Promiscuous playboy marries his 'playmate'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hugh Hefner is taking a bride this weekend, ending the hedonistic fantasy he nourished through Playboy magazine and as pajama-clad lord of the Playboy Mansion and its flocks of world-class women.

The 63-year-old founder of Playboy magazine and 1988 Playmate of the Year Kimberley Conrad, 26, will recite wedding vows Saturday afternoon at the Playboy Mansion in exclusive Holmby Hills. Some 450 guests will then party the night away.

The formal ceremony will be elaborate yet traditional, planners say. In keeping with southern California standards, ushers are required to have tans.

And Miss Conrad, a former Playboy bunny later picked as last year's Playmate, already has evicted the bevy of cotton-tailed beauties from the 5.3-acre estate.

"It was the kind of thing I felt quite certain would never happen in my life," Hefner said of the wedding, adding: "I guess I've changed."

Hefner was married once before, for 10 years to Millie Williams, and they had two children — Christie, 36, and David, 34.

Christie Hefner is now chairman and chief executive officer of Playboy Enterprises Inc., the empire Hefner started in 1953, about 10 years before his bride was born.

Hefner was tamed in part by a mild stroke in 1986. He stopped smoking his pipe and switched to caffeine-free Diet Pepsi, but he still wears his trademark purple silk pajamas day and night.

Actor Bob Saget really a Cunningham at heart

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When the cameras are turned off on the set of ABC's "Full House," Bob Saget and the other actors sometimes pretend they're doing other shows.

"We kid that I'm Richie Cunningham and we're doing 'Happy Days,'" says Saget. "David Coulter is Ralph and Poisie and John Stamos is the Fonz. Or we kid that we're doing 'Charlie's Angels.' John is Jaclyn Smith, David is Farrah Fawcett and I'm Kate Jackson. It's just a way to have fun."

"Full House" is about six people living in one house and loving each other. The three guys and my three daughters," Saget says. "We really do care for each other. Usually people in a show love each other because they get paid."

Saget stars as Danny, a San Francisco TV talk show host and widower with three daughters who asks his brother-in-law and a friend to move in and help him run the household. Stamos is Uncle Jesse, a former musician who now writes advertising jingles. Coulter is Joey, a stand-up comedian. Together, they all fill the house with laughs.

The daughters are Candace Cameron, Jodie Sweetin and twins Mary Kate and Ashley Fuller Olsen (as baby Michelle).

"It took about 13 weeks for me and the writers to figure out who Danny is," Saget says. "I knew I wanted him to be neat and I knew I wanted him to hug a lot. Those were the external things."

"The internal thing is that there's an undercurrent of sadness because his wife died in an automobile accident only a year before. He really does need all this love in his life. The thing I like about him is that, like Richie Cunningham, he's really a nice guy."

Galveston Island site of reggae festival

On Monday, Galveston's historical Strand district will be the party site. The "Yaga Ragz" Strand Street Dance" will begin at 6 p.m. at 22nd St. and The Strand.
