The Texas A&M women's basketball team made a move Wednesday to improve its offensive output by signing Beth Burket, considered by the Texas Sportswriters Association as the Class 3A Player of the Year.

Hickey said Burket is just the type of athlete that the A&M women's basketball program needs to compete

Burket, a 6-1 forward from Jourdanton High School, amassed 2,873 points during her high school career. Her totals placed her third on Tavas' all-time scoring list.

During her career, she averaged 23 points, 10.3 rebounds and 4 steals a game. In 125 games, Burket failed to reach double figures only once. points per game and shot 55 percent from the field.

"She was all-everything here," Pam Clary, Jourdanton women's basketball coach said of Burket. "We really feel good about signing Beth," Hickey said. "She has a lot of natural athletic ability. She's an athlete, a competitor and a real good feel, a competitor and a real good feel good about signing basketball coach said of Burket. Aggie tennis goes abroad, signs two foreign athletes

From Staff and Wire Reports

The Texas A&M men's tennis team signed two top international recruits to letters of intent Tuesday, announced Aggie coach Da-

New Zealander Adam King and Clayton Johnson of Pretoria, South Africa join last week's sig-nee Mark Weaver as A&M's newest recruits.

The 6-4, 210-pound King has competed in World Youth Cup Tournament and represented New Zealand in the World Youth

Finals in Australia and is ranked third in New Zealand in the 18and-under category

"He's an outstanding doubles player and he has the fastest serve in New Zealand," Kent said. "He is the complete power player."

Johnson joins the Aggies after completing duty with the South African Army where he com-peted against many internationally-ranked players including a victory over 1987 Southwest Conference champion Brent Hay-garth of A&M.

Cowboys desperately seeking draft talent

IRVING (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys own five choices in the top 80 picks of the NFL draft, and do they After going 1-15 in Jimmy Johnson's first season as head coach, there aren't many spots where the Cowboys couldn't use an infusion of The big mystery is who the Cowboys are going to take with their first round choice, which is No. 21 overall. The pick was obtained from Minnesota in the Herschel Walker trade.

Dallas lost its No. 1 pick, which would have been the top selection in the draft, by taking quarterback Steve Walsh in last summer's supplemental draft. Walsh started five games last year, including Dallas' 13-3 victory over the Washington

Walsh, but nothing has happ because their price is high pick. Walsh, a backup behind Troy Aikman, will be available draft day.

Dallas was expected to take a running back or defensive lineman in the first round.

A running back is a must because Paul Palmer departed via the free agency route in the off-season. Palmer cost Dallas a 12th round choice to Detroit and didn't suit out in the final regular season game because of a dispute with Johnson.

"This draft looks strong at running back," Johnson said. "Also, deming back," Johnson said. "Also, defense is a big key for us. In order to get real quality defensive players it is important to draft them early."

"I want aggressive players who have speed," Johnson said. "I was surprised by the lack of team speed we had last year."

The top running backs in the draft included Blair Thomas of Penn State, Emmitt Smith of Florida, Rodney Hampton of Georgia, Darrell Thompson of Minnesota, Anthony Thompson of Indiana, Harold Green of South Carolina, Reggie Cobb of Tennessee and James Gray of Texas Tech.

Dallas has two selections in the second round, including first choice — 26th overall. The Cowboys also have the 22nd pick (47th overall) from Minnesota in the Walker trade.

In the third round, Dallas has the 15th (68th overall) from Kansas City in the Steve Pelluer trade, and the 27th choice (80th overall) from Denver in the Kevin Brooks trade. Dallas has no fourth rounders but victory over the Washington edskins.

The Cowboys have been shopping alsh, but nothing has happened trade. In the sixth round, Dallas has three picks, one in the seventh, two in the ninth, one in the 10th, and one in the 11th.

The Cowboys signed an NFL-high 16 Plan-B free agents for over $1 million in bonuses. The top prospect was wide receiver Dennis McKinnon, who came from the Chicago

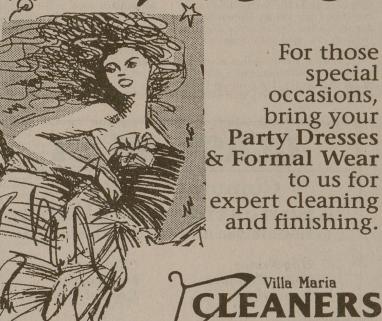

Johnson said because of the number of Plan-B free agents, the Cowboys won't have to reach for as many
