Relatives claim negligence after caved-in roof kills two

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Three negligence suits were filed Monday by relatives of two women crushed to death when the roof of the Amigo department store buckled and fell in last week in rain, killing 14.

Two of the suits were filed against Bernard Levine, owner of the three-level department store, and his company, Los Amigos Inc. A third suit named the company and the store's builders, Adams Brothers General Contractors Inc.

Calls to Levine's home were not answered Monday.

Two of the lawsuits were filed by Juan Lopez-Butron of Matamoros,

Mexico, whose wife, Graciela Cortinas de Lopez, was the fifth victim pulled from the rubble.

Lopez-Butron accused Amigo Store of failing to warn his wife a collapse could occur and failing to properly inspect the roof and its drainage system.

He also accused Adams Brothers of failing to install a safe roof, failing to inspect it and failing to properly install an adequate way to drain the flat surface. In that suit he requests a trial by jury and asks for no more than $5 million in damages, interest and court costs.

Luis Enrique Cortinas Villarreal

filed a suit seeking damages for the death of his mother, Marisela Villarreal Vda. de Rivera. He names Levine, the store and Levine's company and alleges negligence.

William B. Harrison of Corpus Christi represents Villarreal and Lopez-Butron. Allen Moore of Brownsville represents Lopez-Butron in the suit that names the store and the construction company.

Meanwhile, heavier than usual traffic flowed through the downtown street where the building collapsed, with passersby slowing to look at the floor — all that remains of the structure.

State officials break ground for new prison

GATESVILLE (AP) — State officials turned symbolic shovels of soil Monday near the construction site of a new maximum security prison and called for more like it.

"We have simply got to have the facilities," said Board of Corrections chairman Charles Terrell, referring to what he called the "ridiculous early release system" now in use to ease prison crowding. "It doesn't do any good to have rehabilitation programs . . . if you don't have the population long enough to do something about it."

Prison board members, legislators, and local officials gathered in a prison gym for a ceremony marking the symbolic start of construction of a 2,250-inmate penitentiary to be built near the existing prisons in Coryell county.

The $60 million Alfred D. Hughes Unit, named for a former prison board chairman, should be completed by October 1989.

A similar maximum security prison will be built near Amarillo. Both sites were selected last year by the prison board. The prisons will be paid for by bonds approved last November by Texas voters.

Senator says tax firm unethical with contract

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A representative of attorney Oliver Heard Jr. offered state Sen. Frank Tejeda between $10,000 and $30,000 to help wrest a local school district's delinquent-tax collection contract from a rival firm, according to a published report.

Tejeda secretly recorded two conversations with Lupe Zamarripa, a representative of Heard's firm, the San Antonio Light reported in a copyright story. The story said the tapes were recorded in Tejeda's southside district office.

On the tapes, Zamarripa proposed that Tejeda become the firm's liaison in the school district to help convince area officials to award the contract to Heard's firm, the newspaper reported.

Tejeda rejected the offer because it had a "foul odor" and smacked of influence peddling, he said.

Heard said Sunday he was not aware of any impropriety and demanded access to the tapes.

"I demand that Senator Tejeda make the tapes available to me," Heard said. "I'd like to read them in their entire context. I'm not going to respond anymore until I have a chance to see it (the transcript)."

Tejeda said he plans to provide Heard with a copy of the recordings.

In the tapes of meetings May 18 and June 15, Zamarripa said Tejeda could earn additional money by securing other contracts in San Antonio districts where the senator's influence with school board members is strong, the newspaper reported.

"Let me tell you this, Frank," Zamarripa said. "You've got a lot of contacts in San Antonio and a lot of contacts around the state. There's a lot of possibilities; you can make a lot of money."

Zamarripa told Tejeda he could earn the $10,000 to $30,000 as a percentage of back tax receipts if he steered the Harlandale School District's delinquent tax contract to Heard from the school attorney, North West, who currently has the contract.

The payments would continue annually as long as Heard's firm held the contract, Zamarripa said.

Heard, the senior partner in the San Antonio law firm of Heard, Goggan, Blair & Williams, said he only learned of what he called the "misunderstanding" between Tejeda and Zamarripa on Friday.
