

W A L K

this

Text and Photos by Phelan M. Ebenhack

The Class of '91 whoops it up during a yell practice held at the north end of Kyle Field. Afterward, the mass of people was led through the quad. Every year, before bonfire, seniors gather in front of the Sul Ross statue and wander around campus like elephants looking for a place to die. Elephant Walk is one of the many traditions at Texas A&M which unifies the class and enhances the school spirit.

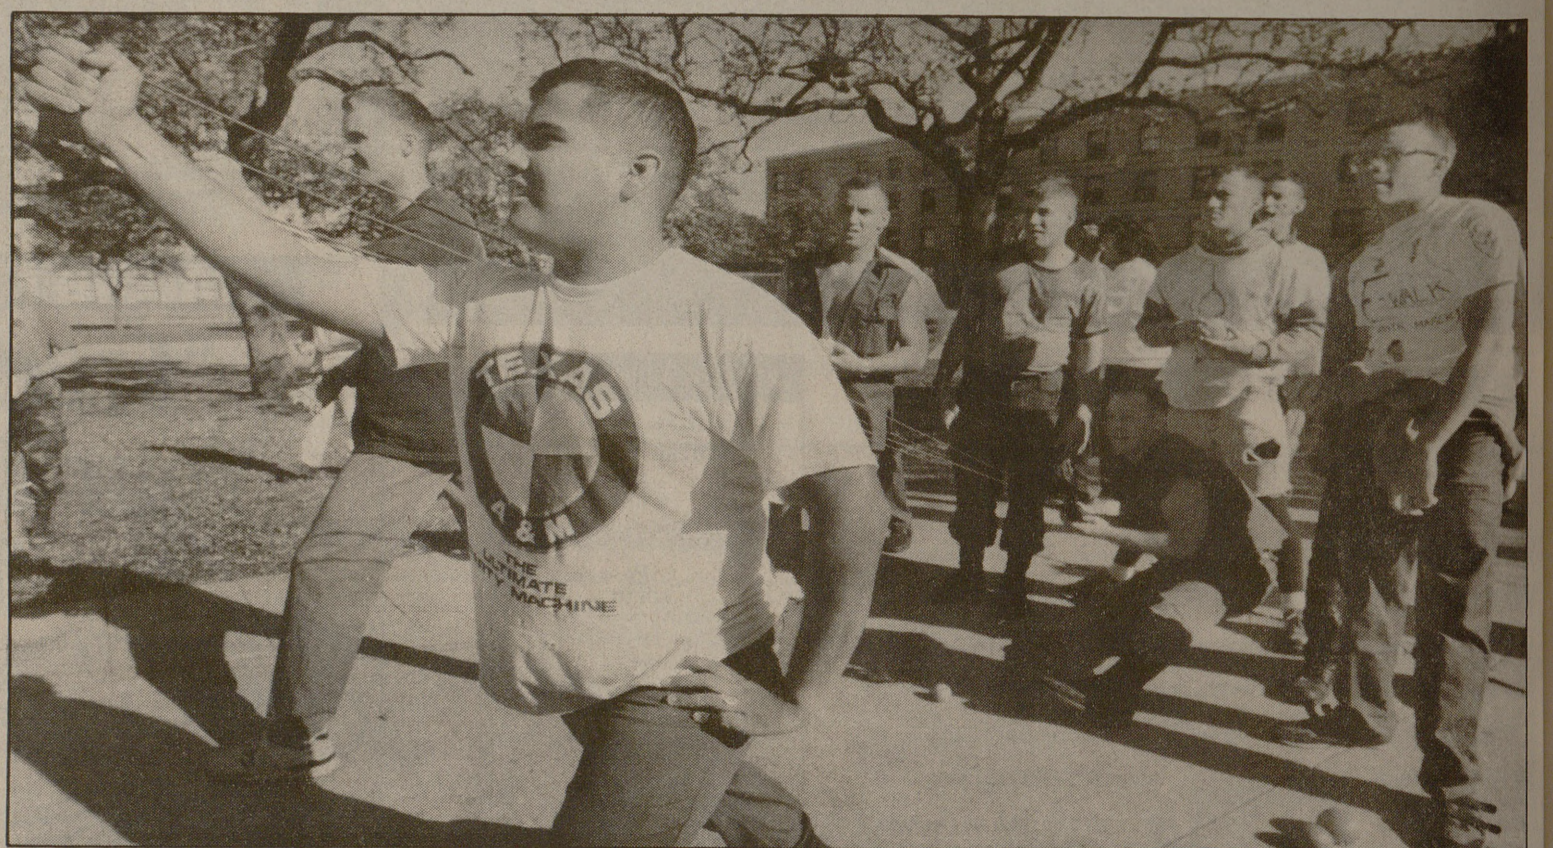

Mike Vance wasn't quick enough to escape a shaving cream attack.

Senior Alanna Russell tries to escape a pile-up which ensued when juniors attacked her with shaving cream. Other seniors came to her rescue and launched a counterattack.

Senior bonfire redpots stir up the crowd before leading them around campus to the bonfire site.

Juniors from Sq. 10 bombard the wall of seniors in the quad with water balloons with the help of a giant slingshot. Juniors take strategic positions along the Elephant Walk route and try to hit the seniors with a barrage of ammunition, such as honey, mustard, ketchup, syrup, shaving cream, tomatoes, eggs and water balloons.

Thursd

Digital U

The fir
come to an
was a surpr
While t
snicker o
Hammer,
the fact is
provement
The foll
of, which
much outs
sic critics,
of super bc
Obvious
lease of 19
bum isn't
Maybe I n
it. Or, mc
thought it

(Tie) F
Wartime :
24-7 Spy:
cheated, I
clude bot
Henry Ro
clusion fo
bal cynicis
tation —
never tho
Black Flag
but Wart
Spyz' seco
but of '89
metal, blu
of the mc
that also r

Time's U
ished re
heralded.
While "Ty
performe
album's st
trous inst
cism of si
the monor
the releas
vast, yet p

Volum
— Soul II
tion to 19
fers from
disagree.
effort tha
pany at t
house sce
the aware
year.

Unfun
alize you's
them. To