The Battalion STATE & LOCAL

Monday, April 2, 1990

845-3

NDERFU at'll the ant stead?

ARGULI

Red.

Irs

ace and think

a minute.

somewhere

y can't park

hey are. The ed near a cess ramp.

to Jimene

udent worke

ay operations

bus service

parking

blems are of.... ervices, we ie handicappe

is done fort ont of Hobby

e problem has told how mporary ne full six are well lo arking issue ever, it only itage of the y wheelchai roblems such usable desks ors, heavy

ently

are reasons

Weekly forum focuses on local, world issues

By SELINA GONZALEZ Of The Battalion Staff

Insights, a MSC Political Forum program, sheds light on lo-cal, state and world issues.

Matt Wood, Political Forum chairman, said Insights allows students to interact with faculty and staff in an informal setting. Stephanie Schull, director of Insights, said about 10 to 25 people attend the discussion group to become informed about issues affecting them. Participants meet at 1 p.m. ev-ery Monday in the MSC cafeteria cashier's room. They will con-tinue to meet until April 23.

Participants include faculty, undergraduate students and graduate students, and everyone is invited.

"We like to address issues that appear on the editorial page of The Battalion because that is usually on the minds of the stu-dents," Schull said. Schull said the program, now in its third semester, is low-key and differs from other Political Forum programs.

Various professors have been invited to suggest topics to discuss. "Usually, a faculty member will speak about an issue for about 20 minutes and then we will discuss it for the rest of the hour," Schull said.

In the past, the group has dis-cussed campus racial issues with Kevin Carreathers, coordinator of the Department of Multicultural Services.

Schull said the movie "Born on the Fourth of July" sparked a dis-cussion on the Vietnam War.

Wood said that in the future, Insights participants will discuss women in business and race relations with Japan.

Also, participants will focus on the Bryan-College Station community when a county commissioner speaks to the group about the environmental issue of landfills, he said.

Journalist shares experiences

By RUSS NEEDELS Special to the Battalion

Only dead fish go with the flow, an award-winning broadcast jour-nalist from Bryan said Saturday. Linda Ellerbee shared her experiences of both career and life at the 20th anniversary of the Friends of the Sterling C. Evans Library and the present location of the Bryan Public Library.

Ellerbee stressed the importance of change through her five rules of life. They are: • Do it your own way.

"Only dead fish swim with the stream," she said. • The best things in life aren't things. "You can always get another job, but you can't get another family," she said. • The duty of every citizen is to keep his or her mouth open at all

"Speak your mind," she said. • If you don't want to get old, then don't mellow.

• A good time to laugh is any time you can.

While reminiscing about her ca-why she appeared in reer, Ellerbee elaborated on what See Journalist/Page 13 are commonly referred to as "twin-kies" in the broadcast industry, or those people who have "blow-dried brains, as well as hair."

She said any person who sticks a microphone in the face of a victim during a tragedy should be fired, because, after all, "Isn't that common sense

Do it your own way. The best things in life aren't things. Speak your mind.

-tips from Linda Ellerbee, broadcast journalist

The one attitude in broadcasting that appalls Ellerbee, she said, is the arrogance of some television pro-ducers who believe that they're more intelligent than the viewers.

Ellerbee continued to talk about her career and the troubles she faced by explaining one of the most controversial issues in her career: why she appeared in the Maxwell

Photo by Steven M. Noreyko

Linda Ellerbee

Academy teaches English as second language

By PAM MOOMAN Of The Battalion Staff

Think about spending the summer learning to speak Chinese.

Some foreign students will come to Bryan this summer with Allen Academy's English as a Second Language summer school program to learn to speak English.

Lynred Hoepfner, headmaster, said that along with its regular curriculum, Allen Academy offers a year-round English as a Second Language program, where students in the first year of the program work on English grammar and conversation skills instead of studying English and history.

But on June 4, Allen Academy's ESL summer program begins. Foreign students come from many different countries for different reasons, Hoepfner said.

This year, she said, the academy has students from Japan and Taiwan. In the past, many students have come from South Ameri-can and Latin countries.

Often, foreign students come to Allen Academy's ESL summer program because they already have American connections, such as relatives, she said. One student just wanted to go to an American school, she said.

"They come for different reasons," Hoepfner said. "(Often,) they are interested in enrolling in an American school in the Hoepfner said the ESL summer program has been offered before, but this year is the first time that foreign students participating in the program will be able to stay in dorms and eat on the Texas A&M campus.

"It's a benefit for Allen to use facilities at A&M," she said.

However, only boys ages 13-18 will be boarded, although the ESL summer program is open to all foreign students, as well as members of the local community, she said. The foreign students will come to Allen Academy for morning classes, Hoepfner said, and in the afternoon will go on field trips to the Blue Bell creamery, the School of Veteri-nary Medicine and possibly NASA facilities in Houston.

'(This will) put them in conversational activities for oral development," she said. In other words, they can put in practice what they learned in the classroom that morning, she said.

Allen Academy also offers I'20's to foreign, non-immigrant students. An I'20 is an en-trance requirement allowing foreign students to go to U.S. schools, Hoepfner said.

Foreign students attending the first ESL summer session will arrive on June 3 to regis-ter, and classes will begin on June 4 and end on June 29. Registraton for the second session is on July 1 with classes beginning on July sessions, Hoepfner said, or they can attend both sessions.

Hoepfner said learning English is becoming increasingly important in today's world. "I would think essentially our world is com-

"One of the ways to do that is to learn the English language," she said.

Allen Academy, in Bryan at the corner of Briarcrest Drive and Boonville Road, was founded in 1886.

classes in grades pre-kindergarten through 12, and it has boarding facilities for boys grades eight through 12.

2 and ending on July 27. Students can choose one of the four-week ing to a global community," she said.

The academy offers co-educational day

editor positions By JULIE MYERS Editors for The Battalion, Aggieland and Aggievision were nominated Friday by the student publications board.

Board nominates

Beginning May 16, the sum-mer editor is responsible for producing The Battalion Tuesday through Friday of both summer sessions, Wednesdays between summer and fall classes, and all pre-printed sections of the backto-school issue, which is distrib-uted the first day of school.

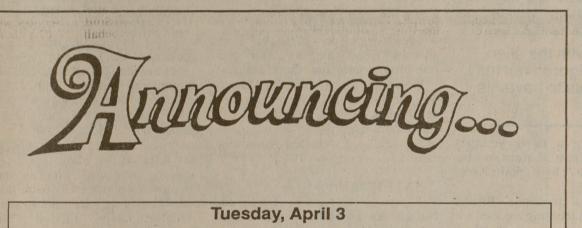

Junior economics major Cindy McMillian was nominated as edi-tor of the Fall 1990 Battalion. Mc-Millian is currently a news editor at The Battalion.

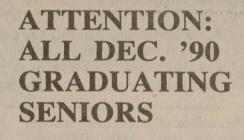

for producing The Battalion during the last week of regular classes of the spring semester, the Wednesday during final exam week, the front section of the back-to-school issue and all of the fall semester issues until the last week of classes.

McKnight was nominated as the 1991 Aggieland editor. McKnight is currently editor of The Aggieland, the largest college yearbook was nominated as the 1991 AggieVision editor. Maddox currently serves as a member of the Aggie Vision staff.

Recommendations will be forwarded to Dr. Dean Gage, acting provost and vice president for academic affairs, who will make the final decisions.

If you are a member of the Class of '90 and will graduate in December '90, you may vote in the upcoming Class of '90 Class Agents Election.

students for

Of The Battalion Staff

Senior journalism major Mon-ique Threadgill was nominated as editor for The Battalion during the 1990 summer sessions. Threadgill is currently the ma-naging editor of The Battalion.

The fall editor is responsible

Senior recreation, parks and in the nation.

Freshman Stephanie Maddox

lifts as getting acr ldings like andicapped

ecome oblems faced I have a wheelchair at it is like. o take notice may be eople. When y to remove nt Services problem.

elchair and atever that k for Andy's eelchair in ior industri

n Jr.

DIVE OF EN CAR

"International Luncheon Series" - presentation by Dr. John Wormuth on Antarctica. Buy your lunch at the MSC Cafeteria, then join us for the informal presentation. Everyone is welcome! Time: 11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Location: MSC Cafeteria Conference Room 110 (near cash registers)

Saturday, April 7 (Parents' Weekend)

11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.: tours of the Jordan Collection of international art objects. Location: Browsing Library (Room 223 of Memorial Student Center)

2:00 p.m.: showing of "We've Never Been Licked". All proceeds from the film go to the MSC Overseas Loan Program. Location: Rudder Theatre Price: $2.00 (Tickets go on sale at 1:00 p.m. before show.)

Monday, April 9

"Women in Pakistan: A Socioeconomic and Legal Profile". The lecture will be presented by Dr. Rashida Patel, Advocate on Record Supreme Court of Pakistan and Advocate Supreme Court of Sind. Time: 7:00 p.m. Location: Room 206 of Memorial Student Center

MSC Jordan Institute for International Awareness For more information, please call 845-8770.

Stop by the MSC Student Lounge/Flag Room Tues., Apr. 3; Wed., Apr. 4; or Thurs., Apr. 5, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. to cast your vote. STUDENT ID REQUIRED.

The Association of Former Students will hold Fall Senior Induction Banquets for Dec. '90 graduates in Nov. '90.

Look out

below

It's time you gave yourself a GSE™

If you're sexually active, you should know about the GSE. GSE stands for genital self-examination. It's a simple examination you can give yourself to check for any signs or symptoms of a sexually transmitted disease. Send for your free GSE Guide today. Be-cause when it comes to sexual relationships, there are some important things to look out for.

To receive your free GSE Guide, simply fill out and return the coupon or call, toll-free, 1-800-234-1124.

by Burroughs Wellcome Co. in c Dermatology, the American Aca College of General Practitioners i Copr. © 1989 Burroughs Wellcome Co. All rights reserved.

