Aggies lose exhibition to Melbourne Friday, 92-89

By Anthony Andro
The Battalion

There were times Friday night when the Texas A&M-Eastside Melbourne men's basketball game looked more like an Australian rules football game than a basketball game. The Spectres outmuscled the Aggies 92-89 in a game where 52 fouls were called.

A&M had its chance to tie the game with ten seconds left but sophomore David Edwards three-pointer missed the mark and the Aggies wound up their exhibition season with an 0-2 record.

The Aggies begin the regular season next Monday when they take on Prairie View A&M at 7:30 p.m. at G. Rollie White Coliseum.

A&M coach Tony Barone thinks the team has improved since its opening loss to Marathon Oil.

"I thought we played pretty well," Barone said. "I don't think we had as many breakdowns as we did in the first game."

"You need to get these games under your belt so that you get a feel for what kind of team you have in late-game situations."

The Aggies controlled the first half thanks to the three-point shot.

After taking a 26-24 lead, the Aggies went on a shooting spree behind consecutive three-pointers from Chuck Henderson, Corey Henderson and David Martin. The 35-24 lead would be the biggest lead of the game for either team.

The Spectres cut the lead to one at 42-41 but an Edwards three-pointer would help open the lead back up to 52-45 at halftime.

"We played pretty well in the first half I thought," Barone said.

"But they were 16 for 23 in the first half."

Eastside Melbourne's shooting and A&M foul trouble would lead to the Aggies' second half problems.

An 11-0 run by the Spectres early in the half gave them a 58-54 lead but the Aggies took the lead back 70-69 after a Martin three-pointer.

But every time the Aggies had a chance to increase the lead, the Spectres got the ball.

Melbourne out-rebounded the Aggies 23-15 in the second half and were led by Bruce Bolden, who finished the game with 29 points and 16 rebounds.

After tying the score at 87, A&M forwards Matt Haralson and Damon Johnson both fouled out of the game.

The two had combined for 13 of the Aggie's 27 rebounds and after they were gone, so were the Aggies chances.

Foul troubles hurt the Aggies all night long. Melbourne shot 43 free throws compared to A&M's 21.

"Our bench tonight, in terms of fouls, were really bad," he said. "We went into the game and we had three guys who went into the game and had six fouls in less than two minutes."

"I should have suited up because I could do that."

It appeared the Aggies were lifeless to start the second half.

"We came out flat to start the second half," he said. "We threw the ball away too many times. A veteran team like that will hurt you when you play like that."

Edwards led the Aggies with 22 points. Martin chipped in 18, Haralson contributed 14 and both Jonson and Kevin Barker added 12 apiece.

Cotton Bowl

Goin and Bowden accepted their first Cotton Bowl invitation at 2:06 p.m. CST Sunday.

"We are extremely happy to have this very deserving football team playing in one of the truly great traditional bowl games," Goin said. "Our most goal was to make sure that this football team was adequately rewarded for what has been a remarkable season."

"Obviously, we wanted very badly to win our game against Miami yesterday," Goin added. "But it is a tribute to our coaches, players and staff that even in the face of that heartbreaking defeat we can take our team to Dallas for what will be an outstanding matchup."

Bowden also put the best face on his disappointment.

"This really completes the cycle of major bowls for our university and that is important from a historical perspective," Bowden said. "Our players will enjoy the trip because it will be a first. My seniors have been to the Fiesta Bowl, the Sugar Bowl, and the Blockbuster. This will be a nice, new experience."

The Cotton Bowl was prepared to invite a Big Eight runner-up had Florida State beaten Miami, but much preferred the Seminoles, whom it had been trying to attract for a decade.

Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum said Florida State adds luster to the Cotton Bowl.

"I think that the Cotton Bowl is to be commended on getting a team with the stature of Florida State," Slocum said. "For a number of years, they've been one of the top football teams in the country."

"I think that adds a whole lot of glamour to the Cotton Bowl, and certainly makes it more attractive to us."

The Seminoles are 11-7-2 in bowl games and will be making their 10th straight bowl appearance. Under Bowden, the Seminoles are 9-2-1 in post-season play and have a six-bowl winning streak.

The Aggies are 11-7 in bowl games, including 4-2 in the Cotton.

total of 128 yards, and held them without a passing yard. Arkansas slowed A&M's offense to 367 yards compared to the Aggies' 457.5 yard per game average.

"Arkansas did some things that surprised us," Richardson said. "Their defensive line kept shifting during my cadence and I think that threw us out of sync."

"We scored enough to win. We're young and they're an old team and they played extremely tough."

A&M center Chris Dausin said the Razorbacks' defense surprised him.

"I take my hat off to Arkansas," Dausin said. "They came out fired up and they knocked us around some."

"We made some adjustments, but it was like a war out there."

The Razorbacks also surprised A&M by starting junior quarterback Gary Adams and running the wishbone attack instead of relying on the arm of sophomore walk-on quarterback Wade Hill.

A&M linebacker Quentin Coryatt lead the Aggies with 14 tackles and said the defense was able to adjust to Arkansas' offensive gameplan.

"We worked all week on their short yardage offense so it wasn't a big surprise," Coryatt said. "We didn't think they would stick to the wishbone the whole game — we thought they would switch back to their regular offense."

Adams said he had never run the wishbone offense before.

"I think you have to give A&M credit," Adams said. "But the bottomline is we stopped ourselves with bad reads, missed blocks and penalties."

"We moved the ball on them, but breakdowns stopped us. I thought we did a good job, especially in the first half, of controlling the ball. That's what we were trying to do — keep their offense off the field."

Arkansas held the A&M offense to only 125 yards of total offense in the first half.

A&M got the ball at the Arkansas 35-yardline and drove 11 yards in seven plays before Venetoulas kicked a 41-yard field goal to give A&M a 3-0 lead.

The Aggies got the ball at the Razorback's 32 after Coryatt recovered a fumble by UA's Ron Dickerson.

But A&M was held to a 22 yard field goal by Venetoulas with 2:58 left in the first quarter.

Arkansas' Todd Wright connected on a 45-yard field goal with 2:36 left in the first half to cut A&M's lead.

Wright missed a 32-yard field goal with more than nine minutes left in the fourth quarter that would have put the Razorbacks with seven points of A&M.

Arkansas' leading rusher was Adams, who gained 27 yards in 17 attempts. He was 0-2 in passing attempts.

A&M fullback Doug Carter rushed for 52 yards in eight attempts.

Richardson completed six of 13 pass attempts for 128 yards and one interception.

The Aggies face SMU next Saturday at 2 p.m. at Kyle Field.
