Crowd cheers signing of bill for disabled

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans with disabilities gathered at the State Capitol Thursday to cheer a new federal act barring discrimination against them in employment and other parts of daily life.

They also applauded the announcement of a new nationwide cable television channel dedicated to people with disabilities. "America's Disability Channel is far more than a television network," said Bill Nichols, America's Disability Channel president. "It is ... a symbol of freedom — freedom from discrimination, freedom from silence, freedom for equal rights."

Hours before the Capitol celebration by disabled people and their supporters, President Bush signed the Americans with Disabilities Act in an outdoor ceremony at the White House.

"We should now have civil rights equivalent to those rights guaranteed by the 1964 Civil Rights Act to other minority groups," said Redge Westbrook, legislative chairman of the Coalition of Texans with Disabilities.

There are 2.2 million disabled Texans, Westbrook said. There are 43 million people with disabilities in the United States.

The Americans with Disabilities Act bars discrimination against the disabled in employment, public accommodations, transportation and telecommunications.

Disabled people also have a new opportunity in television, said Nichols. America's Disability Channel will feature programs produced by people with disabilities and organizations that work with them, he said.

County ranks high in AIDS cases

AUSTIN (AP) — Travis County has 593 cases of AIDS, ranking it ahead of 20 states, with thousands more county residents in earlier stages of the disease, officials say.

As a result, the Austin Travis County HIV Commission is urging the city and county governments to almost double their financial commitment to combating the epidemic of acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

The commission, a coalition of providers of services to people with the disease, asked for $586,225 in a new report to the Austin City Council and the Travis County Commissioners Court. That would be in addition to the $620,031 that the city and county have budgeted for the epidemic in the current fiscal year.

"We are at a critical stage," said Christine Aubrey, commission chairwoman. "People should start thinking of our epidemic in terms of New York and New Jersey."

Austin's incidence rate of AIDS per 100,000 population is now higher than Los Angeles and, in Texas, second only to Houston, according to the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Police raid adult theater during film

PHARR (AP) — The adult film "Femmes on Fire" had just begun Thursday afternoon when a raid led by the Texas Attorney General's office managed to close the Texas Theater — at least for the day.

It was another in a series of raids over the past year in which state attorneys have helped the city in its battle against sexually-oriented businesses.

Earlier Thursday, the state became the new owner of about $75,000 in rubbery sexual devices and videos and magazines with titles like "Nazi Lust." They were seized in raids last year at the Dolar Video store in Pharr and were finally forfeited to the state in a municipal court hearing Thursday morning.

Al Alvarez, an assistant state attorney general based in McAllen, said the city of Pharr asked the state for assistance in fighting businesses he said violate "community standards" of obscenity.

City officials were concerned, Alvarez said, about the type of businesses moving into the Lower Rio Grande Valley city, apparently because of its prominent location at the intersection of U.S. 281 and U.S. 83.

Alvarez also succeeded in closing three massage parlors in Pharr earlier this year, an action he said discouraged a fourth parlor from opening in the city.

One parlor owner pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor of operating the business without a license required under the state Massage Therapists and Establishments Act. Another parlor owner has a trial pending.

Alvarez said the state does not normally get involved in fighting sexually-oriented businesses, but is authorized to help cities enforce laws.

The state originally became involved with the Dolar Video store case last year under state consumer protection and food and drug statutes after learning it was selling illegal chemicals, known as "poppers," which are sniffed to produce a brief high.

During raids to seize the chemical, isobutyl nitrate, officers observed the magazines, videos and sexual devices. They obtained warrants to seize them as allegedly obscene.

Alvarez said the state probably will burn the magazines and shred the inflatable, life-size dolls, artificial sexual organs and other devices.

Officials must use guidelines set by the U.S. Supreme Court that require obscenity to be measured by "community standards." Some of the materials seized in Pharr, might not be considered obscene in larger cities, Alvarez said.

"In terms of Pharr, and it's probably representative of the Valley, the material's going to be found obscene," Alvarez said.

Lt. Jesse Medina, with the Pharr Police Department, said he asked the attorney general's office to get involved because his department does not have enough officers for vice operations.

"In fact, I think we're a small city with big city problems," Medina said. "The attorney general's office has taken the bull by the horns and helped us deal with this problem."

Officers went into the theater Thursday afternoon with a warrant to seize two specific items: the film "Femmes on Fire" and a magazine titled "Deep and Dark."

Restaurant Report

The restaurants listed below were inspected by the Brazos County Health Department between July 9 and July 13. Information is from a food service establishment inspection report.

SCORED BETWEEN 95 AND 100:
Subway Sandwiches at 601 University Dr. Score — 98. Points were deducted for not supplying hand cleanser. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

La Rancherita at 103 N. Brazos. Score — 96. Points were deducted for unprotected outer openings. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

31 Treats at 601 University Dr. Score — 95. Points were deducted for inadequate food protection during storage, hand drying devices not provided and inadequate storage of single-service articles. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

SCORED BETWEEN 90 AND 94:
Schlotzsky's at 100 S. Texas Ave. Score — 93. Points were deducted for unsatisfactory non-food contact surfaces and inadequate restroom and hand-washing facilities. It was a regularly scheduled inspection.

David Jefferson, a registered sanitarian at the department, said restaurants with scores of 95 or above generally have excellent operations and facilities. He said restaurants with scores in the 70s or low 80s usually have serious violations in the health report.

Scores can be misleading, Jefferson said, because restaurants can get the same score by having several minor violations or a few major violations. He said the minor violations can be corrected during the inspection. Point deductions or violations in the report range from one point (minor violations) to five points (major violations).

Jefferson said the department might close a restaurant if the score is below 60, the personnel have infectious diseases, the restaurant lacks adequate refrigeration, there is a sewage backup in the building or the restaurant has a complete lack of sanitization for the food equipment.

The department inspects each restaurant every six months. Jefferson said a follow-up inspection is sometimes required if a restaurant has a four- or five-point violation that cannot be corrected during the inspection, or if there are numerous small violations.

Inspectors at the department are registered sanitarians.
