Roll-off garbage containers will be rotated through the parks of Bryan and College Station during April as a free service to help citizens get rid of cumbersome garbage.

The containers have been donated by Texas Commercial Waste in cooperation with Brazos Beautiful, Diane Mills, coordinator of the project, said.

'Roll-offs are very large garbage containers that look like railroad cars," she said. "They are taken to and from various locations by big trucks. The containers get their name because they are literally rolled off the trucks and then rolled

Since April is Keep America Beautiful month as well as Brazos Beautiful month the project is an effort to encourage citizens to clean up their property. She said the roll-off containers make this more convenient for people needing to dispose of unusual waste

"Citizens must bag their garbage in College Station and sometimes they have trash that cannot be bag-Mills said. "That means they would have to take it to a dump. The containers should make it more convenient to dispose

Dallas Cowboy running back wins approval at ballet debut

FORT WORTH (AP) — Dallas Cowboys running back Herschel Walker, best known for his blistering speed and bruising bursts through defensive lines, made his ballet debut Sunday to the cheers of a fan-

About 1,300 people attended the season finale of the Fort Worth Ballet's "story series" — well above the usual numbers for a Sunday afternoon performance, officials said.

The audience gave the Heisman Trophy winner a warm reception, many standing in hearty applause after Walker took part in "Webern Pieces," a modern ballet performed with the Fort Worth company's principal danger. Maria Terezia Balogh cipal dancers, Maria Terezia Balogh and Joseph Malbrough.

The muscular Walker said tackling the dance moves was not easy.

"When you play football you have a helmet to hide behind and nobody can see your eyes, but it's a lot different out there on the stage," Walker said. "In football, you can improvise if you make a mistake, but if you do it here everyone knows it.'

The audience broke into laughter and applause when Walker and Malbrough ended their piece in the three-point stance Walker uses while in the Cowboys backfield.

However, most were more impressed with Walker's presence than with the dance moves of a running back who took a single college ballet "I kind of wish he would've danced a little more, but I do admire him for making that kind of contribution," D'Lana Anderson of Fort Worth said of Walker's slow-paced

During the 25-minute performance, the 223-pound Walker often stood still or slowly walked through a series of moves with Balogh, once lifting her 115-pound body above his head and gently passing her over

Walker, who appeared shirtless on stage, was an imposing figure that caught many longtime theater goers by surprise.
