Ikangaa finally wins Marathon

NEW YORK (AP) — Juma Ikangaa, a frustrated second-place finisher in each of his last three marathons, broke the course record in winning the New York City Marathon on Sunday.

Meanwhile, Ingrid Kristiansen of Norway, the fastest women's marathoner in history, ended four years of frustration in winning the women's division but just missed the course record by one second.

A major in the Tanzanian Army, Ikangaa, 32, ran away from the pack before the 14-mile point and was never seriously challenged. He ran the 26-mile, 385-yard race in 2 hours, 8 minutes, 1 second, the 10th-fastest marathon ever.

The previous course record was 2:08:13, by Alberto Salazar in 1981. And in that race, the course was later measured about 100 meters short.

Ken Martin, winner of the Pittsburgh Marathon twice, including this year, finished a surprising second in 2:09:38. It was the fastest American clocking since Salazar in 1983 and made Martin the No. 6 performer in history.

The 1988 Olympic champion, Gelindo Bordin of Italy, was third in 2:08:40.

Moon has big day for Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Warren Moon took the youthful Detroit Silver Stretch offense to school Sunday.

Rookies Rodney Peete and Barry Sanders, just learning the intricacies of the run-and-shoot offense, helped the Lions take a 24-14 third-quarter lead.

Then Moon, master of the Oilers' Red Gun run-and-shoot, took over with touchdown passes of 6 yards to Ernest Givins and 7 to Drew Hill and rallied the Oilers to a 35-31 victory.

Moon also engineered an 18-play, 87-yard drive that consumed 10:29 and scored what proved to be the winning touchdown with 3:15 left on a 2-yard run, giving Houston a 35-24 lead.

Because of Moon, who completed 30 of 38 passes for 345 yards, the Oilers were able to hold off the determined Lions (1-8). Detroit came into the game with 30 turnovers, most in the NFL, but it was the Oilers who lost three fumbles and an interception while Detroit committed two miscues.

"Instead of them turning it over, we turned it over," Oilers coach Jerry Glanville said. "They had a hard time stopping us, and Warren Moon helped us. Because of him we were able to stay in the game."

Detroit took a 17-14 halftime lead and, on the first play of the third quarter, Mike Rozier fumbled at his own 26 and the Lions turned it into a 24-14 lead.

Kevin Brooks first picked up the ball and ran three yards before he, too, fumbled. William White scooped it up and ran 20 more yards for a touchdown.

Sanders, who gained 91 yards on 19 carries, ran 1 yard for a touchdown, Peete hit Robert Clark for a 16-yard touchdown and Eddie Murray kicked a 47-yard field goal for Detroit's halftime lead. Houston scored on 1-yard runs by Lorenzo White and Rozier.

Rozier's third-quarter fumble temporarily foiled the Oilers' half-time plan to seize control of the game.

"Thank gosh that's one over," Glanville said. "Our plan was to come out (in the second half) and get ahead, and then we came back and fumbled for a touchdown and we were really in a hole. It's a credit to the players to not surrender and come back."

Moon went on a hot streak that included 11 straight completions that helped propel the Oilers back into the lead.

"Even though they see the run-and-shoot every day in practice, like their defense does, it's still hard to defend; that's the beauty of it," Moon said. "We have the ability to run the football, which makes it doubly hard to contain."

After Moon's touchdown passes and touchdown run, Sanders ran 14 yards for the final Detroit score with 1:41 left in the game. But Moon had done too much damage.

"We needed to get a better pass rush on Moon," Detroit coach Wayne Fontes said. "Warren Moon had a lot of time to pass. We tried everything on defense, six and seven defensive backs and everything. We were trying to play a chess game with him."

The Lions wasted one last chance following Sanders' touchdown. The Oilers drove to the Detroit 24, where Moon completed a 9-yard pass Curtis Duncan, who fumbled. Terry Taylor picked up the ball and ran 35 yards to midfield.

Houston safety Tracy Eaton then made a leaping interception of Peete's pass on the sideline. Eaton was pushed out of bounds by Clark before he came down and the play, originally ruled an incompleteness, was reversed by the replay official. The Oilers (5-4) then ran out the clock.

"I ran out and the defensive back was in the right place," said Clark, the intended receiver. "The ball hit him in the shoulder pads and bounced up and the safety made a play on it."

Sanders lamented the costly turnovers but looked to the future.

"Turnovers are going to happen, but they're expensive," he said. "When you look at how young our team is, and how new our offense is to us, maybe that has something to do with it."

SWC race muddled after weekend games

AUSTIN (AP) — Just when you think it's safe to try to decipher the Southwest Conference football race, the Texas Tech Red Raiders turn everything topsy turvy again.

The Raiders, who won their first game in Austin in 21 years by beating Texas 24-17 on Saturday, threw the standings into a jumble.

Texas A&M University leads with a 5-1 mark, followed by Arkansas at 4-1, Texas at 3-1, and Texas Tech and Baylor at 3-2. Houston (3-2) isn't eligible to win the title because of NCAA probation.

The Aggies appear to have the best shot. They beat Southern Methodist 63-14 on Saturday and will have two weeks off before they play host to Arkansas the day after Thanksgiving in a nationally televised matchup with the Hogs.

A&M will play host to the Longhorns on Dec. 2 in Kyle Field.

In other games on Saturday, Arkansas downed Rice 38-17, and Houston's Andre Ware threw six touchdown passes and Manny Hazzard caught 19 passes in a 55-10 victory over Texas Christian.

"If you find someone smart enough to figure the race out, I'll put in with them," said Tech coach Spike Dykes. "It's wild and we're still in there."

Tech has defeated three Top 25 teams: Arizona, A&M, and now Texas.

"This team is so crazy they think they can win every game," Dykes said. "There are not many prima donnas or anybody famous on this team, but they are a bunch of good guys. It will be interesting if any bowl reps call this week. You think 6-2 and three wins overationally ranked teams would mean somebody."

In games this week, Baylor at Arkansas in a 3 p.m. national televised (ESPN) game at Fayetteville, Texas Tech hosts TCU 4 p.m., Texas is at Houston in a 4 p.m. clash, and SMU takes on top-ranked Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., a noon (Raycom TV) renewal of their old rivalry.

A&M coach R.C. Slocum is mired about not playing a game the next two weeks.

"I think there are some big, legitimate concerns with so much time between games," he said. "We've got some people healthy but wanted to be able to maintain tempo of the passing game."

Slocum added "the conference championship is within our control. The Aggies have won 19 straight conference games at Kyle Field. Houston became the SWC regular holder for passing yards in a season with 3,413."

TCU coach Jim Wacker said he should win the Heisman Trophy. "They're out to make up a couple of new trophies for him," Wacker said.

Tech has defeated three Top 25 teams: Arizona, A&M, and now Texas.

"This team is so crazy they think they can win every game," Dykes said. "There are not many prima donnas or anybody famous on this team, but they are a bunch of good guys. It will be interesting if any

A&I's Bailey sets new mark

KINGSVILLE (AP) — Johnny Bailey added the NCAA career record for all-purpose yards to his list of achievements, and Texas A&I added Abilene Christian to its list of victims in Lone Star Conference football action last weekend.

Bailey surpassed the combined rushing, receiving and return yardage record of 7,623 yards with a 19-yard kickoff return in Texas A&I's 33-13 victory over Abilene Christian.

The former mark was set by Kenny Gamble, who played for Colgate from 1984 to 1987. Bailey finished with 179 rushing yards and 41 more on two returns for 7,726 all-purpose yards with one regular-season game remaining.

Texas A&I (9-0, 6-0) plays host to Angelo State (9-1, 5-1) Saturday night in Kingsville for the conference title.

In other games last Saturday, Angelo State beat East Texas State 35-8, Cameron beat Central State 36-17 and Eastern New Mexico edged West Texas State 21-17.

In addition to the title showdown in Kingsville next Saturday, Abilene Christian (4-5, 4-2) travels to West Texas State (3-7, 2-4), winless Central State (0-8-1, 0-6) plays host ENMU (6-3, 4-2), and Cameron 7, 1-5) travels to East Texas State 5, 2-4).

Wide receiver Darron Johnson, Angelo State school records by ending his season totals to 940 yards, 11 touchdowns in ASU's 35-8 win over East Texas State in San Angelo. He caught a 62-yard TD pass in second quarter as the Rams rolled to a 28-0 halftime lead.

ACU quarterback Stan Stephens threw for 280 yards, but the Abilene registered seven sacks in an ACU-A&I game in Abilene as Javelinas knocked ACU out of contention for the league championship.

In Lawton, Cameron overcame a 10-9 halftime lead by Central State to win in a game matching two winless in LSC action. Quarterback J.D. Krug passed for 156 yards and ran for 78 yards and three touchdowns for the Aggies.

Jay Pirkle of ENMU intercepted West Texas State pass with 52 yards to play after the Buffaloes reached the Greyhounds 12-mile line to preserve ENMU's win.
