Worthy expresses remorse for action

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles Lakers forward James Worthy, arrested for investigation of solicitation of prostitution, broke his silence Sunday and expressed remorse.

"I made a major mistake and I can't dwell on it," Worthy said prior to the Lakers' home game against the Golden State Warriors. "It's a tough problem, but it's not going to go away. I know I've hurt some people badly, and I've got to address that."

"I'm just going to go out and play. I'm not looking for sympathy," Worthy said.

The five-time All-Star received a warm ovation when he was introduced prior to Sunday night's game, the Lakers' first at home since Worthy's arrest.

Worthy was arrested at a Houston hotel Thursday afternoon and charged with two counts of solicitation of prostitution. He spent four hours in jail before posting $500 bond just 20 minutes before tipoff of the Lakers' game against the Rockets.

Worthy reported to the Summit at the end of the first quarter and entered the game with 9:33 to play in the first half. He scored 24 points in 39 minutes to lead the Lakers to a 108-103 victory.

Worthy will be arraigned in Houston Tuesday morning, at which time he will enter a plea or seek a continuance. Worthy did not indicate how he will plead.

A&M target archers perform at halftime

By SCOTT WUDEL
Of The Battalion Staff

The Texas A&M Target Archers displayed their skills of success last Friday at halftime of the Aggies' basketball game against New Zealand.

The archery team showed why it is ranked second in the nation this year and how it has finished no worse than third in the last five years.

Each archer showed his or her pinpoint accuracy during the exhibition. After finding the bulls-eye of each target, the archers took aim at some new objects the crowd could relate to.

The crowd watched as each archer found the center of an alarm clock, a parking ticket, a schedule book, and a picture of Bevo — the University of Texas mascot. The team even had a large picture of men's basketball head coach Kermit Davis Jr. with an apple a top his head.

Had Davis decided to participate in person, he would have been safe, as the archers all found the core of the apple with their arrows.

Frank Thomas, coach and sponsor of the Target Archers, says the team is a self-supportive club sport.

"We receive a little bit of funding from intramurals, but most of it we raise ourselves," Thomas said.

The archery team also boasts two individual national champions in the past.

Thomas said the Target Archers will host an indoor regionals competition at Deware Fieldhouse Dec. 1-2. The archery team is scheduled out on another exhibition at the Lady Aggies' basketball game Dec. 3.

A&M's Lewis named Kodak All-American

Darren Lewis

The American Football Coaches Association announced Saturday that Texas A&M tailback Darren Lewis was named to the 1990 Kodak All-America team. Lewis is the sole Southwest Conference player to be named to the team.

The 6-0, 220-pound senior is the conference's all-time leading rusher with 4,749 yards. Lewis owns 38 school and SWC records.

"Darren is very deserving of this honor," A&M head coach R.C. Slum said. "He's worked very hard this season and there is no doubt he's an All-American."

Through 10 games this season, Lewis has 12 touchdowns, averaging 146.2 yards per game and has thrown two passes for 57 yards.
