Cougars ready to set even bigger records

'Run 'n Shoot' could get 1,000 yard-game, Houston coach says

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Cougars are starting to talk about 1,000 yards of offense in a single game and post-season honors for quarterback Andre Ware.

They made a good argument on both counts Saturday night in a record-smashing 36-7 victory over Arizona State.

The Cougars set one NCAA record and broke eight Southwest Conference marks with Ware pulling the trigger on the run-and-shoot offense.

Ware completed 40 of 68 passes for an SWC record 497 yards and two touchdowns, breaking his own record of 471 set against Rice last year.

The Cougars threw an NCAA record 78 passes, breaking Southern Methodist's record of 76 passes against Ohio State in 1968.

Offensive coordinator John Jenkins can envision a 1,000-yard game.

"With this offense, it's possible," Jenkins said. "Just look at the number of times we misfired. This offense is a runaway wild train."

Houston lost two fumbles and had four passes intercepted.

The Cougars were penalized 23 times for 236 yards against the Sun Devils, setting Southwest Conference records in both categories and narrowly missing NCAA marks.

Ware didn't allow the miscues to slow down the prolific run-and-shoot offense.

He established league records of 482 total yards, most completions in a game and Chuck Weatherspoon set conference marks with 158 yards in punt returns.

Houston's 744 total yards and 626 passing yards are league records along with the penalties and penalty yards.

The scary aspect for winless Temple, which plays Houston in the Astrodome Saturday, is that the Cougar offense wasn't really sharp.

"We made a lot of mistakes," Ware said. "Take away the mistakes and there's no telling what kind of stats we could have put up."

The Cougars beat Nevada-Las Vegas 69-0 in their season opener and then had 21 days off before playing the Sun Devils.

"It was like we had the first-game jitters all over again," Coach Jack Pardee said. "It was like a season opener. We made a lot of mistakes. We can't be playing giveaway football in that game."

Houston had 971 yards of all-purpose against Arizona State, including rushing, passing and kicking turns.

"There's no doubt we had a great night passing," Pardee said. "I really threw the ball well. He's eager to play and is such a competitor that he did make some mistakes but I can't criticize him."

"He just tried to force a couple throws."

On Saturday, Houston will play Temple, Temple, 0-4, is coached by former Rice coach Jerry Breen. The Owls haven't scored a touchdown in their last three games.

Yogi says it's over, resigns from Astros

HOUSTON (AP)—Yogi Berra, who coined the phrase "it ain't over 'til it's over," announced Monday that it's over as far as his 42-year on-field career is considered.

Berra, 64, resigned as the Houston Astros hitting instructor and will accept a job as Astros baseball adviser.

"I felt in spring training that this might be it," Berra said. "I figured after 42 years it was time to try something else."

Berra, a close friend of Astros owner John McMullen, came to the Astros in 1986 as a member of Hal Lanier's staff, helping the Astros to the National League Western Division title.

Now the Hall of Famer will spend more time at home and continue working with the Astros in scouting and spring training.

"I've got seven grandkids and I want to see more of them," Berra said. "I want a chance to travel a little bit before I die. If we want to take a trip to Europe, we might just do it."

Berra served as bench coach under Lanier for three years and in 1989 became hitting coach under first year manager Art Howe.

The Astros also announced that pitching coach Les Moss would not return next season and had been offered a position in the minor leagues.

Berra has appeared in 21 World Series, 14 as a player and he was one of only five managers to represent both leagues in the World Series.

"I couldn't ask for anything else from my career," Berra said. "This had nothing to do with anything that happened during the season. I had said I'd take it one year at a time."

Howe said he'd miss Berra's assistance.

"I don't know what it's going to be like without Yogi," Howe said.

American captain Floyd thinks Ryder Cup format must be changed

SUTTON COLDFIELD, England (AP)—Some changes might be in order in the Ryder Cup format, American captain Ray Floyd suggested.

And some changes will be made, at least on the European team.

Tony Jacklin, the most successful captain Europe has had, has resigned.

"I've had a wonderful run," the former U.S. and British Open champion said Sunday after his team had retained the Cup with a 14-14 tie against the United States.

"I've enjoyed it. I can't tell you what it's meant to me to lead these guys four times," Jacklin said at the Ryder Cup closing ceremonies at the Belfry Golf Center.

"But now it's time for me to move on and for someone else to take over."

That someone, Spanish star Seve Ballesteros said, should be Bernard Gallagher, eight times a member of the European team during the long period America dominated the biennial matches.

Gallagher, now a British club pro, served as Jacklin's assistant for the last two matches.

"I'd like to see Bernard take it," Ballesteros said. "He's the closest to the players. He has my vote."

Jacklin took over as captain for the 1983 matches at PGA National in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. and came within one point, 14½-13½, of halting a long United States winning string.

Jacklin's team broke through at the Belfry two years later, scoring a 16½-11½ upset victory and taking the Cup from the United States for the first time in 25 years.

That triumph was perceived by the British press as a signal that world golf leadership had moved from America to Europe and ushered in a period of unprecedented growth in European golf. In the four years since then, prize money on the European Tour has quadrupled.

Another Ryder Cup victory at Muirfield Village in Dublin, Ohio, in 1987 made Jacklin the only European captain to win on American soil.

And the tie Sunday gave him a 2-1-1 record in the matches in which the United States still holds a 21-5 lead.

"Tony has been fantastic," Ballesteros said. "The captain we've had."

Floyd also said he would not be back for the next matches at Kiawah Island, S.C. in 1991.

"What have I learned?" Floyd said, repeating a question. "I've learned not to say 'yes' if they ask me again."

Floyd also suggested consideration should be given to alterations in the Ryder Cup format.

"It would be marvelous to have a tournament where every player played every day," he said.

Under the current format, the first two days' play broken up into morning and afternoon sessions with four two-man teams — eight of the 12 players — competing in each session.

"To have one-third of your team sitting out two-thirds of the matches is a waste of world-class players like these," he said.

lost on Tech Coach Spike Dykes.

"Being 3-0 doesn't mean very much," Dykes said Monday. "It means you have an early lead, and it makes the other teams try that much harder to get it back. So we're in a position that if we're not careful, we'll be vulnerable."

In Waco, Baylor coach Grant Teaff said he is concerned by Tech's "confidence and momentum."

Were it not for Tech's defense, the Raiders easily could be 1-2 and would look a lot more vulnerable. The Raider offense lost four turnovers in five possessions in the second and third quarters against Oklahoma State, but the Cowboys

Tech, Baylor start SWC seasons

LUBBOCK (AP)—The old physical puzzle of what happens when an unstoppable force meets an immovable object might be answered Saturday when Texas Tech visits Baylor to begin Southwest Conference football play for both teams.

Baylor's offensive line paved the way for 467 yards total offense in a 46-3 thrashing of Kansas at home last Saturday. And for the second game in a row, Texas Tech engineered a goal-line stand when it beat Oklahoma State, 31-15, in Stillwater.

The Red Raiders have jumped out to a 3-0 record for only the second time since 1977. In 1985, the last time the Raiders were 3-0, they lost 31-0 in Waco, a bit of history not managed only two field goals on those opportunities.

The Red Raider defense prevented touchdowns after New Mexico State got a first down on the Tech yard line Sept. 16 and after Oklahoma State had a first-and-10 from the 4 in the first quarter of the Thursday game.

The Red Raiders limited Oklahoma State to just three field goals in its first five incursions inside Tech's 25-yard line.

"Sevens are much better than threes on the board," Dykes said. "Whatever reason they get down there, if you can hold them to three instead of seven points, something good is happening."
