Stewart, Rijo draw starts for World Series Game 1

CINCINNATI (AP) — The place to be for the World Series is in the bullpen.

It's Cincinnati's Nasty Boys vs. Oakland's Bash Brothers in a confrontation involving more strategy than a chess match between Karpov and Kasparov.

The opening move is set for Tuesday night at Riverfront Stadium when Dave Stewart is expected to start for the A's against Jose Rijo.

Since Pittsburgh manager Jim Leyland isn't involved, it's also expected the starting pitchers who show up at the pregame news conference will actually start. But the real fun is who will finish.

The A's are favored to win their second straight World Series because of Stewart, Bob Welch and Mike Moore. The Reds are given a chance because of the Nasty Boys — relievers Rob Dibble, Randy Myers and Norm Charlton.

In 15 2-3 innings against the Pirates, the Nasty Boys gave up one earned run and six hits while striking out 20. Dibble pitched five hitless innings, striking out 10 to tie a playoff record for a reliever.

"It doesn't matter if a guy hits cross-handed, right-handed or he's a switch-hitter," Leyland said. "It doesn't matter if you have a midget at the plate. If Rob Dibble is throwing 100 miles per hour, I don't care if your standing on your head. You're going to have a tough time."

Cincinnati's formula for victory is to grab an early lead and then turn it over to the Nasty Boys in the sixth or seventh inning. The Reds were 66-22 when they scored first and 74-6 when holding the lead after six innings.

The A's, as demonstrated against Boston, have all sorts of ways to win. One of the best is to bring in Dave Eckersley and friends.

The Oakland bullpen of Eckersley, Rick Honeycutt and Gene Nelson combined to give up five runs and no runs in 6 2-3 innings during the AL playoffs.

In the playoffs, Oakland and Cincinnati relievers combined to give one earned run and 14 hits in 22 2-3 innings, striking out 24.

"I've never sat down and analyzed their bullpen," Myers said. "We have the best in closers in Dibble and myself."

Fittingly, Myers and Dibble were selected co-MVPs of the NL playoffs after the Reds won their first pennant since 1976 on Friday night Game 6. Myers saved three games to tie a playoff record and Dibble was so good it went beyond nastiness.

"I consider it a bullpen MVP," Myers said. "We are a group down there. We're called the Nasty Boys and that's how we pitch. A lot of people have said about Dibble, but he's out there and gives 100 percent."

A&M archery team dominates co-rec tourney

Texas A&M dominated the Battle of the Southwest archery tournament in Austin this weekend bringing home the men's, women's and co-rec championships.

A&M, Arizona State and Texas competed in the two-day tournament, which was hosted by the Longhorns.

A&M's Maria Cantu was the high scorer for the event, scoring a 1383 out of 1620 to finish first in the women's competition. Jason Lowery won the men's bracket, scoring a 1379.

Glen Clausen finished with a 1351 and Liz Beck scored a 1303 as both came in third in their respective divisions.

Mavs gear for season

DALLAS (AP) — Sam Perkins went West. Roy Tarpley got married and a new attitude. Rodney McCray, Alex English and Fat Lever moved into the neighborhood.

Richie Adubato got some job security.

The NBA's version of "Twin Peaks" is getting cranked up for a new season as the Dallas Mavericks are shooting hoops again. The team that controversy hasn't forgot is back on the court.

Free agent Perkins decided he had enough of General Manager Norm Sonju's contract juggling act and signed on with the Los Angeles Lakers.

"There was always something going on in Dallas and now maybe I can settle down," Perkins said.

Last year, the Mavs fired coach John MacLeod before the season was a month old. It was the quickest firing in NBA history.

Two seasons ago it was an unhappy Mark Aguirre who was packing to Detroit for Adrian Dantley, who never lived up to his reputation. Dantley was cut loose when the Mavs receiving a thing in return.

Dallas went looking for talent after losing Perkins, who's capable of playing at either forward spot as well as at center.

From Sacramento, they obtained McCray, one of the slickest small forwards in the league. McCray had hernia surgery in the off-season and was expected to be ready for the regular season.

From Denver, they acquired Lever, who likes to run-and-gun and can play both point and shooting guard.

The Mavs also broke out the checkbook and signed scoring machine English.

Fights not expected for Irish, Hurricanes

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame and Miami, teams that have managed to get in first hits before the opening kickoff, promise Saturday's final meeting will be different.

"We don't have any intention of going out and fighting, and I'm sure they don't either," Notre Dame's Chris Zorich said.

That would be a change from Saturday, when Miami players tangled with their Kansas rivals 30 minutes before game time. Miami beat the Jayhawks 34-0.

It would be different, too, from last year's Notre Dame-Miami contest at the Orange Bowl, where the teams approached flashpoint in a taunting match before the kickoff.

Two years ago the teams clashed at the Notre Dame stadium tunnel after warmups, not to mention a similar shoving match last year between Notre Dame and Southern Cal.

Miami coach Dennis Erickson said the brawling, at least, is finished. "You won't see any of that at Notre Dame," he said Monday from Coral Gables. "We're going there to play a game."

Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz was perturbed by the 1988 brawl, infuriated by the brouhaha with Southern Cal, and dashed onto the Orange Bowl field to pull his players away from Miami. Holtz has issued strict orders and dire warnings to prevent future occurrences.

He also took practical steps to ensure his team stays far apart from their rivals at Notre Dame Stadium. "What we do is make sure we're nowhere near where they are," Notre Dame's Derek Brown said.

College football rules have changed to keep teams from crossing midfield before kickoff.

Once the game starts, though, the Miami-Notre Dame rivalry becomes football strictly by the rules, said Mike Sullivan of the Hurricanes. "On the field, it's been as clean as any team I've ever played," he said.

But feelings will run high when No. 2 Miami (4-1) plays No. 6 Notre Dame (4-1) in a game that will likely end the national championship hopes for the loser.

"A lot of guys step over the line and don't realize it," Sullivan said. "When you're out there on the field, you're not as rational as in your regular life. You're taught to go with your emotions."

Notre Dame leads the series 14-7-1 dating to a 14-0 Notre Dame victory in the first meeting in 1955.

Two Oilers demand trade

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Houston Oilers who lost their starting jobs, cornerback Steve Brown and linebacker Robert Lyles, have renewed their demands for a trade.

Lyles was one of former coach Jerry Glanville's favorite players and a five-year starter for the Oilers. Brown had been a starter since his rookie season in 1983.

Both have been relegated to spot duty in the Oilers' new 4-3 defense.

"They've accepted the fact that I don't want to be here and I've accepted the fact that they don't want me here, it's time for me to go on," Lyles said Monday.

Brown has been vocal all season about wanting to be traded. He returned from ankle surgery to find that Chris Dishman had taken his cornerback spot.

"It's hard for me to be excited about being around here if all I'm going to be doing is watching the game," Brown said. "I wanted to be badly to be excited about the Oilers yesterday but not being a part of it makes it tough."

Tuesday is the NFL trading deadline.
