Sheriff seeks information about assault

The Brazos County Sheriff's Department and Crime Stoppers are looking for any information regarding a recent sexual assault. The suspect is described as a 25-year-old white male, 5-foot-7, 145 pounds, with shoulder length blond hair.

The suspect was last seen wearing a red or blue flannel shirt and blue jeans, driving an older model green Ford truck with standard transmission.

A brown baseball cap with "A Bad Day on the River is Better Than a Good Day at Work" printed on the front was found at the site of the incident.

The incident occurred Saturday, Nov. 11 at 12:30 a.m. The victim, a 24-year-old white female, was forced off Highway 30 approximately three-quarters of a mile from Bird Pond Road.

The suspect then forced her, at knife point, to drive his truck about half a mile east on Highway 30. He then forced her from the truck, across a barbed wire fence and into a pasture where he sexually assaulted her.

The suspect was last seen fleeing east on Highway 30 in his truck.

This week the Brazos County Sheriff's Department and Crime Stoppers need your assistance in identifying the person responsible for this aggravated sexual assault.

If you have any information regarding this assault, please call Crime Stoppers at 775-TIPS.

You will be assigned a special coded number to protect your identity.

If your call leads to an arrest and a grand jury indictment, Crime Stoppers will pay you up to $1,000.

Crime Stoppers also pays cash for any information regarding a felony crime or the location of a fugitive.

Bakker, aides indicted for fraud, tax evasion

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — PTL founder Jim Bakker, forced to quit his multimillion-dollar television ministry after admitting a sexual encounter with a church secretary, was indicted Monday along with three former aides on charges of fraud and tax evasion.

A federal grand jury charged Bakker, 48, and former aide Richard Dortch, 57, in a 24-count indictment with mail fraud, wire fraud and conspiring to defraud the public through the sale of lifetime partnerships in the ministry's Heritage Village theme park in Fort Mill, S.C., south of Charlotte.

If convicted, they could face up to five years in prison and $250,000 fines on each count.

Bakker's wife, Tammy, also a target of the grand jury, was not indicted.

"There is no statement he made right now," said a man who wouldn't give his name at Jim and Tammy Ministries, the Bakkers' organization, in Pineville, N.C.

A second, 11-count indictment charged David Taggart and his brother, James, with tax evasion and conspiracy to impede the Internal Revenue Service in the collection of taxes.

David Taggart is former PTL president and special assistant to Bakker; James is a former interior designer for PTL.

U.S. Attorney Thomas Ashcroft declined to comment or say whether other indictments were possible.

"There has already been much publicity on this already and we don't want any more," he said.

The defendants were ordered to appear in federal court Dec. 15.
