Longhorn Foundation establishing endowment to pay McWilliams extra

AUSTIN (AP) — The Longhorn Foundation is in the process of putting together an endowment that could pay University of Texas football coach David McWilliams an extra $60,000 a year, Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said Wednesday.

The endowment would be similar to the one created for UT basketball coach Tom Penders. Texas alumnus Jim Bob Moffett donated $1 million for that endowment, with most of the annual interest going to supplement Pender's salary.

Meanwhile, Dodds also said reports that McWilliams was being offered a five-year contract were inaccurate.

At the appropriate time, we'll do the right thing. We're tickled to death with the job he's doing," Dodds said. "He's our coach and will be our coach."

McWilliams is in the fourth year of a five-year contract and his base pay is $105,317. The seventh-ranked Longhorns, 7-1 on the season and 5-0 in the Southwest Conference, are the league's only unbeaten team after defeating No. 3 Houston, 45-24, Saturday.

Texas, which has won six consecutive games, needs only two victories in its last three games to earn its first Cotton Bowl berth since 1984.

Dodds said the Longhorn Foundation's 55-member advisory board met last week to discuss the endowment for McWilliams. He declined to say whether the money would come from a single donor or a group.

"This is a good way to keep good coaches. And if we ever need to hire good coaches, then it's a good way to attract them. This will put our salaries in the marketplace with the other top salaries in the country," Dodds said.

To keep Penders, who was being recruited by other schools earlier this year, the UT Men's Athletic Council raised his base salary to $105,000, which will be supplemented by about $60,000 this year.

Texas entered this season following its first consecutive losing seasons since 1937-38.

Tech's Dykes enjoys homecoming games

LUBBOCK (AP) — Normally, a coach dreads finding his team scheduled as the homecoming opponent on the road.

After all, the home team usually tries to bring in a patsy to humiliate in front of thousands of raucous alumni.

But Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes is learning to like the role of homecoming foe.

Tech's only three victories this year have come on homecomings at New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas Christian.

"I guess I need to write everybody and ask 'em to make us their homecoming game next year," Dykes said Monday. "We have played pretty darn well on everyone's homecoming except ours."

Tech (3-7 overall, 2-5 in the Southwest Conference) suffered a 21-15 loss to Baylor on homecoming in Lubbock Sept. 29. But the Red Raiders roared past Texas Christian 40-28 Saturday, spoiling the Horned Frogs' chances for the Southwest Conference championship and a bowl bid.

"I am really proud of our guys," Dykes said. "They suffered two devastating losses to Miami and Texas at home and it would have been easy to throw in the towel."

"But they haven't given up all season and they played a pretty darn good football game against TCU. That's a team that had really been playing well and had a chance to go to a bowl."

"It was the best and most complete game we have played all year as far as offense, defense and kicking."

Tech's bend-but-don't-break defense gave up 419 passing yards to Matt Vogler, who threw for an NCAA record 690 yards two weeks ago against Houston.

NIT Razorbacks nab NIT win, 107-70

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Lee Mayberry scored four baskets during a 23-6 run and the Arkansas defense did the rest as the second-ranked Razorbacks beat Vanderbilt 107-70 Wednesday night in the first round of the Big Apple NIT.

The run began with Arkansas leading 14-13 and less than 14 minutes remaining in the first half. Nine minutes later, Arkansas was in front by 18.

The Razorbacks led 47-22 at the half and Vanderbilt never got closer than 21 points. Vanderbilt suffered a dozen turnovers in the first half and made only seven of 31 shots from the field — only three baskets in the final 13 1-2 minutes. Arkansas made 21 of 40 in the first half, including six of 10 by Mayberry.

The Razorbacks will play at home Friday night against 15th-ranked Oklahoma in the second round of the tournament. Arlyn Bowers' 3-pointer started the Arkansas run. Mayberry, who scored 13 in the first half, tipped in his own miss, took a bounce pass from Ron Huery for a basket and then slammed one for a 9-point lead.

Scott Draud's steal and three-point play cut it to 28-19 with 6:52 left but Mayberry hit a short jumper, Huery made a 3-pointer. Todd Day swished a short jumper from the baseline and Huery took a pass from Oliver Miller for a basket inside that made it 37-19 with 4:05 remaining in the half.

Laettner leads Duke over Marquette

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Christian Laettner scored 24 points and had 12 rebounds Wednesday night to lead No. 6 Duke to an 87-74 victory over Marquette in the opening round of the Big Apple NIT.

Billy McCaffrey added 19 points for the Blue Devils, while freshman Grant Hill and sophomore guard Bobby Hurley scored 12 each.

The Warriors took its only lead of the game at 23-22 with 6:14 left in the first half on a jumper by Damon Key. Laettner later started a 15-2 run with a three-point play that helped Duke to a 44-32 halftime lead.

Marquette had a 10-0 run to get within 57-50 with 10:58 to play, but the Warriors committed 10 turnovers the rest of the way as the Blue Devils pulled away.

East Tennessee holds off BYU in final seconds

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Keith Jennings scored 26 points, including the winning free throw with 13 seconds to play, to lead East Tennessee State to an 83-80 victory over Brigham Young on Wednesday night in the opening round of the Big Apple NIT.

Jennings made four free throws in the last 1:05 as East Tennessee held off a charge by the Cougars.

East Tennessee led 67-58 with 10:24 left. But 7-foot-6 freshman center Shawn Bradley led BYU on a 13-5 charge to make it 72-71 with 4:59 left. Bradley had seven points during that streak and finished with 23 to lead the Cougars.

Jennings then made two free throws and hit a 3-pointer to give East Tennessee a 77-71 advantage with 3:24 left in the game.

But Raider defenders stole five passes, including a 75-yard return for a touchdown by Ronald Ferguson.

The defense won't get much rest this week in Tech's season finale against the run-and-shoot offense of SMU.

Arkansas AD says school expects loss in revenue

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas athletic department is looking at a $1 million revenue shortfall this year, UA Athletic Director Frank Broyles says.

The shortfall stems from changes in NCAA and Southwest Conference distribution formulas, along with the poor performance of the Razorback football team this season.

Even so, Broyles said Tuesday UA's $9.1 million athletic budget won't be directly affected because bowl appearances and network television revenue are not figured into it.

The Razorbacks are 2-7 so far this season, 0-6 in the SWC. Arkansas has not appeared on CBS or ESPN and, assured of a losing record in two games left, has no chance of playing in a post-season bowl game.

Income from ticket sales lessens the financial blow, although overall income will be down, Broyles said Tuesday.

"But the turnback from the Southwest Conference is going to be down 90 percent because of the rules allowing teams to keep more revenue they earn from TV and bowl games," Broyles said.

Last year, SWC teams turned in the conference, for distribution to other SWC schools, about half the money they earned from football and TV and NCAA basketball tournament appearances. This year the conference changed the formula, after a consulting firm's study allowing participating teams to keep more of the money.

That would have benefited Arkansas, if the football team had appeared on national TV or in a bowl game.

New guidelines for distribution income from the NCAA basketball championships also will affect Razorbacks' revenue for 1990-91.

"The bottom line is we will be about a million dollars less income this year," Broyles said.

The university has no reserves and the Razorback Foundation will have to make up the shortfall, he said. He doesn't expect the loss this season to have a serious impact on foundation donations, he said.
