FROM STAFF & WIRE REPORTS

The Texas A&M men's tennis team recovered from a Saturday loss to Arkansas and beat Southern Methodist 5-4 Monday to increase their record to 9-12 overall and 2-4 in the Southwest Conference.

A&M's No. 5 man freshman Doug Brown continued to win by defeating SMU's Rich Harris 6-2, 6-1 and teamed with Blake Barsalou, also a freshman, for a 6-2, 6-2 doubles victory over SMU's Page Buck and Harris.

Brown figured in two of the three match victories for A&M against Arkansas, winning his singles and doubles matches.

"The key today was to keep the ball in play and frustrate my opponent," Brown said. "I'm a freshman and I don't feel any pressure. I'm having fun playing tennis and trying to help out the team."

Matt Zisette and Barsalou also posted singles victories for the Aggies. No. 3 Zisette defeated SMU's Scott Robertson 6-4, 6-4 while Barsalou overcame a first-set loss to Mustang Jamie Malakoff for a 3-6, 7-6, 6-1 win.

A&M Coach David Kent said he was pleased with the performance of Brown and Barsalou.

"I need to brag on my two freshmen," he said. "Doug Brown is unbelievable and Blake came through for us in the clutch. Doug told me the other day that losing never enters his mind when he's on the court."

No. 4 Aggie Craig Whitteker and No. 2 Gustavo Espinosa, playing in the No. 2 doubles slot, gave A&M its fifth victory, winning a 6-2, 6-1 decision over SMU's Steve Beauchamp and Mark Kudelko.

In the No. 1 position, SMU's Brian Devening defeated A&M's Shaun O'Donovan 7-5, 6-1. Espinosa lost 3-6, 7-5, 6-3 to SMU's No. 2 seed, Kudelko, in a hard-fought match.

SMU also won the No. 4 singles seed and the No. 1 doubles match.

Page Buck defeated A&M's Whitteker 6-3, 6-4 for the singles win and Devening and Robertson combined for a 7-5, 6-1 win over Zisette and O'Donovan for SMU's only doubles win. Kent said the victory was a quality win.

"This is a huge victory for us," he said. "Especially since SMU just beat Texas. It gives us some momentum going into the conference tournament."

A&M travels to Fort Worth this weekend for the SWC tournament Friday through Sunday at the Mary Potish-Lard Tennis Center on the Texas Christian campus.

tive performances in the Texas series.

Junior third baseman John Byington was one of five players to earn National Player of the Week honors. He knocked in a series-high 10 runs on six hits, including a double and three home runs against Texas.

Byington hit homers in the ninth inning of each game. The homers in the second and third games were both on the first pitch of a new pitcher.

Senior center fielder Kirk Thompson reached base eleven consecutive times, spanning from a single in his last at-bat in the first game of the series to a double in his fourth at bat in the finale.

The stretch includes reaching base all six times at the plate in the second game.

Senior pitcher Keith Langston struck out nine hitters in the final game of the series for his all-time best total for the Aggies.

A&M plays their last non-conference games of the regular season tonight in a doubleheader against Stephen F. Austin. The Lumberjacks hold a 9-31 record for the season.

Action begins at 5:30 at Olsen Field. It is Little League Night and anyone 12-years-old or younger will get in free. Little Leaguers don't have to wear their uniforms.

The yearly Little League Clinic will be between games and children wanting to participate should bring a glove.
