The baseball gods must be kind
Yankees could be Ryans' 300th victim

ARLINGTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan has a bad back, a bad Achilles tendon and a bad bullpen. The baseball gods, however, gave him an ideal opponent for career victory No. 300 — the Yankees.

Ryan hasn't lost to New York in 13 years and is 3-0 against them as a member of the Texas Rangers.

The 1990 Yankees have the worst record in baseball and are the lowest scoring team in the American League. Ryan has already beaten them twice this season.

"It'll be fun. We faced Seaver when he got 300, and we'll try to keep Ryan from doing it," said the Yankees' Don Mattingly. "He'll get it, but hopefully not against us."

Seaver wasn't the only pitcher to find the Yankees accommodating for No. 300; Gaylord Perry got his against them, too.

Box seats were being scalped for as high as $175 for Wednesday night's game at Arlington Stadium when Ryan would bid to become the 20th pitcher in major league history to reach 300 victories.

At a Tuesday afternoon news conference, Ryan admitted he was a

Pardee opens camp by sounding reveille

SAN MARCOS (AP) — The off-season was a time of change for the Houston Oilers and coach Jack Pardee changed the time as sleepy-eyed rookies opened the Oilers training camp with an early-morning workout.

"I never came to the field in the dark before," defensive tackle Doug Smith said.

Rookies, one-year veterans and free agents answered 5:00 a.m. wake-up calls in order to be on time for Pardee's 7 a.m. workout, designed to avoid the intense heat.

"It's humid out there but the heat wasn't high so they can concentrate on getting better," Pardee said. "You just want to get great practices. It's not an endurance contest on how to survive."

Pardee, beginning his first training camp as Oilers head coach, also will work his team later in the afternoon than former coach Jerry Glanville used to.

Smith sparks Cowboys

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — What happened to Super Bowl hero Timmy Smith and how did he get here where the NFL cellar begins?

"They expected me to be John Riggins, which is something I'm not," said Smith.

"They" were the Washington Redskins.

Smith was more than John Riggins in Super Bowl XXII.

For one afternoon in his brief NFL career, Smith was a superman in cleats and a helmet.

Smith set a Super Bowl record with 204 yards rushing as the Redskins drummed the Denver Broncos 42-10.

"It was a great day and it meant a ring and you can't ever take it away from me," Smith said.

But Smith went from record-smashing fame to the bench the next year when an extra 25 pounds killed his quickness.

more stupid was me, sitting dumb-founded at home.

As the three stumbled through the opening dialogue, it was apparent that the Jimmy Johnson Show was in deep trouble. I started drawing parallels between the demise of the Cowboys and Johnson's show.

I remember a kinder, gentler Dallas organization. When anything little nervous, saying "I guess anybody would be with the buildup. I'm feeling a little pressure, a little anxiety."

Ryan said he hopes he doesn't miss the turn into the stadium on Wednesday — like he did a year ago, before the game in which he struck out his 5,000th batter. He was concentrating so hard on how he would pitch to Oakland batters that he passed the street he was supposed to turn on.

History indicates to win the 300th game you have to go all the way. Only Early Wynn and Steve Carlton failed to go the distance. Wynn lasted five innings and Carlton pitched eight.

Don Sutton was the last to win 300, in 1986.

Ryan said Tuesday he hopes he can pitch a complete game.

"I want it to be my best personal performance, but I don't want to try to do more than I can," he said. "If we have to win it going to the bullpen, then that's what we'll do."

Ryan used only 77 pitches in winning No. 299 with a 5-3 victory over Detroit but pulled himself out of the game because of another flare up of the stress fracture in his back.

The 43-year-old Ryan altered his routine this week because of the back and sore Achilles problem.

"I didn't push it when I threw on the side," Ryan said. "The way my back has been acting, I decided not to throw as long as I normally do. I don't want to aggravate anything."

The Texas bullpen has been inconsistent since ace reliever Jeff Russell hurt his arm earlier in the year.

The Rangers went through four relievers before Kenny Rogers saved No. 299 for Ryan as Texas almost blew a 5-0 lead.

prepared for camp; complete cuties, snide remarks from press sportscaster/comedian James.

The Cowboys have finally done away with what made me such a Cowboy fan through the years. Jones has been successful in making the Cowboys like every other cowboy team in the NFL.

What's next Jerry? Maybe a video extolling the virtues of being 0-16?

Yes, I have seen the future. Football in Dallas and I am saddened.

Hockey's looking better and better every day.
