Observers say black protests reflect tension

Recent protests by blacks at predominantly white universities differed in their immediate causes, but academic observers say the incidents reflect increasing tensions.
"There is such a rawness to race relations on campus now," Troy Duster, a professor of sociology at the University of California at Berkeley, said last week.
"A lot of black students are feeling besieged and beleaguered," he said. "They feel that their fellow students and professors wonder why they are there in the first place."
Provocations for protests have run the gamut from an assault at the University of Massachusetts to verbal harassment at Denison College in Ohio to a damaged bicycle at Berkeley.
"In every single one of these instances, there has been some local incident or an accumulation of things... the straw that broke the camel's back as it were," said Mary Frances Berry, a member of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and Sigal professor of history at the University of Pennsylvania.
"But if one looks generally, one sees that on these campuses you have the basic sort of reaction against the expansion of opportunity for blacks," she said.

World Briefs

Rustlers massacre Kenyan nomads

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Rustlers armed with machetes and rifles raided nomad camps at dawn and killed 192 people and injured 50 in a remote part of northwestern Kenya, the government said Sunday.
The rustlers stole about 3,500 cattle, sheep, goats and donkeys, officials said. Forty of the 50 rustlers were captured and killed and about 3,000 animals were re-

Hostage reports passenger conditions

ALGIERS (AP) — A passenger aboard a hijacked Kuwait Airways jumbo jet said Sunday about 35 hostages on the plane faced certain death if Kuwait refused to release 17 convicted terrorists.
"All the passengers are in good health," the man said. "I hope the Kuwait government will act quickly to liberate the 17 young prisoners. Otherwise we all face a black end."
The man identified himself as Suleiman Farhan Doukhi.

Palestinians protest assassination

JERUSALEM (AP) — Palestinians angered by the assassination of a PLO leader boycotted their jobs and staged protest marches Sunday, and Israel imposed curfews on cities and camps in the occupied territories.
Eight Arabs were wounded in scattered clashes with Israeli soldiers in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, hospital officials said.
Leaders of the PLO blamed Israel for Saturday's killing of PLO military chief, Khalil-Wazir.
