A&M vs. A&M?

Texas A&M's women's basketball team hosts Prairie View A&M Tuesday night at 7:30 in G. Rollie White Coliseum. It's been 11 years since the sister schools last played each other.

The Lady Aggies hope to extend their winning streak and im-prove on their 2-0 season record. They claimed the Domino's Pizza Classic last weekend at G. Rollie White.

White. "We're not going in with the idea that Prairie View will be an easy team to beat," A&M Coach Lynn Hickey said. "They have ev-erything on their side going into this game. They have a good group of athletes, and we will have to be very well prepared have to be very well prepared against them.

We can't afford to be looking ahead to this weekend's tourna-ment in Utah. We can't blow this game off by any means.

The Lady Aggies were led in their championship game with Wisconsin by LaTanya Irving, who hit a 16-foot jump shot with one second remaining to win the game

Hickey needs only two more victories this season to reach 200 wins for her career. Hickey's overall record is 198-108 in more than ten years as a collegiate coach. She ranks 54th among the winningest active Division 1 wom-en's basketball coaches in the nation, according to the NCAA.

The Lady Aggies make their first road trip of the season this weekend when they travel to Salt Lake City for the Lady Ute Classic. The Lady Aggies face UCLA Friday at 7 p.m. Radio station 1240 KTAM will broadcast the game.

Syracuse, third in preseason, took the top spot in the college basketball poll Monday, while Kansas, unranked but triumphant over Nos. 1 and 2, vaulted to fourth in the first balloting of the regular season.

The Orangemen, who opened their season Monday night at home against Rutgers, received 23 first-place votes and 1,453 points from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters to edge Ari-zona (1-0) for the top spot by 11 points.

Eight teams received first-place votes in a poll scrambled by Kansas' toppling of No. 1 UNLV, No. 2 Louisiana State and No. 25 St. John's on the way to the preseason NIT ti-
