Nine near hits at D-FW prove crew confusion

GRAPEVINE (AP) — The near collision Aug. 31 of two Delta Air Lines jets because of pilot confusion about a taxiway was the ninth in a series of similar errors in the last year on a ramp at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, federal records show.

Officials said all nine incidents occurred in the same area and involved Delta jet crews confused about where the aircraft parking ramp outside Delta's terminal ends and a taxiway begins.

"We have two taxiways out there — an inner taxiway and an outer taxiway — and then the runway," the airport's tower manager Norm Scroggins said. "Because there is no grass between the ramp and the inner taxiway, we had several pilots who believed the runway was the outer taxiway."

In recent weeks Delta and airport officials painted thick black stripes outlined with yellow paint to mark the inner taxiway. They also identified the taxiway with 10-foot letters and solar-powered strobe lights.

Procedures for directing Delta flights to the runways have also changed, officials say, so planes avoid Taxiway 29, which leads directly from the ramp area to Runway 17L, the first of two parallel runways on the airport's east side.

Delta spokesman Jackie Pate told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram the airline has hand-delivered notices to all of its pilots alerting them about the taxiway.

The first problem occurred in October 1987 after the airport covered the grass islands between the parking apron and the inner taxiway with concrete.

"A lot of pilots use the grass to guide them," Richard Petit, the airport's senior director of planning and engineering, said. "Problem was, there were a bunch more who cut the corners short and their landing gear went into the grass."

Bush's lead strong but not unbeatable

DALLAS (AP) — Republican presidential nominee George Bush holds a "strong but not unbeatable" lead over Michael Dukakis in Texas, while Lloyd Bentsen has a commanding 25-point lead over his challenger in the Senate race, according to a poll for two newspapers.

The GOP ticket of Bush and Dan Quayle was favored by 52 percent of the likely Texas voters surveyed, while the Democratic duo of Dukakis and Bentsen was favored by 42 percent.

Bentsen, who also is seeking a fourth term in the U.S. Senate, was the choice of 58 percent of those surveyed, while Beau Boulter, a Republican congressman from Amarillo, was favored by 33 percent. Nine percent were undecided.

"The Democrats aren't out of it in Texas, but they've got a tough row to hoe," pollster Richard Murray said about the presidential poll results. "They've got to get some breaks."

The presidential poll — which had a margin of error of plus or minus four percentage points — also indicates that Bentsen is the most popular of the four candidates on the presidential tickets and that his presence is keeping Dukakis in the race.

Fifty-six percent of voters surveyed picked Bush when asked who they would support if the running mates — Bentsen and Indiana Sen. Quayle — were not on the ballot. Dukakis was the choice of 40 percent.

"Certainly, Bentsen is a great help here. Without him, it would be a rout. It would be Mondale-Reagan again," said Murray, referring to President Ronald Reagan's defeat of Walter Mondale in 1984.

The most recent incident occurred at 6:30 a.m. Aug. 31, less than three hours before the crash of Delta 1141, when the pilot of Delta Flight 297 mistakenly turned left onto a runway and into the path of a plane that was cleared for take-off, according to Federal Aviation Administration records.

Airport officials, as well as Delta and FAA officials stepped up their efforts to correct the problem after the Flight 297 incident, involving a McDonnell Douglas MD-80 bound for Cincinnati, and Delta Flight 638, a McDonnell Douglas DC-9 bound for Houston.

Scroggins said it was the only time two planes reached the runway at the same time.

"It was pretty scary," Scroggins said. "That could have easily been a terrible accident."

A tower controller spotted Flight 297 on the runway just after the plane turned onto it, records indicate.

A recording of conversations between the tower and the two planes indicate that one controller told Flight 297 to halt while another instructed Flight 638 to abort takeoff.

An FAA investigative report indicates Flight 638 came to a stop a few yards from Flight 297.

"It was a relatively low-speed abort, but the pilot decided to let his brakes cool for about 10 minutes before heading back up the runway," Scroggins said.

Hours after the runway incident, Delta Flight 1141, bound for Salt Lake City, crashed just after takeoff on the west side of the airport. Fourteen people died from the crash, which is still under investigation.
