Success for Viola came with cool head

ARLINGTON (AP) —Minnesota Twins left-hander Frank Viola knew he had to learn to calm down on the mound if he was to develop into a big winner.

Hot-headed displays at the first sign of adversity once were his trademark.

"My first couple of years, I'd let little things bother me," said Viola, who had no reason to be bothered Wednesday night when he became the major league's first 20-game winner of 1988 and a 100-game career winner, all in the same night.

Viola pitched five-hit ball over seven innings to shackle the Texas Rangers, 10-1.

"I'd blow up if there was a play in the field or an umpire's call or something else that might happen to affect the game," Viola said of the way he used to be.

"But I've calmed down. I've learned that there are certain things I can't control. It's my number one job to go out there, throw the ball and not worry about all the other things."

Viola had failed in his two previous tries for his 20th but he cruised against Texas behind an offensive explosion that included Kirby Puckett's 20th and 21st homers and four RBIs.

"That makes your job easy," Viola said. "That's why this is such a team game."

Viola struck out five and walked three, lowering his ERA to 2.36, best in the American League.

Twins manager Tom Kelly, who managed the former St. John's star when Viola broke into pro ball at Orlando, Fla., in 1981, had an explanation for Viola's success.

"He keeps it over the plate," Kelly said. "If you keep it over the plate, you have a chance.

"You've got a kid in the minors, you never know. But he matured, started getting the ball over the plate. When he got to the majors he was throwing 100 pitches in five innings. He wasn't putting hitters away. Now he's got command of his pitches, and he's putting hitters away."

Pitching coach Dick Such says Viola's success is linked to increased concentration.

"He's just more focused, more intense," Such said.

"There are always guys who come along who can throw the baseball. But until you get yourself squared away mentally, things don't happen. I've got to take my hat off to him, the way he's turned himself around as a pitcher."

Former Twins pitcher and current broadcaster Jim Kaat says Viola is the best he has seen this season.

"He's the stopper," said Kaat. "He's the guy you want to pitch the big game. You see the consistency, which was lacking five years ago. You saw the talent. You didn't see where it would lead."

Kaat also has taken note of Viola's attitude transformation over the last five years.

"He was very emotional," Kaat said. "He'd get upset when things didn't go right. He's learned a lot about pitching and this is the result."

Viola was relieved that the 20-win plateau had been reached.

"I know number 21 will be a lot easier," he said.

While the defending World Champion Twins trail the Oakland A's by nine games in the American League West with a month remaining in the season, Viola said Minnesota has not conceded the title.
