sbe Oiler camp move to SWT me final, says school regent

Southwest Texas State University have reached agreement on a plan to move the Oilers' pre-season training camp to the school's Central Texas campus, an SWT regent said Thursday.

The Oilers have held their summer camp at Angelo State University in San Angelo for the past 10 years.

ne said. "We e. Some of d said, Am s needed to

on the Sim

before Brag t over the

ete Incavig

ht win was the M and Jose Ca

hooked up

rel Futuri

by a neck.

s going into ere was a chi ld beat us," second and ne one-quant stands the ugh trip," hit in the eye

ay anything nt to make lydar was because Al

d to third fore takin It in the l eighth w

Alydar b m behind ieve he wa ade a he allenge l n he was !

of a mile ength or squez said.

king, "How e Preakness a neck.

e distance the Beln beat us. r stretch di ead.

aid Vietch in the wir ed was di years.

Jack Martin of Austin, a member of the Texas State University System Board of Regents, said SWT officials informally approved an Oilers' proposal Thursday. Formal approval by the full board should come at its May 19 meeting in Huntsville, he said.

"I see no opposition at all," Martin said.

SWT officials have scheduled a Friday news conference to discuss details of the agreement.

Di Chip Namias, media relations director for the Oilers, said Thursday that no final agreement had been ers, said Thursday that no final agreement had been reached.

He said Southwest Texas State is "definitely a front-runner," but "you can't call anything a done deal until the contracts are signed."

To In San Angelo, the impending move sparked disappointment and a prediction that the Oilers would regret the change.

"I expect we'll be hearing from them again (in the future)," said Mark McLaughlin, a San Angelo banker and president of the West Texas city's chamber of commerce. "After they experience some other training camps, they'll recognize the advantages they had here"

He listed the advantages as low humidity and "remoteness." The latter, he said, makes it easier for coaches to "keep up with the extracurricular activities of their players

But Namias said remoteness is one of the problems with San Angelo. To get there, the Oilers had to fly from Houston to Dallas and get a commuter flight to San Angelo.

"You run players in and out quite a bit for tryouts and guys getting cut," he said, adding that air service to San Marcos is better because it is 30 miles south of Austin and 60 miles north of San Antonio.

Namias said the Oilers looked for a new summer home because "when you come off a long-term contract, the nature of it is to take a look around and see what else is out there."

"We were by no means unhappy with San Angelo. They were really great to us," he said. Namias acknowledged that San Marcos is more humid than San Angelo, but said the Central Texas city has lower average summer temperatures.

The finalists in the Oilers' search were Southwest Texas State, Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colo., and Northern Michigan University in Marquette, Mich. The team prefers a Texas site because owner K.S. "Bud" Adams likes it that way, Namias said.

As part of Southwest Texas State's pitch for the Oilers' camp, the San Marcos City Council has approved $120,000 to upgrade three practice fields at

"It adds a lot of prestige to the university and San Marcos," Martin said of the move. He also said school and Oiler officials have discussed holding an Oilers preseason game in San Marcos.

In San Angelo, McLaughlin said he would miss his occasional trips to Oilers practices.

"It's just very impressive to see those gifted athletes move. They're like gazelles bounding around out there on the practice field," he said.

Rose bumps Brenham ace off SI cover

BRENHAM (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager Pete Rose has knocked record-setting high school pitcher Jon Peters off the cover of Peters, a Brenham junior who is 37-0 in his high school career, was scheduled to be on the May 9 cover of the magazine until Rose was suspended for 30 days for shoving an umpire last Saturday, according to Jane Gilchrist, public relations direc-

"If (Rose) hadn't acted up, Jon Peters would have been on the cover," she told the Bryan-College Station Eagle.

John Papanek, Sports Illustrated's baseball editor, said the Peters cover

'We're going to send a facsimile of it (to Peters) and mount it next to the one with Pete Rose on the cover," Papanek said.

The Peters cover would have said, "Kid K — Texas High School Pitching Phenom Jon Peters."

On April 12, Peters broke the national record of 34 consecutive wins by a high school pitcher.

Gilchrist said Peters would have been the first schoolboy baseball player on the magazine's cover.

ewis may retire on top next year

HOUSTON (AP) — Carl Lewis, a four gold-edal winner in the 1984 Olympic Games, said hursday he will consider retirement after his 8th birthday on July 1, 1989.

"If I compete at the best level possible next year, there'll be nothing to stand around for, nothing more to accomplish," Lewis said. "I've always admired athletes like Walter Pay-on (Chicago Bears running back) and (Julius rving) Dr. J. They stepped out on top." Lewis said, however, his plans remained flexi-

"I just told myself several years ago that I'd hink about it at 28. I could go another year and you can maintain the speed until you're 30 of Lewis said he would maintain a heavy meet chedule in 1989, since it could be his last.

"Next year will be much more intense," Lewis said. "I'll compete a full indoor and outdoor schedule. I don't want to miss any meets before I

University of Houston Coach Tom Tellez, Lewis' mentor since he competed for the Cougars, said Lewis still had the capability of a 30-foot long jump.

"It's just a matter of interest," Tellez said. "The running events are hard to maintain, but if he decided to just long jump, you could see him in the next three or four Olympics."

Lewis will compete in the long jump for the first time this year at the Houston Invitational meet May 21 on the Houston campus.

Lewis has a 52-meet winning streak in the long

Lewis, who jumped 28 or more feet 17 times last year, also feels capable of a 30-foot jump.

"I think it's more possible this year than be-fore," Lewis said. "I had my first workout last week," Lewis said. "Coach Tellez said 'That's mid-season form' after only four jumps." Lewis also will compete in the Houston Chronicle Indoor Games, announced Thursday, for Jan. 28, 1989, in Astroarena.

The meet will be part of a post-Olympics circuit, featuring many of the medal winners from this year's Olympics in Seoul, Korea.

Lewis, making a surprise start in a Houston allcomers meet Wednesday night, ran a 10.05 100 meters, the fastest time in the world this year.

Lewis finished fifth in the Mt. San Antonio College Relays in his last 100 meters race.

"I knew the blocks slipped at Mt. SAC and I just decided to come home and run a good race,"

Jackson unanimous on All-Rookie team

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Knicks guard Mark Jack-son, who broke two records set by Hall-of-Famer Oscar Robertson, was a unanimous choice to the 1988 NBA All-Rookie team, the league announced Thursday.

Jackson set NBA records for first-year players with 868 assists and an average of 10.6 assists per game. He broke Robertson's rookie records of 690 assists and 9.7 assists per game, set in the 1960-61 season. Joining Jackson on the All-Rookie team, selected by the NBA's 23 head coaches, were Greg Anderson of San Antonio, Armon Gilliam of Phoenix, Kenny Smith of Sacramento, and

Derrick McKey of Seattle. 14 rookies received at least one vote from the coaches, who were asked to vote for the top five rookies regardless of position and were not permitted to vote for players from their own team. Jackson received the maximum 22 votes, Gilliam and Smith had 16 apiece, Anderson 15 and Mc-

Reggie Miller of Indiana was next with nine votes. Others receiving votes were Horace Grant, Chicago, 8; Scottie Pippen, Chi-cago, 7; Winston Garland, Golden State, and Kevin Johnson, Phoenix, 3; Tyrone Bogues, Washington, 2; Mark Acres, Bos-ton; Olden Polynice, Seattle, and Joe Wolf, Los Angeles Clippers,

Jackson, who helped lead the Knicks to their first playoff berth in four years, ranked third in the NBA in assists and sixth in steals with an average of 2.50 per game. His total of 205 steals fell only six short of the NBA rookie record of 211 set by Dudley Bradley of Indiana in the 1979-80 season.

Anderson, who started for the Spurs at all three front-court positions during the season, was San Antonio's leading shot-blocker with 122. He also averaged 11.7 points and 6.3 rebounds.

Gilliam, who missed the early part of the season with a broken bone in his left foot suffered on opening night, came on strong in midseason and finished with averages of 14.8 points and 7.9 rebounds per game, the best of any

NFL owners find profit easiest by selling team

tional Football League franchises are in professional sports. finding that the quickest way to But most people who buy pro make a profit is to leave the NFL — sports franchises realize there's little and sell the team.

people who appreciate art will pay millions of dollars for a Van Gogh, put it on a wall, and it doesn't pay a return except in the form of pleasure," said Cleveland Browns owner

Teams don't make or lose much return while you own the team isn't efits. much," Modell said.

good investment should look else-where, the Dallas Morning News reported Thursday.

1960 for $3.925 million.

sports for investment purposes. . . The 24-day players' strike last The profits are only in the form of year resulted in an average loss of intangible pleasure and the prospects of selling at a higher price. If lan said.

DALLAS (AP) — Owners of Na- you break even, you are doing well and sell the team.

"I always use as an example that said. They buy for other reasons.

more than $2 million a year either "If you are lucky and resell it at a way, officials say. Much of the inprofit, then it was an astute move for come is fixed, and player costs are a knowledgeable collector. It's the relatively the same for each team—same thing for a sports team. The about $12.5 million in salary and boonly appreciation is on resale. The nuses and $3.5 million in player ben-

Stadium size, local radio and pre-He and other owners around the season television rights and ticket league say anyone looking for a prices account for the major differ-

"Any economic benefit is really in "There are far better invest-club appreciation," said Jack Don-ments," said Modell, who purchased lan, the NFL Management Council controlling interest in the Browns in executive director. "In terms of the outlay and the return on the invest-"Nobody should go into pro ment, it's not a prudent investment."

The 24-day players' strike last $1.5 million per club last year, Don-

BASEBALL CARD SHOW BUY_SELL_TRADE

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1988

ADMISSION $100 HOLIDAY INN 1503 S. TEXAS AVE. COLLEGE STATION, TX.

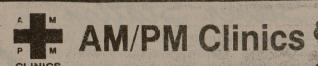

External Cooler 10% DISCOUNT

With student I.D. on all work with this coupon. Expires 5-31-88.

Read-Test FREE Analysis

TRANSMISSION SERVICE

1507 Texas Bryan 779-0555

Minor Emergencies 10% Student Discount with ID card

3820 Texas Ave. Bryan, Texas 846-4756

401 S. Texas Ave. Bryan, Texas 779-4756

8a.m.-11p.m. 7 days a week Walk-in Family Practice

2 Large Pizzas 16" one topping

Large 16" Pizza one topping

Small Pizza

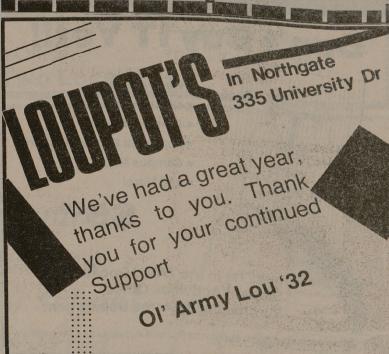

12" Two topping

FINALS SPECIALS

FREE DELIVERY 846-0379

Northgate

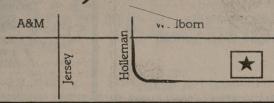

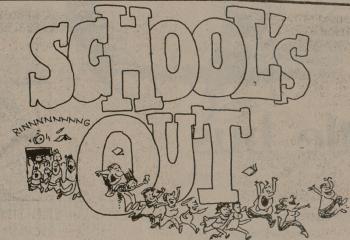

For Am Students, The Apartment That Pays Its Own Way

Double Tree Luxury Condominiums

FROM $24,900

Have a fun summer celebrate sensibly!

> BACCHUS &

Center for Drug Prevention & Education 845-0280

