Farr's mistake gives Rangers 6-5 victory

ARLINGTON (AP) — Steve Farr's bases-loaded walk to Pete Incaviglia with two outs in the ninth inning gave the Texas Rangers a 6-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals on Sunday

It was the second time in as many games that the Rangers beat the Royals in the bottom of the ninth, and both times Julio Franco scored the winning run.

Franco was hit by a pitch from Farr (10-7) with one out and Rafael Palmeiro singled Franco to third. Ruben Sierra was intentionally walked to load the bases and the Gonzalez struck out. But Farr walked Incaviglia on five pitches to make a winner of Brad Arnsberg (6-

Cooper also caught two touch-down passes and averaged 18 yards a reception.

Two endzone interference penal-ties on UNLV negated two more likely touchdown passes from of Houston's success stemmed from the fact the offensive line gave Klingler time to throw from the pocket.

"Our goal was not to give up a sack," senior offensive tackle Leroy Truitt said. "Once, in the second quarter, David told us it felt like he was getting 30 minutes to throw from back there." When the Cougar offensive line wasn't giving Klingler time to trigger the Run-and-Shoot, it was opening up running lanes for Heisman Tro-phy candidate Chuck Weatherspoon. Weatherspoon, a 5-7, 210-pound senior, gained 120 yards on only 10

"We operated pretty well, but we don't have time to celebrate," Weatherspoon said. "We've got to get ready for (Texas) Tech next Houston's young defense limited the Rebels to field goals of 39, 22 and 48 vards.

UNLV came out on its opening drive and threatened Houston by sustaining a 48-yard drive. The Rebels penetrated deep into Cougar territory before junior quarterback-/tailback Hunkie Cooper's wild pitch was bobbled by tailback Raymond Walters. The ball went out of the endzone for a touchback.

Despite the 37-9 loss, UNLV posted some respectable numbers of its own. The Rebels amassed 348 total yards, with 207 coming from junior quarterback Derek Stott's pass-

WOW.

I'm torn. Sure, the Mays used little if any ethics to get the story. Then again, established journalists used traditional methods and haven't been able to get close to Rose, who is not allowed to grant interviews to the press while serving time in prison.

And then there's the payoff. Mays and her husband stand to make over $100,000 after all is said and done.

But what about the penalties?

If the two had been caught, they would have faced a five-year prison

"The money is one thing," Doug Mays said. "But the thrill of actually doing it was unbeatable."

Great, the truth comes out. The Mays aren't innovative journalists, they're just plain stupid. Ethics be damned, if you balance the pros with the cons (no pun intended), a $100,000 payoff doesn't come close to the possibility of having a fiveyear prison term dumped on you.

Then again, maybe Doug Mays could work it where he ended up as Roses' cell mate. But I wouldn't bet on it.

(Pun intended.)

Giants pummel Astros in 5-1 win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -Roger Craig almost gave Kevin Mitchell the day off. The Giants manager was glad he didn't.

Mitchell drove in three runs and Mark Portugal lost to San Francisco for the first time in six career decisions as the Giants beat the Houston Astros 5-1 Sunday.

Mitchell, who began the game in an 0-for-16 slump, hit an RBI single with two outs in the first inning and a two-out, two-run homer in the sixth, his 33rd home run of the season.

"I thought I'd have the day off," Mitchell said. "Roger just said that he needed me in there. I'm really tired and you tend to lose a lot of concentration when you're tired. I can understand why Roger wants me in there, but

The home run tied Mitchell for the National League lead with Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago

"You hate to rest a guy who can change a ball game with one swing," Craig said. "I know guys need rest this time of the year, but we're still in contention. Besides, he's got all winter to rest."

Mike LaCoss (6-3) gave up seven hits in eight innings and was in constant trouble. But he didn't allow a run until the eighth, when rookie Eric Anthony hit his ninth home run of the season.

siac Holt interfered with San Diego wide receiver Anthony Miller in the Dallas end zone on a pass from Mark Vlasic. The penalty covered 41 yards and Butts scored on the next play from a yard out with 5:43 left in the second quarter.

"A year ago it would have bothered us, but we didn't let it and that's a real tribute to our will to win," Johnson said.

Dallas struck first on the cloudy, 78-degree day by driving 84 yards following the opening kickoff. The Cowboys had hoped for temperatures in the high 90s but it was cloudy with an openional light rain. cloudy with an occasional light rain. Aikman was on target with passes of 16 yards to Agee, 18 to Jay Nova-cek, and 19 to Martin. The payoff came on a 28-yard strike to Dennis McKinnon who outjumped defend-ers Gil Byrd and Vencie Glenn. San Diego came right back to tie it on a 62-yard drive climaxed by Vlas-ic's 14-yard scoring pass to Craig McEwen, who slipped defender Robert Williams' tackle to dive into the end zone. Rookie running back Emmitt Smith made his debut for Dallas but was used sparingly because he only had three days of practice after a 48-

day contract holdout. Johnson got the game ball, his sec-
