Palmer still king, says competitor

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, breaking into the PGA Seniors Tour victory circle after a three-year drought, was the class of the field, one of his chief competitors says.

"The king is back," defending Crestar Classic champion Larry Mowry said Sunday after Palmer finished the three-day tournament with a 203 score, one stroke shy of the record for the 6-year-old event. "Long live the king."

Palmer, 59, led from Friday's opening birdie and closed with a 70 to win by four strokes over Mowry, Jim Ferree, Lee Elder and George Lanning. Lanning, who began the final day 11 strokes back, had a closing 64 to set a tournament record over the 6,644-yard Hermitage Country Club course.

"When you haven't won in a couple of years, a lot of things go through your mind," said Palmer, whose last win came in the Senior TPC in June 1985. "You wonder why you haven't won, if you're ever going to win again."

But Palmer shot a 65 in the opening round and a 68 on Saturday. After that, he said, "I felt confident, like I was playing well and felt physically well. I wanted to win very badly and I felt if I didn't make any bad mistakes, I could."

Palmer, who has 61 PGA Tour victories, including four Masters wins, picked up $48,750 here. It was his 10th Senior PGA win, but he has played in only 13 events this year. Still, he has earned $115,366.

"Sometimes you get so wrapped up in business," said Palmer. "My golf, even though it's first, sometimes gets second billing."

"On the other hand, I never thought I'd be playing as much serious golf as I am now."

Palmer last won at the Senior Tournament Players Championship in 1985. But he captained the victorious U.S. team at the Chrysler Cup team competition in 1986.

The Army, Palmer's legion of fans, hasn't diminished in size or dedication. Palmer said he gets a lot of inspiration from his loyal fans.

"To see them out there gives me so much of a boost," he said. "The galleries have been so fantastic over the years."

"Call it an army or gallery, they've just been so good to me over the years and it means so much to have them there cheering me on."

mania. No, Evans said, she was not overly impressed with the strength of the Eastern Europeans.

"They're just ordinary people, and I train just as hard as them, so I don't see why I should be intimidated," she said.

She had an easy time, winning in 4 minutes, 37.76 seconds, well off the world record of 4:36.10 by Petra Schneider of East Germany but better than her own American mark of 4:38.58.

Lung was second in 4:39.46, and Daniela Hunger of East Germany won the bronze in 4:39.76.

Biondi thought he had won his race, the 200-meter freestyle, but Australian Duncan Armstrong rode Biondi's wake to a world record time and the gold medal.

"You know, I feel really good about what happened," Biondi said. "I swam my race. ... and that's what I needed to do here. And I think I swam good enough to win. Obviously, it wasn't good enough."

Armstrong's time was 1:47.25, bettering the world mark of 1:47.44 by Michael Gross of West Germany in the 1984 Olympics. Anders Holmertz of Sweden won the silver in 1:47.89, and Biondi finished in 1:47.99. Gross was fifth.

On Tuesday, he was timed in 53.46, edging out Gross in the same butterfly heat. Gross' time was 53.78.

American boxers lost two of their best fighters in two days — Kelcie

Banks on a first-round knockout Sunday and Anthony Hembrick on Monday when he missed his bout with South Korean Ha Jong-ho. Ha's hand was risen in victory just as Hembrick and Coach Ken Adams came rushing into the boxing arena.

Adams took the blame for the mix up, similar to one that cost two American sprinters a chance for medals at the 1972 Munich Games. Adams said he thought Hembrick, the team captain, was fighting 11th in the morning session. He was actually up fifth.

"We had no idea it was that close to the time," Adams said.

Making matters worse, Adams said, they were prevented from boarding a bus to the venue because it was full.

Jim Fox, executive director of USA-Amateur Boxing Federation, said when Hembrick and Adams got to the 10 a.m. bus, they were told to wait because it was full. The next bus came in a half hour, and they got to the ring five minutes after the South Korean had been awarded the victory.

Two South Koreans acting as bus dispatchers said it was not true that the boxer and his coach were prevented from getting on the bus.

"They say different things with the one mouth," dispatcher Gae Hee-pai said. "They were late because they got to the bus too late."

An appeal of the decision was turned down by the International Boxing Federation.

Louganis

The judges responded with 87.12 — the highest score awarded in the competition.

His entry into the water was near-perfect and whisper-quiet, something that must have been a source of great joy at the moment, something that must be a source of great strength whenever Louganis remembers how he came into this world.

For if champions must know adversity before they know success, then this champion was primed from childhood.

Born 28 years ago to an unmarried pair of San Diego teen-agers and adopted soon after by a couple from nearby El Cajon, Calif., Louganis was a tap-dancing virtuoso at 6, an accomplished gymnast and diver at 10, but a difficult and withdrawn dyslexic only a few years later.

By the time he reached junior high school — his problem still undiagnosed — he was struggling mightily inside the classroom and outside it, taking solace in drugs and sipping beer from a bottle of liquor hidden in his locker.

But there was always the pool and its diving board, the place where he could slip those troublesome bonds, the place Louganis still refers to as "my sanctuary."

Dramatic Michigan win keeps Miami atop poll

Miami's dramatic 31-30 comeback behind victory over Michigan kept the Hurricanes atop the Associated Press college football poll Monday while Michigan became one of the few 0-2 teams to be ranked in the last 30 years.

However, two other Big Ten teams, Ohio State and Iowa, fell out of the Top Twenty while Pittsburgh and Florida made it for the first time this season.

Miami, which rallied from a 30-14 deficit by scoring 17 points in the final 5½ minutes, received 52 of 59 first-place votes and 1,171 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

UCLA, a 56-3 winner over Long Beach State, received three first-place votes and remained No. 2 with 1,104 points.

Oklahoma moved up from fourth to third with two first-place votes and 1,016 points. The Sooners, who defeated Arizona 28-10, replaced Clemson, which dropped from third to 12th after losing to Florida State 24-21.

Auburn leaped from sixth to fourth with 900 points by walloping Kansas 56-7. The remaining two first-place votes went to Southern Cal, which was idle but held fifth place with 859 points.

Georgia rose from sixth to seventh with 802 points by beating Mississippi State 42-35 and 34-9 winner over Tennessee jumped from ninth to seventh with 794 points.

Notre Dame remained in place with 753 points by beating Michigan State 20-3. Florida's victory over Clemson enabled the Seminoles to climb from 11th to ninth with 739 points by beating Oklahoma State 20-14. The Cornhuskers also were out of the Top Ten with 629 points.

The Second Ten consists of Virginia, Clemson, Alabama, Carolina, Penn State, Pitt, West Virginia, Oklahoma State, Michigan State, Iowa and Ohio State.

Last week, it was Nebraska, Virginia, Alabama, South Carolina, Michigan, Penn State, West Virginia, Oklahoma State, Iowa and Ohio State.

Pitt made the Top 20 by knocking Ohio State out of the Top 20 by beating the Buckeyes 42-10, while Iowa cracked the Top 20 by beating Iowa State 58-0. Iowa fell out of the Top 20 for the second time this season, falling from 24-21 to Colorado.

Hershiser scoreless streak kills Astros 1-0

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles right-hander Orel Hershiser pitched his fourth consecutive shutout with a four-hitter and extended his scoreless streak to 40 innings Monday night, leading the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over Houston.

The victory was the Dodgers' eighth in nine games and reduced their magic number for clinching the National League West to four. Houston lost its fifth in a row.

Hershiser, 22-8, struck out five batters and didn't walk any as he tied Cincinnati's Danny Jackson for the National League and major league lead in victories. Frank Viola of the Minnesota Twins also has won 22.

Only one Astros baserunner reached third base.

Hershiser is pursuing the major league record of 58 2-3 scoreless innings set by Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale in 1968.

Hershiser also became the first

Dodger pitcher to throw a straight shutout since Drysdale threw six straight shutouts en route to his scoreless innnings record.

John Shelby gave Hershiser the runs he needed with a home run off reliever Dan Darwin, 7-12, to open the scoring in the seventh inning.

Shelby's eighth homer of the season sailed over the right field fence.

The Astros threatened Hershiser's scoreless streak twice out in the first inning as Kevin Bass singled to left field to score second and went to third on shortstop Alfredo Griffin's error.

But Buddy Bell grounded to end the threat.

Houston starter Nolan Ryan, trying for his fourth consecutive victory, struck out four batters in the first two innings but let a cramp in his left leg after throwing one pitch in the third in-

Fernandez hit caps rally to beat Bosox 5-4

TORONTO (AP) — Tony Fernandez hit a two-run single to cap a five-run seventh-inning rally Monday night and the Toronto Blue Jays beat Boston 5-4, the third loss in 11 games for the first-place Red Sox.

Mike Boddicker, who allowed three singles and led 3-0 through six innings, walked Ernie Whit to lead off the seventh. One out later, Fred McGriff doubled and Rance Mullinicks followed with a sacrifice fly.

Dennis Lamp, 6-5, relieved with a 2-0 count and walked Jesse Barfield, and Kelly Gruber hit a run-scoring single. Lamp's mishandled second baseman Marty Barrett's throw on Matt Lee's grounder, allowing the ing run to score. Fernandez followed with his two-run single.

Jim Clancy, 10-13, won his fourth straight, allowing seven hits and three runs in seven innings. Tom Henke pitched 1½ innings of three-hit relief, allowing a run-scoring single to Bill in the ninth, Boggs' 198th hit of the season. Duane Ward got the out for his 14th save, striking out Barrett with runners on first and second.

Clark, Randolph hit Yankees past Orioles 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Clark hit a two-run double and Willie Randolph hit a run-scoring single as the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles 5-2 Monday night, ending a three-game losing streak.

New York, which lost three of four to Boston over the weekend, pulled to within 5½ games of the first-place Red Sox with 13 games remaining. Boston lost to Toronto 5-4.

Richard Dotson, 11-9, gave six hits and both runs in 5½ innings. Lee Guetterman followed with 2 2-3 innings of one-hit relief and Dave Righetti struck out the side in the ninth for his 12th save.

Pete Harnisch, 0-2, making his second major league start, worked the first six innings before Gregg Olson relieved.
