Guitar society tunes in for second concert

By RUDY CORDOVA JR.
This semester has been filled with international plays, children's drama, American pianists and one-man shows. But, just when you think you've seen all there is to see, watch out! The Brazos Valley Guitar Society will host its second concert of the season with jazz guitarist Gerald Blakeman titled "An Instrument of Today."

Blakeman is a graduate of the University of Houston in Music Composition and Theory. He has called Houston home for over 30 years and has played both classical and jazz guitar in different settings from night clubs to the Houston Symphony.

The Brazos Valley Guitar Society began as a local amateur society committed to the art of guitar playing. A group of interested guitarists sponsored an evening concert in 1986, thus forming the society. Since then, the group has organized and sponsored season series of concerts every year, several masters classes and informal meetings with guitarists.

Tom Frantz, a founding member, says that the interest of the members was sparked by a female guitarist, Sara Horsfall. "We get together on occasion and play the guitar. She is the one that has been the prime mover of this thing," Frantz says.

The remainder of their season will include performances by Stanley Yates and Stephen Robinson. Yates is currently teaching guitar at the University of North Texas where he is completing his doctorate in Classical Guitar Performance. Robinson is currently teaching at Stetson University in Florida, where he founded the guitar program.

Blakeman will perform with another Houston jazz guitarist, Danny McKnight. McKnight will play a seven-string guitar with some special bass effects.

The concert will be an educational experience for those interested in guitar. "It's going to be an interesting program in that Gerry will stop and explain what he's doing," Frantz says.

Friday's program, "An Instrument of Today" with Gerald Blakeman, will be at the Canterbury House, 902 George Bush Drive, across from the bonfire site. Tickets for the 7:45 performance are $8. For more information, call Tom Frantz at 774-0476.

Faculty/staff entertain in 'Faculty Follies'

MSC Variety Show hosts "Faculty Follies" Friday night in Rudder Theater.

"Follies" is a faculty/staff version of the student-run Variety Show. Ten acts are scheduled to perform.

The fourteen performers will sing, play blue-grass and make the audience laugh. The kinds of acts are similar to Variety Show. Student comedian Jason Porter will emcee.

Tickets are $3 at the MSC Box Office and the proceeds will benefit Variety Show.

Hambro Quartet keys into grand pianos

Not one, but four grand pianos — that's the Hambro Quartet, the next musical guest in the MSC OPAS Stark series that will visit Texas A&M this Monday night at 8 in Rudder Theater.

The quartet will perform works spanning three centuries of composition for the piano including pieces by Mozart, Chopin, Debussy and Gershwin.

The late Leonard Bernstein called the quartet "a hard act to follow," and the Chicago Tribune has applauded the group for its sense of humor during performances.

Tickets are $3.00 for students and $7.50 for non-students. For more information call the MSC Box Office at 845-1234.

OPAS Jr. presents 'Stolen White Elephant'

OPAS Jr., the organization geared for the young and "young at art," will present "The Stolen White Elephant" Sunday at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. in Rudder Theater.

The comedy is based on Mark Twain's little-known short story of the same name.

In it, a pompous police detective and his bumbling Keystone Cops-type force attempt to solve the puzzle of a missing white elephant on the loose.

Tickets are $5 for everyone. For more information call the MSC Box Office at 845-1234.
