Goodbye Michigan, Purdue and Georgetown. So long Terry Holland. See ya Big Eight.

Welcome back UCLA. Hello again, Duke. Join the party, Loyola Marymount.

It was another wild and wacky day at the NCAA tournament Sunday as eight more teams advanced to the final 16.

Defending champion Michigan was blown out 149-115 by Loyola Marymount, a team determined to win it all for its late star, Hank Gathers. The game featured seven tournament records, including most total points and most points by one team.

UCLA, which used to win the tournament all the time under John Wooden, made the "Sweet Sixteen" for the first time in a decade by beating Kansas 71-70. The loss knocked the powerful Big Eight, which had three No. 1 teams this season, out of the tournament.

Purdue and Georgetown, big names from big conferences, were eliminated by teams from lightly regarded leagues. Xavier, from the Midwestern Collegiate Conference, beat Big East best Georgetown 74-71. Texas, from the Southwest Conference, edged Purdue 73-72, leaving only two of the Big Ten's seven entries left in the tournament.

Syracuse ended Holland's coaching career by beating Virginia 63-61 and Duke reached the final 16 for the fifth straight year with a 76-72 victory over St. John's.

Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Clemson and Duke had given the ACC a spotless record in the tournament. But Virginia couldn't give the conference a fifth team in the Sweet 16 and a sweet present for Holland, who is leaving to become athletic director at Davidson.

The regional semifinal pairings are Duke-UCLA in the East, Syracuse-Minnesota in the Southeast, Texas-Xavier in the Midwest and Loyola vs. the Alabama-Arizona winner in the West.

The East and Midwest games will be played Thursday, with the Southeast and West contests on Friday.

East

No. 15 Duke 76, St. John's 72
 At Atlanta, Robert Brickey made a tiebreaking basket with 32 seconds left and added two free throws with nine seconds remaining to lift Duke.

Brickey gave Duke a 74-72 lead when he grabbed an air ball by Alaa Abdelnaby and dropped it in the basket. After Greg "Boo" Harvey came down and missed a 15-footer for St. John's, Brickey fouled and added the clinching free throws.

"It's a game we won. St. John's didn't lose it," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said.

West

No. 21 Loyola Marymount 149, No. 13 Michigan 115
 At Long Beach, Calif., Loyola Marymount routed Michigan with a record-setting scoring performance.

The Lions (25-5), playing two weeks after Gathers' sudden death, used their stifling press and a barrage of 3-pointers to beat the taller Wolverines.

Michigan finished the season 23-8.

Duke improved to 26-8, while St. John's finished 24-10.

UCLA 71, No. 5 Kansas 70
 Freshman Tracy Murray hit two free throws with nine seconds left, sending UCLA to the final 16 for the first time since losing the title game in 1980.

Trevor Wilson gave UCLA a 69-68 lead on a layup, but Kevin Pritchard put Kansas back in front on a pair of free throws with 29 seconds left.

After Murray was fouled, Kansas called two consecutive time outs in an attempt to rattle him.

"I wasn't really that calm," Murray said. "I was a little nervous."

The Bruins (22-10) improved their record against Kansas to 8-0. The Jayhawks, who were ranked No. 1 for much of the season, finished 30-5.

Southeast

No. 6 Syracuse 63, Virginia 61
 At Richmond, Va., Derrick Coleman stopped a furious Virginia rally with a game-saving block on the final play.

As 6-foot-5 Bryant Stith tried to score underneath with four seconds left, 6-10 Coleman swatted the ball toward midcourt and time expired as players dove after it.

"We had our big fella right there," Syracuse's Stephen Thompson said. "He just came up with the big play."

No. 25 Xavier, Ohio 74, No. 8 Georgetown 71
 Unheralded Xavier, led by Derek Strong's 19 points and 12 rebounds, survived a second-half rally to reach the final 16 for the first time.

The Ohio school built an 18-point lead late in the first half, then wilted against Georgetown's press before holding on for the victory.

The Hoyas (24-7) tied it at 68 on a 3-pointer by David Edwards with 3:18 remaining. But Xavier (28-4) came back to take the lead for good, 72-70, on a rebound basket by freshman Aaron Williams with 1:35 left.

Xavier fouled Edwards twice in the final eight seconds, but he missed the front end of the one-and-one both times.

"We practiced giving a foul all week," Xavier coach Pete Gillen said. "We took a chance, but we didn't want to give them a shot to tie it."

Edwards led Georgetown with 19 points.

revenue sharing and pay-for-performance plans, but the union refused to consider those ideas, prompting Vincent to take them off the table on Feb. 13.

As talks continued, the players continued to press on arbitration. In the settlement to 1985's two-day strike, the union agreed to move back the requirement for arbitration from two years to three years. Playbouncer back to the mound.

The Aggies answered with two runs in the second. Rollen led off with a single and moved to second on left fielder Chad Broussard's single. Thomas moved them over with a sacrifice bunt and Marshall walked to load the bases.

Rollen scored on Wood's squeeze bunt and Broussard scored on a wild pitch by Tiger starter Steve Powers.

A&M took a 4-2 lead in the fourth inning. With one out, Broussard doubled when his fly ball was lost by right fielder Rich Reisdorf. Thomas followed with a walk and moved to third on Marshall's RBI single to right field. Thomas scored when Wood's grounder was misplayed by the shortstop.

Missouri chased Robertson three batters into the fifth inning. Bo Siberz came on for the Aggies and was shelled for three more hits as the Tigers scored four runs on five hits in the inning.

A&M scored single runs in the sixth and seventh innings to send the game into extra innings. In the sixth, Thomas singled and moved to second on and scored on Holt's grounder over the second base bag.

Missouri threatened in the seventh, but Johnson went to Freudenberg, who ended the rally and dominated the Tigers the rest of the way.

In the seventh, Pyle reached on a ers claimed they did it because owners pleaded financial distress. Owners claimed it was a tradeoff for pension money and other things.

The journey to spring training started right away as the New York Mets sent trucks loaded with equipment in New Jersey for Port St. Lucie, Fla.

Vincent, who became commissioner last September following the death of A. Bartlett Giamatti, sought to play a conciliatory role in the talks. At times, he had to reconcile his owners more than he had to reconcile the two sides.

bunt single and moved to second on Witte's bunt. Pyle scored on Rollen's single to left.

In the eighth, Thomas walked and moved to third on a bunt and a groundout. Holt was intentionally walked to set the stage for Pyle's homer over the right field wall that gave A&M a 9-6 win.

The runs were harder to come by in the nightcap.

The game was scoreless until the Tigers scored two in the fourth off lefthanded starter Pat Sweet. Doubles by Reisdorf and Mondrella sandwiched around a Darnel Hawkins single did the damage.

It seemed that the two runs would be enough for Tiger starter Chuck Fletcher. He allowed the Aggies only three hits through the first six innings.

But A&M rallied to tie the game 2-2, in the seventh. Broussard led off with a double and moved to third two outs later.

Pinch hitter Scott Daniels walked and moved to second when Holt's single scored Broussard. Daniels scored on Thomas' single to tie the game.

Freudenberg entered with one on and one out in the eighth. A throwing error by third baseman Travis Williams moved runners to second and third. Mark Adair lifted a fly to center field, and Reisdorf tried to score on it. But Holt's throw was right on target and nailed him at the plate. That set the stage for Bernet's single in the ninth.

"I knew the throw was on line when I let it go," Holt said.
