Soviet legislature kills request to ban strikes

MOSCOW (AP) — President Mikhail S. Gorbachev suffered his first major policy defeat in the 4-month-old Soviet legislature Tuesday when it rejected his call for an emergency ban on workers' newly won right to strike. But Gorbachev told lawmakers he was satisfied with a compromise that imposes a selective ban on strikes in critical industries. He said it would "help restore a normal life." Gorbachev said Monday he wanted a ban on all strikes for the next 15 months to prevent anarchy from overwhelming the shaky Soviet economy. A wave of strikes, largely over ethnic and political conflicts, cost the country $6.5 billion in July and August alone. It was the first time the new Supreme Soviet legislature stood up to the government and opted for its own policy, though it had previously rejected several Cabinet nominees. The legislature's display of independence was particularly significant because it came on a package of emergency measures. The compromise resolution, adopted by a vote of 364-6, prohibits strikes in the transport, energy, raw materials and metallurgy industries, but only until a detailed law defining the right to strike is passed.
