Appeals court changes ruling on conviction

AUSTIN (AP) — A state appeals court Wednesday threw out a criminally negligent homicide conviction against Peabody Southwest, Inc., in the cave-in death of a construction worker.
Peabody appealed to the 3rd Court of Appeals, which ordered acquittal in the July 17, 1985, death of Margarito Maldonado, who was killed when the trench he was working in collapsed on him.
The state charged Maldonado's employer with criminally negligent homicide for failing to properly slope and shore the walls of the trench.
Peabody alleged that the trial court lacked jurisdiction in the case because state law was preempted by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act. The trial judge denied the motion, and Peabody pleaded no contest. The judge accepted the plea and fined Peabody $20,000.
Justice Jimmy Carroll noted that the court had held in two other cases determined on rehearing Wednesday that federal law preempts state criminal prosecutions based on workplace safety conditions.

Texas' assistant attorney general abdicates post

HOUSTON (AP) — The assistant attorney general who spearheaded reform of the Hermann Hospital Estate and the Moody Foundation says he is resigning instead of taking a job transfer.
John Vasquez, who now heads the state attorney general's charitable trusts division, had been offered a transfer and promotion to become a special assistant attorney general in the consumer protection division but apparently was not given an option to remain in his current job, officials said.
"I think I have accomplished a lot in this office, but I think I can serve those concerns I most care about probably best outside the (state) agency," Vasquez said Tuesday.
Vasquez submitted his letter of resignation this week to Attorney General Jim Mattox, effective Sept. 16. He will be replaced by Rose Ann Reeser, an assistant attorney general in the Houston consumer protection office, said Ron Dusek, spokesman for the attorney general.
Vasquez, 33, has been with the attorney general's charitable trusts of-since 1984.

"I'm resigning because I think it's in my best interest and in the best interest of my public policy concerns," he said. "I want to continue to do good things. I hope I can, and I believe I can."
His resignation comes on the heels of his creation of a controversial statewide task force to study the delivery of indigent care by non-profit hospitals. The task force, which grew out of his investigation of the scandal-plagued Hermann Hospital Estate, has drawn fire from the powerful hospital lobby.
Dusek, however, said political differences were not the reasons for the proposed transfer of Vasquez out of the charitable trusts division.
"We have big, important cases not only in the charitable trust division, but also in the consumer protection area," Dusek said. "We would have made the best use of the talents that he has."
During his tenure, Vasquez headed several major investigations of charitable trusts in the Houston area.

Air-show victims receive treatment in Texas hospital

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four military personnel will spend up to eight weeks in a burn treatment facility after suffering third-degree burns in an air show disaster in West Germany, physicians said Wednesday.
Three Americans and an Italian are being treated at Brooke Army Medical Center, which was expected to receive a family of three Americans from the same crash late Wednesday.
The four servicemen arrived early Wednesday via a C-141 cargo plane from West Germany and were taken to the burn unit about 2 a.m.
They were identified as Air Force Master Sgt. Stephen Hull, 31, stationed at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio; Army 1st Lt. Kim Strader, 41, of Salt Lake City; Army Pfc. Myron Riggs, 24, of Pittsburgh; and Anderea, or Andrew, DelaRosa, 33, a sergeant major assigned to the Italian Embassy.

"The extent of burns ranges from 21 percent to 65 percent of the total body surface," Dr. Basil Pruitt, head of the world-renowned burn unit, said about the victims.
"In all of the patients, the majority of the burns are third-degree, which means that considerable skin grafting will have to be done to close the wounds," he said at a news conference.
He said the four would be in the hospital between six and eight weeks, but he declined to discuss

Police Beat

The following complaints were reported to the University Police Department from Aug. 19 through Aug. 26:

MISDEMEANOR THEFT:
• Seven bicycles were reported missing during the week before classes started. Only two were reported as being locked at the time of the theft. Two unlocked bicycle wheels also were reported stolen from locked bicycle frames.
• While on patrol, an officer noticed that the street signs at the corner of Lubbock and Nagle streets had been broken off.
• A man reported that someone removed the right front hubcap from his 1983 Nissan Stanza while it was parked in the Northgate post office parking lot.

CRIMINAL MISCHIEF:
• On the night of Aug. 24, someone broke into the Cavalry Barn and damaged several items stored there. On the same evening, in an apparently unrelated case, someone broke out the east windows of the Bus Stop Snack Bar. Nothing was reported missing after the break-in.
DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED:
• Officers stopped a driver on Throckmorton St. on the night of Aug. 24. The man was arrested for DWI and was taken to Brazos County Jail.

crashed during an air show at Ramstein Air Force Base. More than 40 people were killed and 500 injured.
Officials also said that McCanch, his wife Tammy and their 2-year-old son Jeffrey had been undergoing treatment at Landstuhl Army hospital en route to BAMC.
