Let there be lights!

Cars wind through "Santa's Lane," part of the Christmas light display at Central Park in College Station. The annual event, known as Christmas in the Park, is free and open to the public. Officials with the City of College Station Recreation and Parks Department said there are more displays this year than in the past, including over 50,000 lights. This year's Central Park display will be lit from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. every evening through the end of December. See related story page 6.
