Bentsen: Bush hurt oil industry, Dukakis to help

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen stumped Tuesday across the economically depressed oil lands of Texas and Oklahoma, telling voters their troubles were George Bush's fault and promising that Michael Dukakis would get oil wells pumping again.

Bentsen, the Democratic vice president candidate, said Dukakis will "light a fire" under federal regulators blocking the sale of natural gas to the Northeast.

The Texas senator also promised an audience of 1,500 people in a downtown Oklahoma City square that a Democratic administration would use tax incentives and other subsidies to revive oil production in the Southwest.

Dukakis, the Democratic nominee and governor of Massachusetts, said Monday that if he is elected Nov. 8, Bentsen would head his energy policy panel.

Tropical storm near Africa moves west

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Storm Helene formed in the eastern Atlantic on Tuesday, and was expected to strengthen as it moved west, the National Hurricane Center reported.

Helene is the eighth named storm of the 1988 Atlantic hurricane season, and the first since Hurricane Gilbert formed in the Caribbean and went on to ravage Jamaica and Mexico.

Helene's winds, based on satellite photos, reached 40 mph Tuesday just above the level at which a tropical depression becomes a named storm, forecaster Miles Lawrence said.

"There is a potential for further strengthening during the next 24 or two," Lawrence said. "It's a legitimate, September, Cape Verde tropical storm."

The storms that form this month near the Cape Verde islands off Africa's coast are often the season's strongest because of ideal hurricane spawning conditions, forecasters said.

The depression that became Helene had initially seemed dissipated, but satellite photos on Tuesday showed circulation had improved.

Wright: CIA admits to secret activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Jim Wright said Tuesday the Central Intelligence Agency has admitted using undercover operatives in Nicaragua to stir up public protest, hoping the leftist Sandinista government will overreact.

"We have received clear testimony from CIA people that they have deliberately done things to provoke an overreaction on the part of the government in Nicaragua," Wright, D-Texas, told reporters in answer to a question at his daily news conference.

In a subsequent interview, Wright said agency personnel, under questioning from members of Congress, said they had "sought to generate vigorous demonstrations. . . . Agents of our government have assisted in organizing the kinds of anti-government demonstrations that have been calculated to stimulate and provoke arrests."

CIA spokesman Sharon Basso declined to confirm or deny Wright's information. "We do brief Congress, but wouldn't discuss that publicly," she said.

Wright said he did not know whether a July 10 demonstration at Nandaime, south of Managua, that resulted in some 40 arrests, was a result of the U.S. provocations. The anti-Sandinista Contra rebels are asking for release of those prisoners as a gesture of good faith before resuming high-level peace talks with the government.

David Holliday, a spokesman for the Senate Intelligence Committee, said the committee held two days of hearings the week after the Nandaime unrest and was satisfied that there had been no U.S. government involvement in that particular protest.

Managua expelled the U.S. ambassador to Nicaragua, Richard Melton, and seven other diplomats on July 11, charging they were engaging in "state terrorism" and were trying to undermine the government.

Undaunted opposition leaders vowed that students, Buddhist monks and striking civil servants would continue to demonstrate for democracy.

Maung Maung's whereabouts remain unknown.

A Western diplomat familiar with Burma said from Bangkok, Thailand, that "We're into possibly one of the final acts now. . . . Either the students win or the army wins."
