Bench, Yaz inducted into Hall of Fame had COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. — Johnny Bench and Carl astrzemski turned their golden years into bronze rell plaques on Sunday as the newest members of the lall of Fame.

Bench and Yastrzemski, along with Veterans ommittee selections Red Schoendienst and umpire hetill Barlick, were officially inducted in picture steps of the Hall of Fame library. Barlick, were officially inducted in ceremonies on rden Together, Bench and Yastrzemski combined for 17 en pold Gloves and many more golden moments. Ing TYou can't imagine what an honor this is," Bench ald. "I had no idea the Hall of Fame was waiting for base. That was a place for fantasy — for the Cytiege oungs, Babe Ruths and Lou Gehrigs."

ey, Thousands of fans began arriving on Friday and ated ammed the tiny town, the mythical birthplace of all to asseball and the home of the Hall. Officials said it Thousands of fans began arriving on Friday and s a record crowd, estimated at more than 20,000.

Yastrzemski reserved an entire motel for his friends and family and Bench's fans made their star trek from Ohio in a caravan of buses.

I was not blessed with great God-given talents, so had to work twice as hard," Yastrzemski said. Everyday I put on the Red Sox uniform, I gave 100 percent of myself."

Some Cincinnati fans stopped in Montreal to see Pete Rose and his reeling Reds. But not even Rose's problems could spoil this weekend. Commissioner A. Barlett Giamatti, who may have to escape that controversy for a few hours while he shook hands and laughed with Hall of Famers just talking baseball. He was the only one booed. Stars like Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Bob Feller, Ralph Kiner, Warren Spahn, Ernie Banks, Willie McCovey and Billy Williams arrived back at Cooperstown to welcome the newest members of their club and celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Hall to decide if Rose gambled on baseball, got a chance
