Steel

import 10.5 million tons of steel for the project. The letter also stated the construction company has imported South African steel for other highway projects in Texas and North Carolina.

James D. Pitcock, president of Williams Brothers, said the company received approval from the U.S. Customs Service to import the South African steel and delays will cost money and slow the project.

Pitcock also said in his letter that the company previously has imported steel from South Africa for other highway projects since the passage of the anti-apartheid act.
