A&M trap & skeet team to sponsor shoot

Trap & Skeet Team at Texas A&M has taken five championships in eight years of competition at the Association of Collegiate Unions International competition.

Bunker Hill, president of the team says there's no secret to their success except the wealth of talent in the sport at A&M.

"Last year we came away from nationals as reserve champion," Hill said. "We were a little disappointed because we were so close.

But we're going to be better prepared this time — and we're going to be No. 1."

The Trap & Skeet Club, from which the team is made up, is sponsoring a shoot at the Brazos Valley Gun Club Feb. 26. Club Vice President Jeremy McCormick hopes the event will draw some interest to the club.

Club members say the real purpose of the Trap & Skeet Club is to promote fellowship in the sport.

Hunt, Jarrell lead target archers in Aggie Inv.

The Texas A&M Target Archers shot to high scores and personal records at last weekend's Aggie Indoor Competition.

Archers from A&M, the University of Texas and the University of Houston participated. No team scores were kept.

Sherrill Jarrell shot to first place in the collegiate women's competition with a score of 525. Teammate Joy Dutton was right behind with a score of 518 to nab second. Dutton set a personal record in a single shoot with a score of 265.

Cindy Speroni placed third with a score of 496 and a personal record of 267 in a single shoot.

The men were led by Sean Hunt and Eric Brumlow. Hunt captured second place with a score of 542 as he edged out Brumlow's 541 point total.

The Target Archers' next tournament will be Feb. 25 and 26 as they host the Indoor Nationals and Southern Regionals at 10 a.m. in room 303 of the Read Building.

Hogs can take big lead with win over Aggies

DALLAS (AP) — If the Arkansas Razorbacks can defeat the Texas Aggies in College Station on Saturday afternoon, then you can all but hand the regular season trophy to coach Nolan Richardson's talented team.

Arkansas' 81-68 victory over Southern Methodist coupled with Houston's upset victory over Texas on Wednesday night all but put the Hogs in SWC championship heaven.

Arkansas is 10-2 while second-place Texas is 9-3. However, the Hogs actually hold a two-game lead over the Longhorns because they've beaten them twice.

By virtue of the double victories over Texas, the Razorbacks would earn the top seed in the post-season tournament in Dallas.

"We can't let down now," Richardson said after the victory. "We're close but we can't let down."

Richardson is still wary because four of the Razorbacks' five losses this year have been on the road.

If Arkansas beats the Aggies, they would only have one tough game left and that would be against Houston at home.

Arkansas hosts Baylor on Wednesday night, Feb. 22, and takes a respite from the conference wars with a non-conference game against Tulsa on Feb. 25.

Then Arkansas is at Rice on Wednesday, March 1, and finishes out the season in Barnhill Arena in Fayetteville March 5 against Houston in a 1 p.m. regionally televised (Raycom) game.

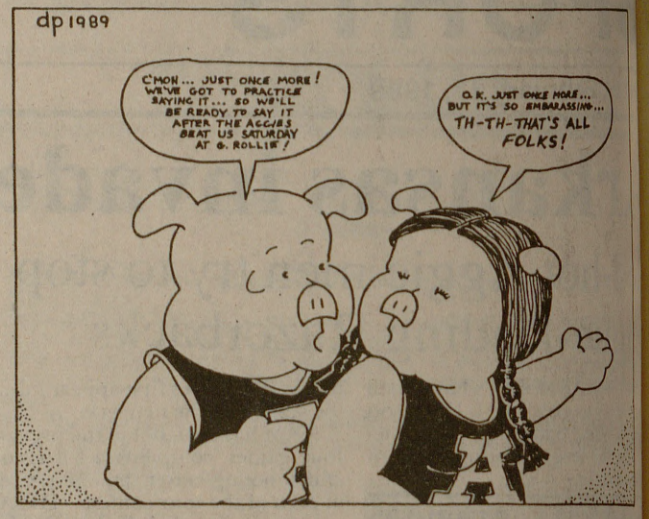

"We can't think about what's ahead," Richardson said. "We've got to concentrate on A&M. Shelby Me-calf has them coming on strong, particularly at home."

Arkansas' tough fullcourt press rattled SMU into 16 turnovers on Wednesday night.

"They just get on top of you and don't let up," said SMU coach John Shumate.

Arkansas favored to win SWC indoor

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks seek a record ninth consecutive indoor Southwest Conference track championship beginning today and there doesn't appear anybody around who can stop them.

While the Razorbacks have dominated the men's competition for almost a decade, the Lady Longhorns of Texas are favored to repeat as champions again in their division.

Arkansas coach John McDonnell said the Hogs will be tough as always in the distance runs.

"Our bread and butter is in the distance races," McDonnell said. "That's where we are the strongest."

Baylor coach Clyde Hart said Arkansas isn't as strong as usual.

"They just aren't as tough across the board as they have been," Hart said.

McDonnell admitted "we don't have anyone in the hurdles."

Arkansas' top competitor is Falcon, the NCAA champion in mile and 3,000 run.

For the Lady Longhorns, Gina Guidry is a triple threat in the 200, and triple jump.

Another spotlight performer is Olympian and NCAA champion Raymond Stewart of Texas Tech in the 55 dash.

The only returning men's champions are Falcon in the mile, 3000, Lorenzon Brown of Arizona in the 800, Devon Dixon of Tech in the triple jump, and LeBurrill of Houston in the 55 dash.

The meet begins at 4 p.m. with finals and prelims and wraps around 9 p.m.

The meet resumes at noon on Sunday and runs until about 7 p.m. at the Tarrant County Convention Center.
