Ags smash Horns 106-89 Suber's 27 keys rout

By Tom Kehoe

SPORTS WRITER

The hot just get hotter. Led by Lynn Suber's career high 27 points, Texas A&M blew out Texas 106-89 before a sellout crowd at G. Rollie White Coliseum. Suber came off the bench and had 24 of his points in the second half.

The victory brought the Aggies to an even 8-8 in the Southwest Conference and 15-13 for the season. It also gave coach Shelby Metcalf his 23rd winning season.

Texas dropped to a half game behind Arkansas for the conference title.

Although A&M hit the century mark for the second time this season, Metcalf felt the key to the game was his team's defensive effort.

"We played very good defense," Metcalf said.

Indeed they did. Conference scoring leader Travis Mays missed on all five of his field goal attempts in the first half. He ended with 21 points, most of which came after A&M had an insurmountable lead. Texas forward Alvin Heggs was held to only six points on 16 attempts for the game. He could only manage four points from the field in the second half.

Guard David Williams said that Heggs' poor performance could be attributed to more than poor shooting mechanics.

"I think it was intimidation mostly," Williams said.

The Longhorns shot 43.7 percent for the game and a poor 31.4 percent in the first half.

Texas' poor performance was contrasted by A&M.

In addition to Suber, four other Aggies hit for double figures. Donald Thompson had 22 points, 18 in the first half. Thompson appeared to be on his way to a career-high night but he picked up his fourth foul with 15:18 remaining in the game and was relegated to the bench.

Guard Tony Milton had 18 points before picking up his fifth foul with 24 seconds to go. Freddie Ricks had 15 points and David Williams contributed 12.

The Texas A&M women's basketball team lost to the University of Texas 78-70 Saturday in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

Texas forward Clarissa Davis commented before the game that she thought the first meeting of the two teams in Austin last month was boring. A&M used that comment and some good teamwork to almost beat Texas for the first time in 11 years.

"I was a little insulted by Clarissa's comment and we didn't want her to be bored," A&M Head Coach Lynn Hickey said.

"I was definitely not bored," Davis said. "I think it was a very exciting game."

The game was a closely fought match with the biggest lead by either team being eight points.

"I thought it was a great game for both teams," Texas Head Coach Jody Conradt said. "It helped showcase women's basketball and the SWC."

Despite losing, A&M was in relative high spirits after the game.

"The best thing to come out of the game would have been to win," Hickey said. "But we were able to show our players and Texas that we are just as good as them."

"We wanted to win," A&M senior Donna Roper said. "But if we lost, we didn't want to lose by 20. We are disappointed we didn't win, but we are happy about the way we played."

A&M (16-11 overall and 8-8 in SWC) took the lead early and led until 13 minutes left in the first half. A&M led 8-2 after three minutes before being outscored 12-6 over the next four minutes.

Texas (23-4 overall and 16-0 in SWC) used a 7-2 run to take a seven point lead with 10 minutes left. Then the 2,591 fans got involved in the game.

"You have to give the Aggies credit," Conradt said. "If there is one thing they know how to do, it's yell."

With the crowd yelling, A&M went on a 12-5 run to tie the score at 26.

Texas had brought eight busloads of fans from Austin, but the Aggies out-yelled them.

"I'm glad I could look up and see some orange in the stands," Conradt said. "Because from the sound of things, I didn't think we had anyone cheering for us," Conradt said.

"The crowd was definitely a factor in the game, and it really helped us get going," Hickey said.

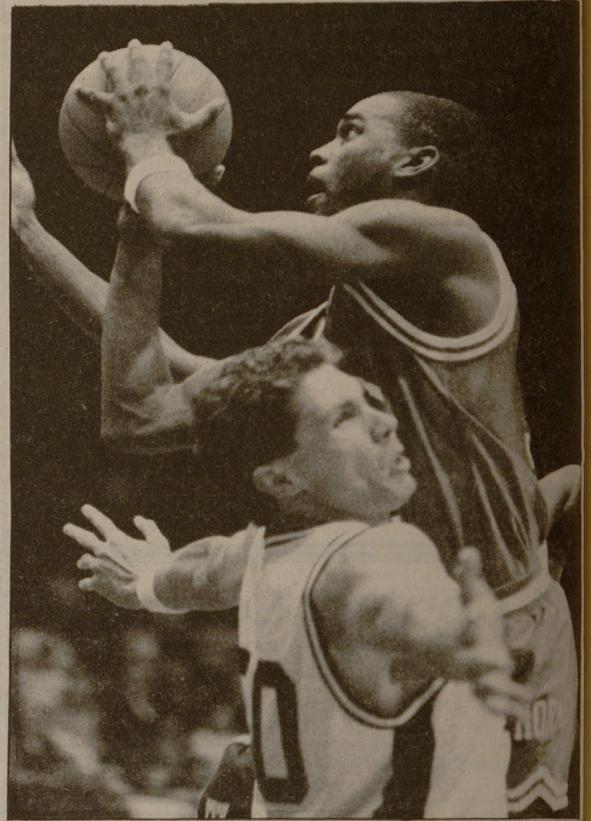

During the 12-5 run, freshman LaTanya Irving had six of her 14 points and sophomore Louise Madison had 4 points.

Tied at 26, both teams went to their All-Americans. Roper scored six of A&M's last eight points of the half and Davis scored seven of Texas' last 11 points. Roper had 12 points at halftime and Davis had 18.

Texas led at halftime 37-34.

A&M picked up the pace in the second half and regained the lead (38-37) with two minutes gone. UT regained the lead and was leading 45-42 with 13 minutes left, when Hickey went to her bench for some instant offense.

Hickey sent in sophomore Wendy Jennings, who promptly threw up two straight three pointers and A&M went on an 8-2 run to reclaim the lead at 50-47.

Texas guard Lance Blanks charges into Aggie forward Doug Dennis during the first half of A&M's 106-87 win over Texas Saturday night at G. Rollie White Coliseum.

A&M shot 50.6 percent for the game and controlled the boards, outrebounding Texas 53-43 for the game.

The game opened with A&M controlling the tip. Thompson fouled Heggs, who sunk one free throw to give Texas their only lead of the game 1-0. The teams traded scores until Ricks banked in a ten-footer and Texas' Winn Shepard got a follow tip that brought the score to 10-7 before the first television timeout.

After the timeout Milton scored on three drives but the Horns' Lance Blanks had a tip-in and a three-point play to keep Texas close, 20-16.

After two more TV timeouts the Aggies put together a 13-2 run that put them up at the half by a 49-30 margin.

In the second half the teams traded buckets as Texas tried in vain to reduce the Aggies' lead. It wasn't until 9:11 remaining that A&M again hit a spurt, outscoring Texas 10-0 at one point, that gave them their biggest lead 82-51. Suber caught fire hitting five consecutive free throws in the stretch including a technical foul called on Shepard.

Texas responded with two straight baskets before Suber took over from the field canning three consecutive field goals including a 25-foot three-pointer.

With 3:26 to go and A&M up 99-75, Texas called the first of two timeouts that signaled Coach Tom Penders had not yet given up.

After the timeout the Horns switched to a furious press, hoping to force turnovers that could spark a rally. But the A&M backcourt passed over and weaved through the press and Texas was forced to foul and hope the Aggies couldn't hit from the line.

However, A&M did hit their free throws down the stretch and the clock wound down to a 106-89 Aggie win.

"I knew after I hit the first one I be ready for Donna to pass me the ball and I just put them up," Jennings said.

A&M kept the lead until six and a half minutes left in the game. UT used two three pointers by Lyssa McBride to tie the game and retook the lead when Susan Anderson hit two free throws to make it 61-59.

A&M was able to tie the game at 68 with three minutes left, but Anderson helped fuel a 10-2 run to tie the win, 78-70. Anderson scored eight of the last 10 Texas points.

Texas' run was fueled by missed free throws by Lisa Jordan and Irving and a steal by McBride late in the game.

"It took me the whole game to figure out where A&M was passing the ball," McBride said. "But I was able to get to the ball before they were."

"I should have made those first throws at the end," Jordan said. "I probably shoot 100 tomorrow. It was just a breakdown in concentration."

Despite the breakdown, Hickey was pleased with her team's concentration.

"Overall I was happy with their effort," Hickey said. "We showed people we can play with Texas. For 39 minutes and 30 seconds, I thought we were going to win, which is improvement over the normal 10 minutes you think you can beat Texas."

Leading scorers in the game were Davis with 32 for Texas and Roper with 24 for A&M.

Anderson had 12 points and both Amy Claborn and McBride had 10 for Texas. A&M got 14 from Irving and 10 from Jordan.

The game marked the end of the regular season for both teams, with Texas finishing as SWC champion and A&M finishing fifth.

A&M's next game will be against Houston on Wednesday in the first round of the SWC Tournament in Dallas. The winner plays Texas Thursday.
