Lady Aggies look to regroup in Waco

By Stan Golaboff
SPORTS WRITER

The Texas A&M Lady Aggies will try to rebound from a loss to the University of Texas when they take on Baylor tonight in the Ferrell Center in Waco. Tipoff is scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

This will be A&M's first game in the Ferrell Center and their second game of the year against Baylor.

Lady Ags at Baylor

- What: Texas A&M's Lady Aggies (14-7; 6-4 in the SWC) visit Baylor (3-17; 1-9) in SWC women's basketball.
- When: Tipoff is at 5:30 p.m.
- Where: Ferrell Center in Waco.
- Radio/TV: The game can be heard on WTAW-AM 1150 with Chuck Clements calling the action.

A&M, 14-7 on the year and 6-4 in SWC, beat Baylor earlier this year 94-47 in College Station.

A&M was led by Dena Russo who had a season high 19 points. Donna Roper had 12 and LaTanya Irving had 10. Twelve of the 15 Lady Aggies scored in the game. A&M has won the last three outings against Baylor.

home run by ninth place hitter David Gruber, costing freshman left-hander Ronnie Allen his bid for a shutout. Allen completed the game and recorded his first collegiate win as well as the Aggies' first complete game of the season.

Allen, from Kirkland, Wash., gave up four hits and did not walk a batter.

Aggie Baseball

- Record: 5 wins, 0 losses.
- Ranking: Eighth.
- Next Game: Friday v. Northeast Louisiana.

"I felt good today and I was able to keep the ball low in the zone," Allen said. "Getting this first game under my belt will take a little pressure off of me."

A&M rounded out the scoring in the top of the seventh, as Thompson walked with one out in the inning and stole second. After a fly out to left by Taylor, Thompson stole third and Knoblauch walked. Byington ended his 2-for-3 day in fine style as Rollie White Coliseum over the semester break as three Aggies scored in double figures led by Doug Dennis' 17 points.

The Ags are coming off a week of inactivity after blowing out SMU, 24 points in College Station. Allen has shown marked improvement over their last three games. Metcalf attributes the surge to the Aggie work in practice.

"The players have continued to work hard and they didn't give up," Metcalf said. "We've played pretty well the past few games. The energy goes to the players for hanging in there and battling. I think they're getting their confidence back."

A&M has been warming up the shooting. Against TCU they shot 54.9 percent from the field and 62.9 percent against SMU. The season average is 50.4 percent.

A&M set a school record for three-point shots against the Bears, hitting nine of 15 beyond the line, finishing at 62.5 percent. In their previous games the Aggies had 10 buckets from three-point land.

the next batter, hitting a three-run homer over the left field wall. The home run was his first of the season and ended the game scoring at 6-1.

In game two, first baseman Mark Easley led off the second inning with a walk and was moved to second on Duke sacrifice bunt. Junior Dacus scored Easley on a two-single to left to put the Aggies on board on their way to a 2-0 victory.

A lead-off walk by Taylor in the third got the offense moving again. Knoblauch reached first on an error and a long fly to center field. Byington allowed the runners to advance to second and third. Taylor scored on a sacrifice fly by Allen to end the scoring for A&M.

Senior Keith Langston worked the first five innings, allowing only hit, walking two and striking out four. Langston's record now stands at 1-0.

Senior reliever Scott Centeno worked the final two innings, allowing one hit and striking out five the seven batters he faced en route to recording his second save of the year.

A&M Head Coach Mark Johnson was satisfied with the pitching performance turned in.
