Rice's Hollas lost for year after QB breaks right leg

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice quarterback Donald Hollas has been lost for the season with a broken bone in his right leg, coach Fred Goldsmith announced Monday.

It originally was believed that Hollas, a junior, sprained his ankle during the second quarter of Saturday's 38-17 Southwest Conference loss to Arkansas.

Hollas will wear a cast for about eight weeks but is expected to return for spring practice.

"It's tough on a team to lose a great quarterback, but thankfully, this injury is in no way close to a career-threatening injury," Goldsmith said.

Freshman Greg Willig of La Mirada, Calif., probably will replace Hollas, Goldsmith said. Willig completed 18 of 32 passes for 188 yards and two touchdowns against Arkansas. Backup sophomore Bobby Schrader probably will return to quarterback from the safety position he assumed seven games ago.

Hollas started nine games for the Owls, completing 156 of 276 passes for 1,815 yards and five touchdowns. He rushed for 431 yards and scored seven touchdowns, a school record for a quarterback. His average of 249.6 yards total offense ranks among the top 10 nationally.

game, we passed well, too."

In the first game, the Lady Aggies had fought back to tie the game after trailing 6-0. Kellen tied it 6-6 on a tip over two Owl defenders and then brought the crowd to life with a ferocious block of a Debbi Haley spike, to take the lead.

A&M used the momentum, and seized a 9-8 lead following a Yvonne Van Brandt kill.

From that point, it looked like a Lady Aggie blocking clinic as Kellen scored on two more and Krista Hierholzer and Moniki Daniels combined for another to make the score 14-8.

Daniels blocked Bowen for the final point, as the Lady Aggies took the first game.

In the second game, A&M jumped out to a 7-0 lead on three Cummings kills and a Hierholzer block. Rice trailed 10-1 before staging a minor rally, but another Kellen block and a Van Brandt kill ended the threat.

The third game was a different affair, the Aggies fell apart, scoring their only point while trailing 3-1.

Yvonne Van Brandt served one ace and kept the Owls off balance as the Lady Aggies tied the game five times before taking the lead for good.

Trailing 10-9, Sheri Hermes-meyer hit the ball through Bowen's block for a point, and then scored on a tip to take the lead. Trailing 13-12, Daniels came alive with a kill to break Rice's serve and two more to take the lead.

Kellen gave A&M a 15-14 lead with a responding block of a Haley spike. When Haley's next attempt went wide, A&M had the win.

Kellen said that she was happy about her performance, despite the "breakdown in the third game, but we were determined to win tonight," Kellen said. "We were fed up with losing, and we just came ready to play."

Poll

No. 2 teams in the country.

Notre Dame and Colorado appear to be on a collision course.

Notre Dame remains on top in this week's college football poll, but second-ranked Colorado is gaining ground.

The Fighting Irish, who routed Navy 41-0 for their 21st straight victory, got 56 first-place votes and 1,496 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Colorado, boosted by its 27-21 victory over then-No. 3 Nebraska, received the other four first-place votes — two more than last week — and 1,441 points.

Colorado, which like Notre Dame is 9-0, can clinch an Orange Bowl berth by beating Oklahoma State and Kansas State. Notre Dame has a breather Saturday against Southern Methodist, but closes out its regular season with tough tests at Penn State and Miami.

The Fighting Irish are expected to get the other Orange Bowl bid if they beat SMU and Penn State. Bowl bids will be officially announced Nov. 25, the day of the Notre Dame-Miami game, but the matchups will be worked out before then.

Following Colorado in the rankings are Michigan, Alabama and Florida State, who all moved up one spot. Nebraska fell to No. 6, followed by Miami, Illinois, Southern California and Arkansas.

Michigan beat Purdue 42-27 to set up a Big Ten showdown at Illinois on Saturday. Illinois also improved its league record to 5-0 by beating Iowa 31-7.

Alabama remained undefeated by beating Mississippi State 23-10, Florida State downed South Carolina 35-10, Miami overpowered East Carolina 40-10, Southern Cal defeated Oregon State 48-6 and Arkansas beat Rice 38-17.

question marks about his young Nitany Lion defense going into the season, but Collins has come through for him and has emerged as one of the best linebackers in the nation.

In 1989, he's recorded 86 tackles, four blocked kicks and one interception. He had a huge day in Penn State's 19-9 upset over West Virginia last Saturday. Collins recorded 15 tackles and forced two fumbles.

• Ron Cox (6-2, 230; Fresno State). Cox is the wild card of the bunch. He suffered a knee injury last year, but was something of a question mark going into this season.

But he's done an outstanding job for Fresno State. Cox has recorded 83 tackles, 22½ sacks and has caused five fumbles. That's only four sacks less than the entire Aggie defense has recorded so far this season.

The winner will be announced Dec. 9, but you won't have to wait that long. Read it here: Snow will win the Butkus in 1989.

So much for the Butkus. Wallace may not have made the final cut for the award, but he's still in the running for the Lombardi. He's one of 12 semifinalists, which also includes Dennis Brown (Washington), Rob Burnett (Syracuse), Scott Evans (Oklahoma), Moe Gardner (Illinois), Greg Mark (Miami), Kanavis McGehee (Colorado), Tim Ryan (USC), Snow (Michigan State), Marc Spindler (Pittsburgh), Jake Young (Nebraska) and Chris Zorich (Notre Dame).

Four finalists will be selected and the winner will be announced Dec. 7 in Houston. But don't expect Wallace to make the final cut here either. With the injuries he's had this year, Wallace hasn't been able to play 100 percent. Too bad, because he is one of the premier linebackers in the country, and still should be a strong candidate for All-American.

Notre Dame's Zorich will take the Lombardi Trophy home. Sorry, Percy Snow — no sweep for you this year.
