Milk production up in Texas; Benefits felt in state, at A&M

By Susan Erb Reporter

Increased milk production in the A&M, a Texas A&M economist says. Dr. Robert Schwart Jr., marketing economist for the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service, says 1988 milk production is up 12 percent to 13 percent from last year, and he expects the trend to continue, but at a slightly lower rate because of nationwide drought.

Texas dairymen produced 4.3 billion pounds of milk in 1987, an increase of 5 percent over 1986. Total value of 1987 production, at $592.7 million, was up 6 percent over the previous year

"If we keep up with the current trend," Schwart says, "Texas dairy farmers will produce 4.7 billion pounds of milk in 1988. Revising projections down because of the drought, 1988 production is expected to be 4.4 to 4.5 billion

Schwart says high demand, low. feed prices and ease of expansion in the Texas dairy business contribute to increased production.

"We have a good market here,"

Schwart says. "Despite the fact that we have just come through some economic hard times in this state, we still have been gaining population, and there is a fairly large market for

Schwart says feed prices which constitute 40 percent to 60 percent of milk production costs, were reasonably low in 1987, helping keep expenses down and production up. And the Texas climate, he says, allows dairymen to invest more money in cows and less in shelter, making expansion more economical in Texas than in the North.

Schwart believes that both the state of Texas and Texas A&M University have benefited from the

These benefits include more of the milk consumed in Texas comes from Texas milk producers, consumer prices have lowered because of increased supply and Texas dairy service industries are growing. The industry itself, Schwart says, is becoming more aware of its needs and as a result is financing more graduate assistanceship programs in the area of dairy marketing. Includ-

More losses anticipated for ailing RepublicBank

DALLAS (AP) — First Republic-Bank Corp. chairman Tuesday told investors to expect further losses at the ailing bank, but said the company's restructuring plan could beat a competing plan from Citicorp.
Officers from Citicorp, the nation's largest banking organization, are in Dallas studying a possible purchase of First RepublicBank, Chairman Albert Casey said after the bank's annual shareholder's meet-

"(Citicorp) won't tell me if they're going to submit (a proposal)," Casey said. But Casey said he knows of only citicorp as a possible competitor with First RepulicBank for submitting bank restructuring plans with the Federal Deposit Insurance

Citicorp officials have declined to purchase Dallas-based First RepublicBank, the state's largest bank holding company. Casey told shareholders at the bank's annual meeting to expect 'substantial further losses" in the quarter ending Thursday. Shareholders greeted Casey's annual report with pointed and occasionally angry remarks. First RepublicBank lost $1.5 billion in the first quarter, prompting a $1 billion bailout earlier this year from the Federal Deposit Insurance

Corp.

Tuesday's meeting came just two days before the FDIC's deadline to submit a restructuring proposal for First RepublicBank. First Republic-Bank submitted its own proposal The FDIC should select a plan comment on whether they plan to shortly after July 8, Casey said.
