingleside. In addition to federal funds, state and local funds will pay for part of Homeport's initial construction costs.
