

Tenuta: 'Wear your bondage panties!'

Self-proclaimed petite goddess of comedy visits A&M Friday

Looking to change your religion? You'll have a chance Friday night when Judy Tenuta, the self-proclaimed Petite Flower and love goddess of the '80s comedy scene, brings her trademark accordion and obnoxiously fun brand of humor to Rudder Auditorium.

The show, brought to A&M by MSC Town Hall, will begin at 8 p.m., but anyone interested in converting to "Judy-ism" may begin preparing for the transformation as soon as possible.

"They should repeat all of my catch phrases, such as 'It could happen' and 'I am a pig in bondage for

"Oh yes — the School of Androids and Mutants. My visit should be really nice."

And despite the fact that a recent concert in Houston was open only to fans 21 and older, Tenuta said her show won't be toned down any for the "babes" at A&M.

"What do you mean tone it down? There's nothing to be toned down!" she said. "You pigs need the truth. You get lied to all the time."

And the truth is what we shall receive.

"Basically, what we will be having is some small farm animals. We are going to dress them up in K-mart clothes. I know that's very cruel, but they need to be taught discipline early.

"I'm going to take a sheep and make it wear a wool kilt — to see how they like it. I'm going to take a horse and make it wear some glue. And I'm going to take a cow and make it wear Roseanne — how's that?"

"And I will be walking all over Princess Di and Charles, and it will be lots of fun. And then I will baptize some lovepig from yuppiedom into goddessdom."

But before the goddess comes to A&M, she wanted to pass on some fashion tips to the "petite pseudo-virgins" of A&M.

"For petite pseudo-virgins — you should act like a virginette at all times, but at the same time let everyone know that you will mate with the first Shriner in a Saab.

"And of course, you should always wear tasteful makeup, just like Bette Davis in 'Whatever Happened to Baby Jane.'

"And also, you should be absolutely nude whenever possible, except strap an accordion on and when your lovepig comes in, you should speak in a very soft voice and say, 'Hey, Hog! Where's my sex?!'"

In the interview, Tenuta expanded on topics such as these, and even expanded on others:

Zsa Zsa Gabor:

"You know, if that policeman had come up to me using force and profanity, I would have mounted him and reproduced. Of course I would be turned on — just like she was, only she tried not to be. You know that she was ready to release her eggs!"

Comedienne Judy Tenuta

Roseanne:

"Oh yeah right, I think it's wonderful that now they're giving prime-time shows to manatees. It's really nice. I think if you want to see a cow, go out to a farm. You don't have to turn on a TV."

The President:

"Oh yeah, like that toad almost has a mind. Excuse me, but he's too busy eating pork rinds and fishing for trout."

The Vice-President:

"Oh yeah, like that guy almost exists. He is a hopeless piece of plankton — he's like vegetable matter trying to imitate human life."

Skiing:

"I hate skiing — I think it's just a dangerous sport. It's too many clothes to put on just to get your legs broken, when my cousin Vito can do that for you without getting out of bed."

Favorite comics:

"Imelda Marcos, Desmond T. Jesse Jackson."

Favorite food:

"Sixist pigs in a blanket."

Midnight snacks:

"I just hope that when I'm in Texas I don't have any more nightmares where I dream that I have to talk to the refrigerator because I think it's God. You know — you go to sleep at night and leave the refrigerator door open, then you wake up in the middle of the night and you see a light. You walk toward the light because you think it's the Almighty. And of course, you go to open the freezer box because you're kind of hungry, so you go to get a pizza. And, instead, it's a severed head. Who needs that?"

But despite this fear, Tenuta said she is counting the minutes until her visit to Aggieland.

And one last tip she gave for those going to see her concert: "Wear your bondage panties!"

The cost of college is nothing to cheer about. Fact is, if you figure tuition and living expenses, a Bachelor's Degree can easily set you back more than $10,000. That's the bad news.

The good news is that BANK ONE can help with three popular types of student loans: the Stafford Student Loan, the Supplemental Loan for Students and the Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students.

It's easy to qualify, approval is fast, and these loans are available at simple interest. Your repayment schedule can even be geared to your particular financial situation.

Give us a yell.
